
WAITING FOR DRAW—Sgt. Sidney Weber, consistent top scorer in the sheriff's office, and veteran rangemaster H. O. Peters stand relaxed as they wait for signal. Theirs is no "TV fast draw" but a deliberate draw-aim-fire that does not sacrifice safety.

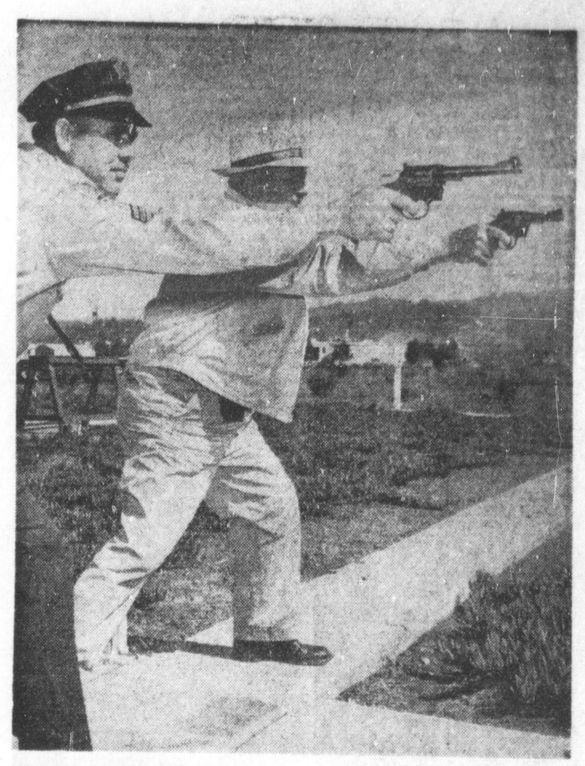
READY FOR ACTION—The two .38s flash in unison as both men raise and begin pointing at the target 30 feet away. Weber is using a .38 caliber police revolver with six-inch barrel, while Peters relies on his favorite four-incher.



CLIMAX OF DRAW—Arms extended in deliberate aim, both fire simultaneously. The entire action has taken less than one second. Peters is a fiend for insisting that officers make good their first shot, at the expense of speed if necessary.

AND HERE'S THE PAYOFF—This was no "grandstand play," as evidenced by the two closely placed "kill" shots placed on the heart of the target. Peters' two fingers point to the two bullet holes made in the demonstration. Deputy Charles Rester and Sergeant Weber are at right. (Independent-Journal photos)

Firework Displays Set For Tonight In Marin County

There will be fire in the skies over Marin County tonight.

A number of Marin communities are planning fireworks displays to climax their Fourth of July holiday observances.

Larkspur and Corte Madera residents are joining forces for a gigantic 225-piece show of pyrotechnics that will start at 9:15 o'clock tonight at the Niel Cummins School playground.

TWO TEAMS

So big will the Larkspur-Corte Madera Recreation Commission sponsored show be that the Corte Madera Fire Department this year is furnishing two teams of pyrotechnic experts to touch off the fireworks.

The public is being invited to use the parking facilities of the Corte Madera Shopping Center from which to watch the fiery show.

There will be a fireworks spectacle in Sausalito tonight, too. There the Sausalito Lions Club is sponsoring the display which will be touched off on Shell Beach.

IN WEST MARIN

Bolinas residents were also in the holiday spirit as they held their traditional parade this morning.

Fairfax was in the second day of its three-day Independence Day funfest today. The event, sponsored by Fairfax Parlor 307 of the Native Sons of the Golden West, opened yesterday with games, rides, entertainment, and fireworks.

There will be more of the same today and tomorrow with fireworks displays slated for both evenings.

Warnings have been issued that as a fire preventive measure ordinances banning the shooting or possession of fireworks, other than by the sponsors of organized displays, will be strictly enforced.

U.S. Holiday Road Carnage Begins

Toll Rises As Nation Takes To Highways

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Death picked up speed along the nation's streets and highways today.

The count proceeded slowly until midmorning. Then reports of fatalities began to flow in at a faster rate.

By noon PST there had been 68 traffic deaths, 15 drownings and 11 miscellaneous fatalities across the nation, for a total of 94.

California's holiday toll started with four traffic fatalities and one drowning since 6 p.m. yesterday.

But dry, warm weather in most regions, plus millions of cars on the roads, added up to tremendous exposure to danger.

The National Safety Council feared a high fatality cost in estimating 350 auto deaths during a 54-hour period that start-

MARIN DRIVERS OFF TO GOOD HOLIDAY START

Marin's highway patrolmen were out in full force today to maintain a spotless traffic record with which the county opened its Fourth of July holiday weekend.

Sgt. James Shanahan of the California Highway Patrol office in San Rafael said not a single accident was reported from last night to midmorning today. "Our record is pure as driven snow so far," said the sergeant. "Let's keep our fingers crossed."

The highway patrol canceled all days off for the weekend, as the full force of patrolmen prowled the highways.

San Rafael had three minor collisions in town between 5:48 and 6:10 o'clock last night. But no one was hurt.

Fire-Fighters Gain On Big Sierra Blaze

SIERRAVILLE (AP)—An army of 1,467 fire-fighters battled the careless camper's costly forest fire on the ground and from the air today with brightening prospects of control by nightfall.

Some 27 million board feet of timber in more than 6,000 acres of rugged forestland had been burned over by dawn today, as aerial tankers took off to spray "slurry"—a borate mixture—over the crackling flames.

"The wind seems to have died down pretty well this morning," said Tahoe National Forest Ranger John H. Bigley. "Things look much better. We hope to have the fire under control by 6 p.m. unless strong winds take it away from us again."

He said damage was estimated at more than $270,000 loss in timber, $11,000 to watershed, $5,500 to grazing and miscellaneous losses.

The cost of controlling the blaze up to this morning was $66,213.

In addition to augmented firefighter crews on the ground, there were five aerial tankers aloft, directed by two lead planes, and a helicopter.

Board Reaffirms Stand On Park

Marin County supervisors yesterday refused to give an unqualified endorsement to the proposed 28,000-acre national park on the Pt. Reyes Peninsula.

By a 4-1 vote the board passed a resolution reiterating a previous request for a complete survey and report on all factors involved in the park project before definite action is taken.

Supervisor Vera Schultz was the dissenter.

Walter R. Castro, board chairman, stressed today that in the vote the majority of the supervisors were neither opposing nor advocating the park project.

"We were simply making the point that we should have all pertinent data before taking a stand," he said.

Rep. Clement W. Miller (D-Corte Madera) has said that a bill to establish the Pt. Reyes park in a seaside area stretching from Tomales Point to Bolinas will be introduced in Congress next Tuesday.

House conferees three weeks ago approved a $15,000 appropriation to finance planning for a park in the area.

Some Pt. Reyes ranchers are opposed to the park as proposed, contending that it would cost Marin's dairy industry some of its most productive acreage.

Yosmite Hunt On For Lost Woman

YOSEMITE NATIONAL PARK (AP)—Search for a 38-year-old woman missing since Wednesday continued today in the big trees section of this national park.

Mrs. Dreka Lip of Byron was last seen hiking among the giant sequoias Wednesday afternoon.

Western Draw Scorned By Pistol Expert

By WAT TAKESHITA

Too many "fast draw" artists in Marin shoot themselves instead of the target because they sacrifice safety for speed. They should give up speed for safety and accuracy or "get rid of that Buck Rogers gun!"

This advice came today from H. O. Peters, veteran railroad chief agent and rangemaster at the Marin County Pistol Range in San Rafael. Because of the increasing numbers of men who are shooting themselves in the leg, the Independent-Journal asked Peters for a demonstration and some tips on safety.

Peters said he will not tolerate the Western-type fast draw on the county range. "If anybody shoots himself here, it's gonna be a big incident, because I'm gonna shoot him," Peters chuckled. He has not had a single mishap on the range, where he teaches Marin law enforcement officers how to shoot accurately and safely.

The main difference between the fast draw of TV fanatics and the police draw is that the police revolver is not cocked while in the holster. The officer draws, aims, then fires with a "straight pull back" on the trigger. The pull on the trigger draws the firing pin back to cock position, then releases it for firing. Police do not fire until after the arm is pointing to the target.

In the Western fast draw,

Holiday Throng Again Jams Camp Taylor

It was standing room only, and very little of that, once again this Fourth of July at Camp Taylor in Taylor State Park.

William Allison, park supervisor, reported this morning that the camping facilities had been filled since Wednesday. And picnickers started arriving today before 5 a.m., making it certain that those facilities, too, would be filled to capacity at an early hour.

He said 135 cars of campers had been turned away since those facilities were filled to capacity Wednesday.

And at 5 this morning some 25 cars of picnickers were already at the camp to make certain they obtained facilities.

Weekday Attendance Record Set At Fair

An estimated 6,500 persons strolled through the lush gardens of the Marin Art and Garden Fair yesterday. They set a record for weekday attendance.

Finance chairman Al Nieri reported 5,600 paid admissions to the former Kittle Estate, now the scene of the 14th annual county fair.

Tonight's fair entertainment will feature Japanese music and dance groups as well as an enactment of the traditional Japanese tea ceremony. The program will begin at 8 p.m. on the Northgate stage.

The Bay Area Ballet Company will bring the fair to a close tomorrow beginning at 8 p.m. in the outdoor amphitheater.

Artistic director James Graham-Lujan will present a program that includes a pas de six by Rossini with choreography by Ruth Sandholm; an entre'acte by Puccinelli with Hilder Mahl and William Booth and choreography by Harold Garten; a solo by Kathy Phillips of the Ballet Theater dancing a Chopin mazurka, and a ballet entitled "Rappacini's Daughter" with music by Sibelius and choreography by Ruth Sandholm. Based on a story by Nathaniel Hawthorne, it stars Jane Bowen-Ericson, Sally Hobson, Kathleen Weiss and Russell Sage.

BUT WHERE IS SHE?

Marinite's Claim To Russ Bonds Granted

Anyone know the present whereabouts of Mrs. Curtis Bates (Gladys T.) Hawley, formerly of Sausalito?

If so, you can do her a big favor by advising her to contact Rep. Clement Miller at 135, House Office Building, in Washington, D.C.

W. F. Grader of the congressman's staff says that Mrs. Hawley's claim to some imperial Russian bonds has been approved by the Foreign Claims Department of the United States government.

She can now realize approximately $3,900—providing the claim is liquidated not later than Aug. 9.

The federal government, however, has been unable to locate the woman and notify her of her good fortune.

Grader said that Mrs. Hawley gave as her address at the time she filed her claim to the bonds as 214 Bokley avenue, Sausalito. Since he has been unable to find any Bokley avenue in Sausalito, Grader believes the correct address was 214 Bulkley avenue.

A number of contacted Sausalito residents as well as Hawleys elsewhere in Marin County were unable to identify the woman or give any information about her.

The demonstrations are aimed at creating a situation to force India's central government to oust the Communist regime in Kerala state and call new elections.

AT CHURCH

Nuptial Rite In Novato Last Night

When Donna Jean Blackwell became the bride of Duane Reford Schukar last night at Presbyterian Church in Novato, she wore a white lace over taffeta gown. The fitted bodice was designed with a sweetheart neckline and short sleeves and the full skirt had an intermission hemline. The bride's waist length veil was held by a small white ribbon hat and white roses and stephanotis were in her shower bouquet.

The bride's only sister, Georgia Blackwell, maid of honor, wore a light green organza over taffeta gown styled like that of the bride. Darker green were her cummerbund and ribbon hat and pink and white roses were her flowers. The bridegroom's brother, Douglas Schukar USN, was best man and guests were escorted to their pews for the 8 o'clock rites by the bridegroom's brother-in-law, Alan Haggerty of Mill Valley, and Charles Cahill of Bolinas. The Rev. Howard B. Swartz officiated.

The reception following was at the Novato home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Blackwell. The newlyweds are driving north and will reside in Moses Lake, Wash., where the bridegroom is employed by Boeing Air Craft. The bride is a graduate of San Rafael High School and College of Marin where she majored in music and business. She and Duane first met at the college where he studied engineering. He is a Tamalpais High School gradate. He served with the United States Marines. Mr. and Mrs. K. W. Schukar of Mill Valley are his parents and he has two sisters, Mrs. Alan Haggerty and Dian Schukar of Mill Valley.

MARIN'S SOCIAL WHIRL

Farewells Planned For Don Flemings

By FLORENCE DONNELLY

Farewell parties for the popular Don Flemings, who are leaving soon to make Honolulu their home permanently, are on the calendar. Mr. and Mrs. Rinaldo Belli and the Jack Coopers are co-hosting an Hawaiian party at the Coopers' home in Fairhills on July 18 for the Flemings.

Mrs. George Schirmer of Kent Woodlands has set July 20 as the date for her luncheon honoring Mrs. Fleming. Cocktails will be served in the cabana by the pool and luncheon will be on the deck above. Among the guests will be Mesdames Cooper, Belli, Edward Vest, William Dickson, Ernest Fairey, Lorraine Gaviati, Lewis Kerlin, Harrison Leppo, John Lesoine, Robert Quinlan, Paul McArdle, Carl Bogershausen, Raymond Luce, John Weitzel, John Rademann, Warren Palmer, William H. Price, Clifton Morrill, Harry Blackfield, James Orr and Richard Bradley.

A brunch will honor Don and his wife at the home of the Raymond Luces in Kent Woodlands on Sunday, July 26. Co-hosting the party with the Luces will be the William Dixons.

The Flemings have sold their Kent Woodlands home to Dr. and Mrs. Samuel Hanzel, who have four children, and who will move there the first of August. The Flemings, their son, Douglas, and daughter, Bonnie, will move to a guest house at the Meadow Club until they sail on the "Lurline" on August 4. The Flemings have bought a lot at the foot of Diamond Head and will build there. Until the house is completed, the family will stay at the Reef.

DELIGHTFUL entertainment featured the cocktail party and buffet dinner the Fred Figones gave Sunday night at their home in Ross, honoring the William Prices, recently returned from Europe. Hugh Brown, pianist and composer, and Henry Bach, tenor, members of the Bohemian Club who are popular entertainers at the annual encampments, gave some of their specialties. Other singers were Lloyd Hansen, a bass, and young Dawn Nielsen, who has a wonderful contralto voice and is studying for the opera. Hugh, master of ceremonies, made a switch when he insisted on singing, telling of the woes of an accompanist, who never has the limelight. Sarah's talented sister, Mrs. James Clark of Orinda, sang old Hawaiian chants, accompanying herself on the gourds, while beautiful Alberta Jay danced to the music. Other guests were Dr. and Mrs. C. R. Ericca, Messrs. and Mesdames Gus Neiderholzer, John Merryman, Frank Barsocchini, Eugene Ostaggi and Mr. Al Murray. Incidentally, this will be the last party the Figones are giving in their present home. They have sold it to the Jack Wymans who are moving in the first of August. The Figones have taken a year's lease on a house in San Rafael's Culloden Park. They may buy or build after that.

A HAPPY AFFAIR was the tea given honoring Mrs. Ignacio W. Borda on Tuesday afternoon at the San Rafael home of Judge and Mrs. Jordan L. Martinelli. Co-hostesses were Mrs. Martinelli and Miss Dorothy Sharp. Mrs. Borda, former Marinite, is here from her home in Englewood, N. J., to visit her mother, Mrs. C. B. Waterman of San Rafael, her sister, Mrs. Robert Allison of San Anselmo, and her daughter, Mrs. James Higgins of Piedmont. Mr. Borda is joining his wife soon and they will vacation at their place at Lake Tahoe before returning east.

Greeting guests at the door were two small girls, Laurie Higgins, Mrs. Borda's granddaughter, and Louisa Martinelli, daughter of the junior Jordan Martinellis. Commiserating with Louisa, who had a bout with poison oak, was her great aunt, Mrs. William L. P. Jackson of Ross. The two hostesses and Mrs. Borda stood before the fireplace in the drawing room to receive nearly 200 guests. Mrs. Borda's gown, a delphinium blue chiffon, was designed with a draped neckline. Mrs. Martinelli wore a champagne colored gown of Chantilly lace and Miss Sharp a white polka dotted green silk. On the mantel were white gladioli in celadon vases and on the piano, a magnificent fan-shaped arrangement of pink anthuriums which had been brought from Honolulu by Mrs. Martinelli's niece, Mrs. Anthony Shanahan (Barbara Jean Sylva). Lovely Barbara Jean, her husband and three sons arrived from their home in Hawaii to vacation here. The Shanahans have taken the former Lloyd Myers' home in San Rafael. He will return the end of the month but Barbara Jean and the boys will stay longer.

Mrs. Martinelli's sister, Mrs. Albert T. Kelly, noted for her artistry, made all the flower arrangements. Particularly outstanding was that on the tea table, a combination of lemon leaves, lemons, purple asters and yellow calla lilies in a bisque and copper container. A conversation piece was the magnificent sterling silver punch bowl at which Miss Evelyn Sharp, sister of Dorothy, presided. Given to their grandfather, the late William Bradford in 1900, when he retired as treasurer of Alaska Packers, the huge bowl is mounted on stag horns.

With Mrs. Lawrence Jordan of Belvedere, Mrs. Borda had time for only a bit of reminiscing. The Jordans and Bordas first met when they went as honeymoon couples to San Salvador where both men had positions with Grace Line. Mrs. Waterman, lovely in blue lace, was telling that her other daughter, Mrs. Allison, has sufficiently recovered from a heart attack to be removed from the hospital to her home. Attending the tea was an old family friend, Mrs. Harry Hartzell of Los Altos. The sister of the Misses Sharp, Mrs. Eugene L. Covey of San Francisco assisted in greeting guests. Also aiding with this detail were Mrs. Martinelli's two daughters-in-law, Mrs. Jordan L. Martinelli Jr., Mrs. Roderick Martinelli and Mesdames Lytle Hollingsworth, John Kirkpatrick, Harry Lutgens and Higgins.

Mrs. Charles Pollock (Gertrude Ord) down from Sacramento was talking of the recent marriage of her son, Jim, and Deanna Amos. Welcomed back from a European trek was Mrs. Herbert K. Walton. Mrs. Henry B. Getz, wife of the rector of St. Paul's Church to which Mrs. Borda belonged for many years, was among the guests. A trio from Ross included Mesdames Benjamin Dibblee, Norman B. Livermore and Harold E. Hallett.

Mrs. C. Corwin Calavan arrived from Orinda and Mrs. Delger Trowbridge was telling of the beauty of Mendocino County where she is now staying. Mrs. Lutgens talked of her recent trip to Alaska. Mrs. Alan Galloway, the former

Marin Women

Mary Menzies said how good it was to be back in Marin although just temporarily. She and her family who lived in Greenwich, Conn., for many years are now residing in San Francisco but they will spend several months at the Evans' place in Bolinas. Arriving together were three sisters, Mrs. John Bradley (Elizabeth Harrison) of San Rafael, Mrs. W. G. Messimer (Julia Harrison) of Greenbrae and Mrs. James F. Wellington (Caroline Harrison) of Berkeley, who were reared in San Rafael. They reported that their father, Robert W. Harrison, who now lives in San Francisco and practices law there, would be in Marin for the weekend.

WELCOMED HOME was Mrs. Harry D. Rothrock of Ross, one of the guests at the tea at the Martinelli home. She, her husband and their three daughters, Virginia, 13, Kate, 10, and Meg, 8, spent a year in Europe, returning to their home in Ross last month. They left on June 14, 1958 and drove East. They visited Mrs. Rothrock's mother, Mrs. Edward R. Eberle in Wellesley, Mass., and left the car with her. They sailed from New York on the "Kungsholm" and after arriving in Sweden bought a car and motored to Norway, Denmark, Holland, saw the World's Fair at Brussels, traveled through Germany to Austria. They lived in Salzburg, taking over the entire second floor of a house.

They loved the beauty and quaintness of the city on the Salzach River and on weekends they took trips. All of the family learned to ski in Berchtesgaden in the Bavarian Alps. At the end of April, the Rothrocks left Austria and drove through the Brenner Pass to Italy and from there through France to Paris. The girls were shown the American Cathedral in Paris where Mr. and Mrs. Rothrock were married in 1945. She was with the Red Cross in Europe during World War II and he was aide de camp to Gen John C. H. Lee. From Paris the family went to Rotterdam where the car was put on a ship bound for New York. The Rothrocks went to England and after five days there sailed from Southampton on the "Statendam." In New York, the foreign car was sold and the Rothrocks went to Wellesley and from there drove across the continent. In St. Louis, Mo., they were joined by Harry's mother, Mrs. V. W. Rothrock, who will visit them for several more weeks.

HONORING Mrs. Moya O'Sullivan of Sydney, Australia, who is visiting her sister, Mrs. Emile Roesling of Bayside Acres, Mrs. George W. Rivers of San Anselmo entertained at a poolside luncheon in the garden of her home a week ago today. Swimming was enjoyed during the afternoon. Among the guests were Mesdames Steve Toth, Lloyd Gardner, Emile Roesling, Cyril Roesling, Howard Moore, Arthur R. Soares, John Curnow, Sidney Colton, William Moore, Al Nelson, Kenneth Ball, August Rasmussen and Myron Levy of Marin; Mesdames Walter Baramian, Easter Turner, William Peterson and Miss Doreen Vallis of San Francisco; Mrs. Norbert Roesling of Piedmont; Mrs. Jack Gibson of Orinda, Mesdames Eleanor O'Connor and Irene Smith of Atherton, Mrs. Lillian Hickman of Oakland and Mrs. Avon Elder of Petaluma.

GUEST OF HONOR at a luncheon given recently by Mrs. Robert Bastian of Belvedere was Mrs. Ralph Meyers, who with her husband, the former mayor of Belvedere, and three daughters will leave next month for a three years' stay in Europe. The girls are Jeanne, 17, Kathleen, who is 15 today, and Terry, 11. The Bastians are leasing their Belvedere Lagoon home.

The family will reside in Geneva where Mr. Meyers will have his headquarters as jet sales representatives for the General Electric Co., with which he has been associated since graduating from the University of California as an electrical engineer. They will sail from New York on the Constitution on August. 14.

Guests at the luncheon were Mrs. Vaughn Wright, Mrs. Bastian's mother, and Mesdames John Bridgman, William Brooke, Russell Keil, Ralph Noah, Russell Rice, Arthur Colllbran, Sherman Peterson, E. G. Weed and Erwin Farley.

Mrs. Bastian and Mrs. Meyers have worked together in many school and community projects as well as at St. Stephen's Episcopal Church.

TRAVELING are Brig. Gen. and Mrs. Newton Longfellow and their daughter, Ann. They are leaving a week from today, driving first to Sheridan, Wyo., to visit friends. Then they will go to Yellowstone National Park and after that to Michigan where they will visit Mrs. Evan L. Noyes (Clara Rideout) at her home on Mackinac Island. Mrs. David Teather of Tiburon left by plane Thursday for Augusta, Ky., where she will visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Matt A. Thompson for three weeks. On return, Mrs. Teather will stop over in Chicago to visit friends.

WELL-WISHERS WRITE

Bedfast Boy Enjoys Deluge Of Greetings

Young Billy Brady, recovering in a Shriners' Hospital bed in San Francisco from his fourth operation for a congenital hip deformity and encased in a plastic cast that covers the lower half of his body, is enjoying letters and cards sent to him by Marin well-wishers.

The 12-year-old's mother, Mrs. Charles Brady of 19 Belle avenue, San Anselmo was able to talk to her son by telephone yesterday.

A story in the Independent-Journal telling of Billy's operation and of his desire for mail to help him through the long weeks of convalescence resulted in a deluge of cards and letters from Marin residents to the hospital.

Tomorrow will be an important date for Mr. and Mrs. Brady and their son. For then the parents will get to visit Billy for the first time since prior to his June 29 operation.

"We can hardy wait," says Mrs. Brady.

Billy's two brothers and five sisters will have to wait yet a while longer before they are able to see him.

Mrs. Brady says that the doctors report that Billy is making a satisfactory recovery after his operation—and that he remains in good spirits despite his confinement to the bed and cast.

"I think we can thank the good people who took the time to write letters and send cards for that," says Mrs. Brady.

Dixie Board To Eye Equipment Purchase

Authorization to purchase equipment for four new classrooms and a multi-use room at Bernard Hoffman School in Terra Linda and for the new eight-classroom Lucas Valley School will be requested by Supt. Dennie B. Willis when the Dixie School District trustees meet at 8 p.m. Wednesday at the district office, 4775 Redwood highway.

Equipment costing $10,633 at Hoffman School and $12,453 at Lucas Valley School has been authorized by the state Department of Finance.

Miss Robin Briscoe, the district's new curriculum director, will discuss her duties with the trustees as well as a supplemental reading guide.

Superintendent Willis will recommend hiring four new teachers for school's opening in the fall and eight summer school teachers.

At last Wednesday's organization meeting of the board, E. E. Lenander and Walter J. Doll were re-elected as president and clerk, respectively. Mrs. Dorothy Brown was selected as trustee representative to the Marin County Committee on School District Organization.

The trustees retained their present meeting times of 8 p.m. on the second and fourth Wednesday of each month.

Water Plant Dedication Set Tomorrow

The Marin Municipal Water District's new $1,200,000 filtration plant on the slope of Mt. Tamalpais will be dedicated at 2:30 p.m. tomorrow by Mrs. Thomas T. Kent, widow of the water district's former president.

Mrs. Kent's husband served as a director from 1920 until last Jan. 14, when he resigned from the board of directors because of ill health. His death came two months later. He had served as president of the board his last 12 years as a director.

Robert G. Anderson, new president of the board, will be master of ceremonies and will deliver a welcoming address. A response to the welcome will be given by Walter R. Castro, chairman of the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

William R. Seeger, general manager and chief engineer of the Marin Municipal Water District, will talk on "Operation 'Waterworks.'"

A king-sized pipeline from Kent Lake to Sleepy Hollow will be put into operation tomorrow as the new filtration plant near Bon Tempe Lake is dedicated.

The dedication address will be made by Samuel W. Gardiner, attorney for the water district directors, in addition to Anderson, are Dr. L. L. Stanley, W. C. Herup, George W. Thierbach and William A. Marcus.

MARINES IN ATOMIC WARFARE ROLES

These four men, in protective clothing, form one of the Marine Corps' atomic, biological and chemical teams. Their job is to prevent or reduce casualties resulting from atomic radiation or enemy use of biological or chemical agents. With detection devices, the teams are trained to move into contaminated areas to determine whether it is safe for others to enter. Brown Signs Four Bills By McCollister

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Gov. Edmund G. Brown has signed into law four more bills introduced by Marin Assemblyman Richard H. McCollister. Included are:

A bill (AB 64) which permits a superintendent of public instruction to authorize issuance of diplomas for completing courses beyond high school if the education offered is comparable to similar instruction offered at other educational institutions.

A measure (AB 1942) which provides procedures for resignations and filling of vacancies on governing boards of special districts.

A bill (AB 1738) which permits boards of supervisors to rent or lease county-owned land being held for other purposes.

A bill (AB 1746) which changes the formula for qualifying a petition in a permanent highway division where there are fewer than 10 land owners.

Sausalito Building Totals $103,816

Total for the month, included alterations and repairs, was $103,816, compared with $133,075 issued in June, 1958.

Freitas Ranch Home Damaged By Vandals

James G. McAuley, caretaker of the vacant home, said youngsters with sticks and stones have been breaking windows on all three floors. Lights are broken and glass strewn through the hallways and stairwells. Fuses were thrown about the porch.

L.A. HAS MORE AUTOS THAN 42 STATES

Los Angeles County now has 2,838,762 automobiles registered—more cars than there are in 42 states.

The city, with 2,000,000 cars, has more registrations than 31 states.

And, said S. S. Taylor, general manager of the city traffic department, there are now 110 new autos registered in the city every day.

He said the city needs 13 miles of new freeways every year to handle the increase in vehicles, but in recent years freeway construction has been averaging only about five miles a year.

Chlorine Isn't Harmful To Crops

Chlorine added to municipal water supplies or swimming pool water is not harmful to crops, said Farm Adviser Winston L. Engvall of the University of California Agricultural Extension Service in San Rafael.

Engvall said growers who want to use water from municipal sources or from swimming pools for irrigation occasionally ask if it is safe for their crops.

Injury to crop plans has occured in "souped up" tests when the irrigation water was loaded with 50 parts per million or more of chlorine. This is an amount far in excess of the one or two parts per million usually added to water supplies, Engvall said. Research also shows that chlorine is reduced to the harmless chloride form on contact with organic matter in the soil.

Youth Picked Up As Curfew Violator

The boy said he had had an argument with his mother and left his home to walk with no particular destination in mind, Officer McAllister reported. He booked the 16-year-old at the county jail on a charge of violating San Anselmo's curfew ordinance and took him to the county juvenile hall.

Enrollment for San Rafael High School classes will be at the American Red Cross chapter house on Fifth avenue at 8:30 a.m. for the session July 7-18, with Mrs. Margaret Rattray instructing. This session will be for non-swimmers, beginning swimmers, intermediate classes and swimmers. Life-saving also will be taught.

Mill Valley Library To Close Earlier

Trustees also re-elected Robert Jenkins president of the board and named Mrs. Dorothy Peavey secretary. She succeeds Robert C. Cook whose term expired.

At the request of City Councilman Joseph Sheeks, council representative to the library board, the meeting night was changed from the first to the second Thursday of the month, to avoid following the city council meeting on the first Wednesday.

Handicapped Children

VANCOUVER (AP) — Between 5 and 10 per cent of British Columbia school children suffer speech defects, and 3 to 5 per cent have defective hearing, the B. C. Speech and Hearing Assn. reported.

Planners Give Go-Ahead On 60 Homes

Kenney Corp. won a go-ahead Thursday from San Rafael Planning Commissioners on 60 new homes in Terra Linda Unit 10, south of Freitas Parkway and just east of the old Freitas home ranch which was donated to the Catholic church for a parochial school.

John E. Kenney, son of developer John Kenney, said he plans to start building the 60 homes immediately and have them completed about January, weather permitting. They will be California ranch style homes similar to homes in Terra Linda Oaks.

The houses will sell for $22,000 to $28,000. They will have three and four bedrooms, two baths, all hardwood floors, one or two fireplaces, and shake roofs.

Already on the drawing boards is Terra Linda unit 11, which will extend the present unit 10 to the west, around the parochial school site.

4th Of July Is A Birthday To Be Celebrated, Understood

What is the Fourth of July?

It's a birthday party, a celebration marking the 183rd anniversary of the birth of a young, vigorous baby, a new idea, the idea that men can be free and equal.

There were many persons in those early days who didn't give the baby much chance of survival. The idea was too far-fetched, too idealistic.

But besides the cynics, there were those who would fight to protect the new-born. And they did. With their help the child grew and prospered.

He grew in size from a birth-weight of 13 to today's 49 and tomorrow's 50.

He grew in stature from a bumptious youngster who threatened the world if his back yard were invaded, to a sturdy, young adult to whom the free world looks for leadership and the communist world looks as a goal to be reached and surpassed.

And there is another part of the world, not really free, not committed, which is watching fascinated, vitally interested in whether the challenge of materialistic communism is greater than free democracy can combat.

They also are seeing an unusual phenomenon, a young adult nation willing to fight in war, but hesitant to fight in peace. They see a lack of understanding of the stakes, blinding many who are willing to give their lives for their country, minimizing the danger of losing the prize without getting into a fight.

And what is this prize? It is freedom; it is equality; it is individuality. Or perhaps you remember it put another way:

"We hold these truths to be self evident: that all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. . . ."

Happy Birthday, and many more.

GOOD GOVERNMENT IS GOOD HOUSEKEEPING

If you think of the running of government as nothing more than a job of good housekeeping, it's much easier to understand and keep in good order.

An American housewife should have the fundamentals of good government at her fingertips. When she sweeps her sidewalk, disposes of her garbage, checks her water supply, keeps her budget balanced, makes sure of proper schooling for her children, and protects the life and property of her family, she is an efficient administrator. She is putting into practice, on a small scale, principles that every branch of government should scrupulously observe.

By the grace of God, every single one of us can start to change the world right where we are by taking an interest in local government.

Don't forget that the greatest statesmen in the world often started their careers in a tiny community. Through their training and experience in a little world, they prepared themselves to face the problems of the bigger world.

"In all things show thyself an example of good works, in doctrine, in integrity, in gravity." (Titus 2:7)

Keep me mindful, O Lord, of my responsibilities to the maintenance of good order in government.

MARIN LOOKS AT POLITICS

McCarthy's Billboard Campaign Gets $150,000 Shot In The Arm

By CHAPIN A. DAY

There were smirks, charges of insincerity and grandstanding when Marin Sen. John F. McCarthy dramatically took the Senate floor to kill his own bill regulating billboards.

There were knowing nods when he said he would call a public meeting in the Capitol to launch an initiative campaign so the public could decide what the Legislature was rejecting.

When the meeting was held, and the Capitol's largest meeting room filled with billboard protestants, they still said McCarthy was making a play for publicity and wouldn't follow through.

Perhaps they would change their minds if they had been sitting in on a meeting this week in San Francisco. It wasn't a very big meeting, but it had a lot of people vitally interested in the project.

Before they adjourned, so we're told, they had pledged $150,000 to start the campaign for some 600,000 signatures on petitions against the billboards.

And that was only from a few sources in the Bay Area. Nothing from Los Angeles, Santa Barbara or other areas where McCarthy expects to get financial and manpower backing

It takes a lot of money to get signatures. Professionals charge about 50 cents each. That would mean $3,000,000 needed. But McCarthy says he's not going to use professionals. He believes there are enough organizations interested throughout the state to recruit volunteer signature solicitors.

Incidentally, we hear McCarthy and the top officials of Foster & Kleiser had luncheon together the other day. That must have been an interesting session.

BEST RUMOR we've heard lately from Washington is that California's senior senator, Thomas H. Kuchel, may seek re-election next time as a Democrat, not a Republican.

Of course it's a little early for such speculation—Kuchel doesn't run again until 1962. But the elimination of cross filing may have interested him in changing his stripes.

Perhaps he's already doing so. Recently the non-partisan and highly respected news agency Congressional Quarterly compiled how the various legislators voted on 35 issues sponsored by President Eisenhower this session.

The tabulation showed that this year Kuchel supported the President only 60 per cent of the time, was against him 14 per cent, and wasn't recorded voting on the other 26 per cent.

This compares with the 1957-58 congressional session when on 155 Eisenhower issues Kuchel was with the President 84 per cent of the time and against him 15 per cent.

Kuchel's major fight has been for public power and against the Administration's partnership plan for the Trinity River project. Public power is the No. 1 policy of the strongly Democratic McClatchy newspaper chain in Sacramento and the San Joaquin Valley.

PERSONAL NOTE: A political editor in San Francisco gave up his job in Sacramento to take a reportedly $15,000 per year job with the Republican organization six months or so ago. Now his by-line is back in the paper but so far not on political stories: Clint Mosher—of Tiburon.

Supreme Court Decision Opens Door To Use Of Libel By Officials

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court has opened a door which may get so crowded with intruders that another Supreme Court decision will be needed to clarify what the court did Monday.

It said in a 5-4 ruling — that policy-making government officials are absolutely immune to libel suits against them for something they said or did in what they considered line of duty.

But Chief Justice Earl Warren, one of the four who disagreed with the majority opinion, raised the specter of these officials defaming their critics under the protection of absolute immunity to libel suits.

"It will sanctify the powerful and silence debate," Warren said.

UNDER THE MAJORITY opinion could a policy-making official, angered by newspaper criticism of him, deliberately and dishonestly, under the guise of official concern for his agency, defame the newspaper with immunity?

It's not clear. The opinion doesn't seem very clear to Warren. He said the court, by its reasoning, has set up an uncertain standard which is not a guide at all for these policy-making officials to follow.

He suggested the court will have to give new appraisals — because he does not think this opinion is clear enough to be final — on almost every charge of defamation by a government official.

MONDAY'S OPINION involved two government employes who were suspended and denounced in a press release in 1953 by the director of rent stabilization for the way they handled cash annual leave settlements for some agency employes.

Justice John M. Harlan, writing the majority opinion, said the problem was one of balance: the protection of an individual citizen from oppressive or malicious damage by a government official against the protection of the public interest by shielding government officials from the "harrassment and inevitable hazards of vindictive or ill-found damage suits."

Harlan wrote: "In this instance it has been thought in the end better to leave unredressed the wrongs done by dishonest officers than to subject those who try to do their duty to the constant dread of retaliation."

Justice William J. Brennan couldn't accept this reasoning. In his dissenting opinion he said absolute immunity for officials below Cabinet rank goes too far. That kind of immunity makes them libel free even though they defamed someone maliciously and untruthfully.

BRENNAN WOULD grant policy-making officials — below Cabinet rank — no more than qualified libel-immunity. That is, they would be protected in their "honest mistakes" against a libel suit, but not when it could be shown they had committed dishonest and malicious defamation.

In one way or another high-ranking members of the three branches of the government —legislative, judicial, and executive — already have absolute immunity to libel suits under certain circumstances.

But this is the first time it has been extended so far down in the line of command.

The Constitution itself gives members of Congress absolute immunity against a libel suit for anything they say in Congress. This does not mean they are libel-free if they defame someone, say, on TV or radio.

BUT THE SUPREME Court itself has never ruled on just how much immunity members of Congress have for what they say or do outside the Capitol and their congressional office buildings.

About 65 years ago the court gave absolute immunity to libel action to members of the President's Cabinet — department heads appointed by him — for matters committed by law to their control or supervision.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

S.F. State Didn't Send Graduate List

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Our clipping service provided us a letter to the editor which appeared in the Independent-Journal on June 23, indicating that names of San Francisco State College graduates did not appear in your newspaper.

Our records indicate that on June 2 we mailed to you a news release concerning the commencement exercises of San Francisco State, noting on the release the Marin County students graduating with honors.

The number of students graduating, and our limited resources, did not permit forwarding the names of all graduates for particular areas, but honor graduates were listed on the release. This article appeared in the Independent-Journal on June 9.

I thought this information would be helpful to you since one of your readers had made a statement on this subject.

July 4 weekend travelers were forced to find another way across the bay as the Richmond-San Rafael Ferry Co. strike continued, leaving the boats idle.

Jeanne Kessey reigned as queen of the four-day Fairfax July 4 celebration, which drew 3,000 spectators its first day.

The state Board of Equalization postponed until July 11 the deadline by which Marin Assessor George Hall had to have his 1949-50 assessment rolls completed. The extension was granted over the protests of the county board of supervisors who maintained Hall had no valid reason for not having the work done on time.

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

An impeccably attired Londoner sought to purchase an expensive and exclusive automobile. "My dear fellow," expostulated the dealer, "we've been allotted only two of this model all year, and there are already 174 orders on our books ahead of yours."

"Too bad," murmured the Londoner, seemingly not too dismayed by the tidings. As he exited he ostentatiously tossed a hefty bundle of ten-pound notes into the trash basket. The very next morning the precise model he was seeking turned up in some mysterious fashion, and was delivered to him.

A few days later, the dealer, very agitated, called him on the phone. "Those ten-pound notes!" he groaned. "Every one of them has proved to be a counterfeit!"

"Of course," agreed the Londoner blandly, "That's why I threw them in the trash basket."

Bicycle Thefts On Such An Increase They're Even Stealing Tricycles

With school out and kids on the move, bicycle thefts are on the increase.

But unlike car thefts, many of the bicycles turn up undamaged. According to police, this is what apparently happens:

Some kid wants to go somewhere, gets tired of walking, so hops on the first bicycle he sees lying around. When he gets to his destination, he abandons the bike. The next person who finds it takes it for a spin, etc.

Even the toddlers are getting into the act. In subdivisions like Lynwood Park, several tricycles were reported stolen.

A TOUGH San Francisco burglar, convicted of armed burglary of Shoreline Market, broke down and cried in the judge's chambers this week.

It wasn't so much the five-years-to-life sentence he must serve. What hit him was the fact that his girl friend married him on the day before he left for prison. He was escorted from the county jail, upstairs into the judge's chamber for the ceremony. The marriage gives their two children a name.

This is the second such "marriage while in jail" to be performed this year.

AMID ALL the hubbub of the jail and booking facilities of the sheriff's office, several nuns this week quietly submitted to fingerprints and taking of photos — known as "mugshots."

They were merely being processed for teaching posts in the county's parochial schools.

LOOKS AS IF Latipac is all set to build an 18-hole golf course east of Glenwood subdivision, followed by the first of a gigantic subdivision of homes.

They've joined forces with the Perini Corp. for more financial support.

SAN RAFAEL is a growing city, but it wasn't always so.

According to census figures, the population in 1910 was 5,934. Ten years later, the count was down to 5,512. But by 1930 it was up to 8,022. And there's been a steady growth since then.

Latest count in 1956 showed 16,526.

Several years ago, a defective "clamshell" holster caused his gun to go off, sending a bullet down almost the entire length of his right leg. But in a few years, he earned himself the title of "top gun" by his accurate firing.

Now he has a broken arm suffered practicing a judo hold. He'll probably bounce right back into top shape in a few weeks.

SPEAKING OF the sheriff's office, the written examination for deputies must be a toughie. Almost 100 men applied originally; only about 25 survived the written.

ROSCOE DRUMMOND

Gov. Brown Holds Key To Democrat Nomination; Agreeable To Veep Job

SAN FRANCISCO — California's 74 votes are going to have a lot to say about who will be the 1960 Democratic presidential nominee.

And because these 74 delegates will be firmly pledged to him as "favorite son," Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown is going to have a lot to say about it, too.

No wonder the leading prospective candidates are making the pilgrimmage to Sacramento. They always end up in the governor's office or join him on the golf course to talk politics where they can't be overheard.

SENATOR KENNEDY has been here — to get better acquainted and to be got better acquainted with — and so has Senator Symington. The reluctant Adlai Stevenson has turned up at the same fountain proclaiming that he is not looking for another drink. So has the unreluctant Hubert Humphrey, and Governor Meyner and Governor Williams. Gov. Abraham Ribicoff of Connecticut was on hand a few days ago aggressively courting the field for Kennedy. And Sen. Lyndon Johnson has been invited to come just as soon as he can safely leave Washington.

These 1960-minded Democrats are not coming here just to breathe the California air. They are coming here to test the political climate, to find out, if possible, what Governor Brown is likely to do with his 74 California votes after the first two ballots (or earlier) and to see if there is anything they can do to help him make up his mind their way.

THE GOVERNOR is remaining uncommitted to anybody but Pat Brown. It is clear that he has no intention of showing his hand. From my talk with him, I would say that the hard political facts are these:

1—Governor Brown is not going to permit any of the Democratic presidential aspirants to get his hands on the California delegation — if he can prevent it. He probably can. He is openly warning them that it would be better not to challenge him in the primary here next year.

If, for example, Jack Kennedy should choose such an imprudent course, two things would happen. First, Pat Brown would probably win; secondly, whatever the outcome, Kennedy would have alienated a man whose active, all-out support would be essential to carry the state in the November election. Brown is now running the Democratic party in California and is going to as long as he is governor.

2—I DO NOT BELIEVE that Governor Brown is confused by the over-anxious suggestions that he should and can by next year become a serious contender for the top place on the ticket himself. I don't mean that some unexpected turn of events couldn't give him the nomination, but I doubt if he is going to put himself in the position of being an avowedly serious contender so early in his governorship and without any participation in national and foreign affairs. Perhaps because the most influential news media are in the East, it takes longer for a governor of California to become a national figure than it does the governor of New York.

3—Brown is already emerging as a formidable figure in the Democratic party. The reason all the 1960 Democratic hopefuls are trekking to California is that Pat Brown's influence at the convention will be great; conceivably it may be decisive. Each is pretty certain that "as goes Brown, so goes California" — both at the convention and in the election.

4—ALL OF THESE factors mean that Gov. Brown just can't help being a leading vice presidential prospect. This would be agreeable to the governor. If the Democrats win, the vice presidency is no longer political exile; it is a ladder to higher things. If the Democrats lose, Brown would not be blamed and he would have had the opportunity to get himself better known outside California.

Brown would be a comfortable running-mate with almost any of the most-mentioned prospects — Stevenson, Lyndon Johnson, Humphrey, Symington. His vice presidential ambitions would be least attainable only with the nomination of Kennedy, since it is unlikely that the party would put two Catholics on the ticket.

Congregationalists To Build New Church In Marin

A building site for a new church in Belvedere-Tiburon has been purchased by the Congregational churches, and a pastor has been called, according to William David Pratt, superintendent of Congregational churches of Northern California. A six-acre site on a knoll above the Hawthorne Terrace subdivision has been acquired.

Dr. Benton S. Gaskell of Detroit, formerly pastor of the San Mateo Congregational Church, will organize the new church. He will arrive in August, and worship services and church school sessions will be held beginning in September. Several locations for these services are being considered by the local committee.

The new church is to be founded under an assignment from the Northern California-Nevada Council of Churches.

The Congregational churches are now a part of the United Church of Christ, which was formed two years ago by a union with the Evangelical and Reformed Church. The Congregational churches in Northern California consist of 114 churches with more than 40,000 members.

Dr. Gaskell is a member of the executive committee of the General Council of Congregational Churches, and was moderator of the Northern California Congregational Conference in 1955.

THERE'LL BE A NEW ONE SOON — Frederick Conradi pumps away at the little old organ in the improvised chapel of the Community Building at Stinson Beach, which will soon have its first church completed. The children of the Stinson Beach Community Presbyterian Church have contributed more than $100 through cake sales to buy a new organ for the church under construction. The congregation will hold recognition services for its new supply pastor tomorrow.

FRANCES KAPITZKY

Woman Heads Church For First Time

OBERLIN, Ohio (AP) — The Evangelical and Reformed Church this week, for the first time, elected a woman as its moderator. She is Miss Frances Kapitzky, a woman banker from Strasburg, Ohio, who is interested in amateur dramatics and choir singing.

Her election as head of this church automatically makes her co-moderator of the United Church of Christ. The Evangelical and Reformed Church and the Congregational Christian churches are in the process of merging into the United Church of Christ. The heads of the two merging denominations preside jointly over the United Church of Christ which will convene here Sunday. The other co-moderator is Dr. Ray Phillips of Boston.

Congregation Studies Gospel Of St. John

Worshipper at Trinity Lutheran Church, San Rafael, are offered the opportunity to study the entire Gospel of St. John during the summer months. The study started last Sunday.

Rev. Fred C. Braunschweiger, pastor, said "A chapter a week is our goal in discovering the portraits of Christ drawn by St. John." Free copies of the Gospel in the Revised Standard Version will be available to worshippers.

Church To Advance Time Of Services

Beginning tomorrow, worship services at the Mill Valley Community Church, Olive street and Throckmorton avenue, will start at 10 a.m. instead of 11 a.m.

The new time will be in effect during July and August. No other time changes for the summer months will take place.

JOB EQUALITY, YES

Novato Parish Ponders Church Role In Integration

Members and friends of the Novato Presbyterian Church apparently favor racial equality in the field of employment, but have some doubts about whether the church should take an active role in promoting residential integration.

That was revealed today with the announcement of additional results in a questionnaire on racial discrimination distributed last month to 400 church members and 100 friends of the church by the church's committee on social education and action.

Francis Kempton, who is compiling statistics from the 201 replies, gave the results of 14 more questions today. (Results of two questions were releases last week. They were "Do you believe that the people of all races are equal in God's sight?" and "Do you accept the recommendation of the Presbytery of the Redwoods that all Presbyterians in Marin County (should) support the movement for a permanent and official commission on human relations in the county?" The answer to both was an overwhelming "yes.")

Nine of the questions, replies to which were made public today, concerned employment. With one exception, the replies indicated strong belief that Negroes should be accorded equal job opportunities, and that the persons replying would have no objection to working with Negroes.

In some cases the replies were "pro-equality" by big margins. For example, to the question "Would you object if your employer hired a Negro to work next to you as your equal?" the replies were 159 "no," to 37 "yes," and "no answer" from five.

The one exception was the question "Would you avoid the services of a local Negro physician?" The replies were 94 "yes" to 95 "no" and 12 "no answers."

Dr. Edward L. Kessel, chairman of the committee on social education and action, commented on this: "I wonder how many of those who answered 'yes' would refuse a pint of blood from a Negro donor if they urgently needed it."

The other five questions related to racial equality within the church. Replies indicated that church members would welcome Negroes to the church and its social activities.

But in the field of church activity in behalf of non-segregated housing, the replies were considerably less enthusiastic. The first of two questions gauging this read: "Are you in agreement with the pronouncement of the general assembly of our church that it is the policy and purpose of our church to work for a non-segregated society as well as a non-segregated church, and to call upon all Christians who have houses for sale to make them available to all qualified purchasers without regard to race?"

Ninety-seven "yes" replies were received, but 84 were negative and 20 had no answer.

A second question related to this field asked "Are you willing to join with other residents of your community in a covenant of open occupancy to help stabilize your neighborhood on a non-segregated basis as advocated by the general assembly of our church?"

These two questions, plus the one about a Negro physician, were the only ones in which the voting was close. Commenting on this, Dr. Kessel said:

"The closeness of the results in these three questions gives one confidence in the honesty of the answers and the validity of the questionnaire. . . . It should also be pointed out that even through these were all questions which brought the racial issue very close to home and person, not one of them had a majority of those who answered the questionnaire voting against racial equality. In fact, one suspects that those who gave no answers to these questions should be counted more on the positive than on the negative side."

Summer Schedule Starts Tomorrow

The Santa Venetia Presbyterian Church will adopt a special summer schedule starting tomorrow, its pastor, Rev. Madison Western, announced today.

Sunday services will start with an informal worship service from 9 to 9:40 a.m. This will be followed by church school for all ages, ending at 10:15 a.m. Adults will attend a Bible study class led by the pastor.

Regular worship services will be held at 11 a.m. Sermon themes will be based on texts from the Sermon on the Mount.

Welcome Set For Minister

Recognition services will be held at the Stinson Beach Community Presbyterian Church, at 8 p.m. tomorrow to welcome Rev. Frank E. Humberger, recent graduate of the San Francisco Theological Seminary, who will serve the church as pastor.

Three faculty members from the San Anselmo seminary will participate in the services. Dr. Gurdon C. Oxtoby will preside, Dr. Jacob A. Long will deliver the sermon and Dr. Surjit Singh will give the charge to Rev. Humberger.

Dr. John McAulay, associate general presbyter of the north coastal area, will give the charge to the congregation.

A reception for Rev. and Mrs. Humberger will follow the services.

Church To Start Summer Schedule

Worship services will be held at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow at the Belvedere Boardwalk as Westminster Presbyterian Church of Richardson Bay adopts its summer schedule.

There will be no 11 o'clock service, Rev. Forrest Youngquist announced.

The change to a more convenient hour is made possible by the suspension of Sunday school classes for the rest of the summer vacation. Sunday school will reopen with special "Rally Day" services Sept. 27 and the 11 o'clock worship service will be resumed on that day.

During the recess, Sunday school pupils will be welcomed at the 9:30 services, Rev. Youngquist said. Tomorrow's service and those on the first Sunday of August and September will be specially addressed to the whole family. They will feature selections by a newly formed Children's Choir under direction of David KortKamp, minister of music. Mrs. J. B. Verhalen has assisted in recruiting and training the young vocalists.

Unity Anniversary

Unity Temple in San Francisco will observe its 40th year with special Sunday devotional services during July, held in the Masonic Memorial Temple, 1111 California street. Rev. M. Scully will conduct the 11 a.m. services.

Marinite To Attend Church Music School

Mrs. Martha V. Condit of 720 Butterfield road, San Anselmo, has registered for the fifth annual Summer School of Church Music, July 13-24, at the Church Divinity School of the Pacific (Episcopal), Berkeley, it was announced by Norman Mealy, director.

Mrs. Condit is organist at Faith Lutheran Church.

The Summer School of Church Music is a 10-day study in liturgical music offering the organist and choirmaster instruction from the leading musicians of the Episcopal Church.

Brazil Girl Wins Wimbledon Crown

WIMBLEDON, Eng. (UPI)—Maria Bueno, 19-year-old Brazil star, broke a 22-year-old United States monopoly today when she defeated Darlene Hard of Montebello, Calif., 6-4, 6-3 to win the Wimbledon Women's singles title.

It marked the first time since 1937, when Dorothy Round of England won it, that the United States did not take the crown.

A capacity crowd of 15,000 including the Duchess of Kent, jammed the center court to witness the match. It was a sweltering day, with a hot sun shining down on the court and the temperature in the mid-80's.

It took Maria only 43 minutes to beat Miss Hard. She burst into tears as she scored match point and bowed her head in her hands. She still was sniffling when the Duchess of Kent presented her on the court with the silver dish emblematic of the women's singles crown. Miss Hard grinned broadly during the presentation ceremony.

Miss Hard, wearing shorts, broke Miss Bueno's service to win the first game, but Maria came right back to break Darlene's service and then ran her advantage to 3-1 as she held her second serve at love and broke her opponent's service again.

Maria made three errors as she dropped the next game and Darlene held service to make it 3-3. Both held service to make it 4-4.

Her serve better than any woman in this year's tournament, Maria scored an ace as she went ahead 5-4. In the 10th game, Darlene netted twice and was wide with a sideline placement as Maria won the set, 6-4.

Maria scored another service ace in the first game of the second set and held her service with the loss of only one point, a double fault. Maria's errors enabled Darlene to win the second set, but then the Brazil girl won the next three games to hold a 4-1 advantage. Darlene could hardly get her racquet on Maria's serves. After holding her service to lead, 2-1, Maria broke through to make it 3-1 when Darlene netted, double faulted and hit out on her serve. A passing shot was the clinching point as Maria held her service to make it 4-1.

THE CLINCHER

Darlene held service when Maria netted a volley and a service return with the score at deuce, but the Brazil star won the next game to lead, 5-2. After Darlene held her service to make it 5-3, Maria quickly built up a 4-0 lead for match point in the next set. Darlene saved one match point when she passed Maria with a backhand, but then the American girl couldn't reach a placement and Maria closed out the match, 6-3.

Alex Olmedo of Peru and Los Angeles, an official representative of the United States Lawn Tennis Association, started the title parade yesterday with an easy, 6-4, 6-3, 6-4 victory over Rod Laver of Australia in the men's singles final.

BASILIO VS. FULLMER

$250,000 Gate Seen For S. F. Title Bout

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Carmen Basilio and Gene Fullmer will fight Friday night, Aug. 28, in San Francisco's Cow Palace for the National Boxing Assn.'s version of the world middleweight title.

The 15-round title go became definite yesterday with announcement that the California State Athletic Commission has approved the application of Norman Rothschild of Syracuse, N.Y., as co-promoter.

The other promoter will be the San Francisco Boxing Club of which Bennie Ford is matchmaker.

The fight will be televised nationally, but will be blacked out over a wide area, including San Francisco, San Jose, Salinas, Oakland, Woodland, Sacramento and Stockton.

The California State Athletic Commission unanimously voted to accept Rothschild's application to stage the fight. It was presented at the request of Jack Urch, the commission's chief executive office.

Ford said he and Rothschild will confer over financial arrangements and details would be announced later.

"We expect to draw at least $250,000 or more at the gate because within a radius of 150 miles there are over 250,000 Italians," Ford told a news conference.

The Cow Palace probably can accommodate 20,000 fans.

The middleweight title was declared vacant by the National Boxing Assn. May 4 when Champion Sugar Ray Robinson failed to defend it for more than six months.

Jurges New Bosox Boss

BALTIMORE (AP) — Bill Jurges, an aggressive shortstop in the National League for 17 seasons, says he'll expect the same kind of play from the Boston Red Sox when he takes over as manager today.

"We'll do the best we can and we'll hustle like hell," Jurges said of the slumping Red Sox who are mired in the American League cellar, 10½ games off the lead. "Boston's not an eighth-place team—and they're not going to be."

The 51-year-old Jurges, a coach with the Washington Senators since 1956, was hired yesterday to replace the ousted Mike Higgins. The Sox had a 31-42 record under Higgins.

Higgins was in his fifth season as manager. His teams twice finished third and fourth on two other occasions.

Marin Netters Defeated In U.S. Hardcourt Play

They were Reed Witt of Larkspur and Pat Blaskower and Lynn Carey of Ross.

Witt was downed by David Blair of Garden Grove, 6-2, 6-3, in semi-finals of the 15-year-old boys singles. Witt was seeded third, Blair second.

Misses Blaskower and Carey met defeat in girls' doubles, bowing to Carol Lum and Billie Jean Moffit by a 6-2, 6-2 count.

Other low net scorers:

Class A—Mrs. Richard Finn, 80-17—63; Mrs. Clay Lilleston, 86-19—67; Mrs. Edward Abramson, 89-21—68; Mrs. A. E. Poarch, 95-27—68.

Class B—Mrs. Walter Goldman, 104-34—70; Mrs. J. M. Hahn, 107-36—71; Mrs. Henry Seagle, 101-29—72; Mrs. Phillip Schafer, 103-31—72; Mrs. Joseph Wittenmeier, 107-35—72.

Player Youngest Winner In History Of British Open

MUIRFILED, Scotland (AP) — South African Gary Player, the youngest golfer to win the British Open championship in 91 years, today gave a lot of credit for his success to experience gained in the United States.

"I played there for the last three years," the 23-year-old Player said, "and competing on the United States circuit has taught me a lot.

"It has given me a better temperament for big-time golf. And it has also improved my swing."

Player won the British Open yesterday over the Muirfiled links with a 72-hole total of 75-71-70-68—284. That was two strokes better than Fred Bullock, 40-year-old little known English professional, and Flory Van Donck, 47-year-old Belgian.

2 Semi-Pro Games In Marin Sunday

Marin County high school baseball stars, sponsored by a San Francisco Veterans of Foreign Wars post, take on the Mill Valley Merchants tomorrow in one of two semi-professional games scheduled in Marin.

The intra-county feature will be played at Mill Valley's field starting at 2:30 p.m.

In the other feature the Tiburon Pelicans play host to Bercovich and Sons Jewelers team, also at 2:30.

San Anselmo's undefeated Ongaro Plumbers take a rest over the weekend, but will return to action next Sunday.

Matthews Defeats Gonsalves; May Get Garden Bout

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Lightweight Lenny Matthews joined the thousands of other holiday visitors for a relaxing Fourth of July holiday at this seashore resort today with happy thoughts of an August television fight date in Madison Square Garden.

This came about after the unranked Philadelphian took a 10-round decision from Johnny Gonsalves of Oakland, Calif., last night and showed he is more than just a fighter in the "promising" stage.

At least, promoter Teddy Brenner of the Garden thought so when he told Matthew's manager, Tony Graziano, that he would try to line up Art Scanlon or Paulie Armstrong for an Aug. 21 date in New York.

A 5-3-2 decision by Referee Joe Morrison gave Matthews the victory. The referee is the sole judge under New Jersey rules.

3 Nip-Tuck Tilts In Cage Circuit

The Drake High Summer Recreation Basketball League's adult division got off to a roaring start Thursday night with three close and exciting battles entertaining fans.

Milwaukee 'Formula' Works Like A Charm

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The formula is still working for Milwaukee's Braves—send a problem to the minors for a short stay and bring him back a winner.

They did it with outfielder Wes Covington in 1957 and he came back to be one of the Braves' big guys in a drive to the world championship. Now they've done it with Juan Pizarro, and he's kept them in the National League lead, pitching a two-hit shutout and striking out 11 last night for a 6-0 victory over Pittsburgh.

Pizarro (2-1), a southpaw, has permitted just one run and has a 14-inning shutout string after two complete-game victories since returning from a rather splendid 17-day stay at Louisville. All he did with the American Assn. club was pitch a no-hitter and a two-hit shutout while winning three of four.

It was a great day for lefties in the N.L. Johnny Antonelli pitched a five-hit shutout that gave San Francisco a 4-0 victory over the Chicago Cubs and kept the Giants within a half-game of the Braves. Southpaw rookie Marshall Bridges of St. Louis had a three-hit shutout for eight innings as the Cards beat Los Angeles 3-2. And rookie Jim O'Toole won his first in the majors as Cincinnati defeated Philadelphia 6-1.

SCORE FANS 14

Things weren't bad for southpaws in the American League, either. Herb Score fanned 14 and first-place Cleveland beat Kansas City 8-4, retaining a one-game edge over Chicago's White Sox, who defeated Detroit 6-5 in 10 innings. Lefthander Billy O'Dell's one-hit shutout relief over 6⅓ innings hoisted Baltimore back to third in a 6-1 victory over Boston. New York beat Washington 4-3.

Bob Skinner singled for both Pirate hits, in the second and fifth, off Pizarro, who walked but two and was backed by three home runs—Ed Mathews' 25th and two-run shots by Hank Aaron (22) and Joe Adcock (7). Winless George Witt lost his sixth, although he had a four-hit shutout until Mathews tagged him in the sixth.

L.A. RALLY HALTED

Bridges (2-0), who walked two and struck out nine, needed Lindy McDaniel's perfect relief for the last two outs after the Dodgers scored in the ninth on doubles by Junior Gilliam and Gil Hodges, a single by Charlie Neal and Don Demeter's sacrifice fly. Sandy Koufax (5-2), another lifty, was the loser, although giving up just two hits and striking out seven in seven innings. A walk and Bill White's double gave the Cards a run in the first, and they put it away against reliever Clem Labine in the eighth on a two-run single by ex-Dodger Gino Cimoli.

The Reds made it with three unearned runs in the seventh after being blanked on three hits by Jim Owens (4-7), who fanned eight. Ed Bailey added a two-run homer in the eighth and Brooks Lawrence came through with three innings of perfect relief. O'Toole (1-2), lifted for a pinch-hitter, gave up just five hits. The Phils scored in the first on an error and Wally Post's single.

TRANSPACIFIC

161-Footer Favored As Race Begins

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Fair skies and good sailing were prevalent today as a fleet of 41 deep-water sailing vessels started the 2,225-mile Trans-Pacific Yacht Race to Honolulu.

At high noon a gunshot from the committee boat Caronia exploded, setting the craft into motion toward the 1,000-foot-wide starting line.

Hundreds of spectator boats were permitted to anchor in a restricted area near the starting point. Thousands of spectators watched the colorful scene from ashore.

This is the 21st biennial race from Los Angeles Harbor to Diamond Head Point in Honolulu. And as usual, the traditional Fourth of July start was a picture of gaiety.

Most eyes centered on the Goodwill, a 161-foot schooner and the largest, and probably fastest yacht, in the fleet. It has a crew of 51 and is owned by Ralph Larabee of Newport Harbor Yacht Club.

The Goodwill was given an excellent chance to break the over-all record time of 9 days, 15 hours, 5 minutes and 10 seconds set by another big boat, the Morning Star, in the 1955 race.

The winner last year, on a corrected handicap time of 11 days, 41 minutes and 46 seconds, was George Ullman's Legend, of Balboa. It was not entered this year.

S. F. Hopes Soar As Giants Meet Cards In 3-Game Series

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Just a bit of fireworks could rocket the San Francisco Giants into first place today as they began a three-game series with the St. Louis Cardinals.

But the Milwaukee Braves' Juan Pizarro did even better, shutting the Pittsburgh Pirates out 6-0 on just two singles, keeping the Braves half a game ahead of the San Franciscans.

Antonelli's victory was his 12th of the season against four losses. He's now tied with Pittsburgh's Elroy Face for the most wins by a major league pitcher this year.

The Giants have won three and lost one on this 20-game road trip.

For Cepeda it was No. 17; Kirkland, No. 14.

The other two runs came in the seventh. Cepeda walked, stole second and scampered to third when catcher Cal Neeman overthrew second. Successive singles by Jackie Brandt, Hobie Landrith and Ed Bressoud scored Cepeda and Brandt.

Second baseman Tony Taylor, the leadoff batter, was the only Cub to get as far as third. He had three hits in four trips. The other two hits off Antonelli were by Lee Walls and Earl Averill.

The Cubs' Ernie Banks, leading RBI hitter in the majors, went hitless in four trips — three of them scoring opportunities.

Giant center fielder Willie Mays made 10 putouts, two short of the major league record for an outfielder.

Mother's Forum: Tot, 3, Suffers Aftermath of Solo Hospital Stay

Mrs. D. H. "My girl is 3. She had to spend five weeks in a hospital following an operation. Her condition was serious, and her pain was severe. I wanted to stay with her, but the nurses wouldn't let me. Several of the days they wouldn't even permit me to see her. Before the operation she was sweet, happy lovable. Now she is frantic and quarrelsome. She has awful nightmares and won't let me out of her sight. Our doctor told us to take her to a psychiatrist. He said similar bad results often followed hospitalization of children. Could a psychiatrist help so young a child? Should we do what the doctor suggests?"

Reply. Yes, you should. For 14 years I've helped direct a psychiatric clinic which works with children. Often the results are wonderful. Your doctor is right about the consequences of surgery and hospitalization for small children. The results are apt to be especially bad when their mothers are denied visiting privileges. Some hospitals are experimenting with a new procedure. Mothers move in with their little ones. Damage to children's mental health is reduced.

Mrs. J. N. "My boy, age 16, was arrested for stealing. This is the first time he has been in trouble. He says he is innocent, and I believe him. however, the probation officer won't listen to either one of us. He thinks my boy is guilty. The court hearing comes next week and I asked the probation officer if I could bring a lawyer to defend my son. He said it would not be necessary. What would you do if this were your son?"

Reply. Probably I'd hire a lawyer right away. I'd help him get familiar with all aspects of the case. Then I'd ask him to make sure the boy's legal rights were respected. I don't imply your son will be mistreated. The chances are he'll be handled fairly and expertly. But every American has the right to be represented by legal counsel. An attorney might be a safeguard.

ALMANAC

Today is Saturday, July 4, the 185th day of the year, with 180 more days to follow in 1959.

The moon is approaching its new phase.

The evening stars are Mercury, Venus, Mars, Jupiter and Saturn.

On this date in history:

In 1802, the United States Military Academy opened formally, with the arrival of the first 10 cadets.

In 1826, America's first great composer of music, Stephen Foster, was born.

In 1826, John Adams and Thomas Jefferson, the second and third presidents of the U.S., both died . . . on the 50th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence.

In 1863, the Battle of Gettysburg was won by the North and the Southern fortress of Vicksburg surrendered to Northern troops.

In 1884, France formally presented the United States with the Statue of Liberty.

A thought for today: Thomas Jefferson said, in the Declaration of Independence . . . which he wrote . . . "We hold these truths to be self-evident; that all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness."

Woman Nearly Dies After Illegal Surgery

A near-fatal abortion on a San Rafael housewife, arranged through several unknown San Franciscans including a prostitute, came to light last night when the woman turned up in critical condition at Marin General Hospital.

The victim, 38-year-old-wife of a San Francisco lithography firm executive, was given only a 50-50 chance of survival last night, but she was off the critical list this morning and in satisfactory condition. She is Alice Schmidt, 127 Mountain View avenue, wife of Lorenz L. Schmidt, a vice president of Schmidt Lithograph Co. of San Francisco.

He said his wife has been ailing and could not survive the birth of a child. Therefore, he went to several doctors to have an abortion performed, but was refused each time.

His wife's illness became worse, and she had to go to a San Francisco psychiatrist. Meanwhile, he made arrangements with several persons in San Francisco, whose identities are unknown. One of the principals who arranged for the operation was a prostitute, Schmidt said.

Wednesday evening, he took his wife to San Francisco, where the operation took place. When her condition became worse, he took his wife to a local doctor, who recommended hospitalization because infection had set in. She was admitted to Marin General Hospital in serious condition.

Officers are continuing investigations in an effort to pin down the persons responsible for the illegal operation. The husband said he cannot remember the location where the operation took place.

Willcutts, who retired from the Navy Medical Corps in 1951 with the rank of vice admiral, and has until recently served as medical director at San Quentin Prison. Admiral and Mrs. Willcutts live at 308 Golden Gate avenue, Belvedere.

Dr. (Lt.) M. D. Willcutts Jr., brother of Dr. Harrison Willcutts, is on the staff of the Navy hospital in Oakland.

Dr. Ungersma is a son of Dr. and Mrs. A. J. Ungersma of Seminary road, San Anselmo. His father is on the staff of the San Francisco Theological Seminary, San Anselmo.

Dr. Harrison Willcutts will report to the cruiser-destroyer force, Pacific Fleet, for his next duty.

FAST DRAW

the firing pin is cocked, which means a slight brushing of the trigger can set it off, oftentimes while the barrel is still in the holster.

The police draw sounds slow. But in a demonstration given by Peters and Sgt. Sidney Weber, the entire action of reaching, pointing and firing took less than one second. And both bullets hit within a few inches of each other in the "heart" of their target 30 feet away.

Peters worked for 33 years for Northwestern Pacific Railroad before retiring in 1957 as chief agent. He finds that it pays to adhere to strict safety rules and to work for accuracy first, in order to make the first shot count.

"We constantly work to make safety a habit," said Peters. "Unless it becomes a habit, it is no good. My advice is to give up speed and go in for safety and accuracy first; then pick up speed after that. Or else get rid of the Buck Rogers gun!"

Anticipating a heavy auto crush, state and local police bolstered patrol units in key traffic areas.

Civic and business groups throughout the nation joined authorities in a massive campaign to hold down the highway slaughter.

In a get-tough policy, the California Department of Motor Vehicles had this pre-holiday announcement for drivers: anyone convicted of drunken driving, including first offenders, will have his license suspended automatically for six months.

Police in 11 Bay Area cities set up a four-hour check on motorists last night. After stopping 9,948 cars, officers reported 1,124 violations, 819 citations, three drunk drivers and 32 warnings on drinking.

The citations were mostly for faulty lights, improper registration and various mechanical defects.

San Rafael Man Stabbed; Wife Accused

His wife, Mary Patricia Ann Parnow, 31, was jailed on suspicion of assault with a butcher knife about 2 o'clock this morning. A bail bondsman posted $1,000 for her release at 9 a.m. today. She is scheduled to appear in Marin Municipal Court next Wednesday afternoon.

San Rafael Police Officers Leon deLisle Jr. and Wade Powell went to the home about 10:45 p.m. and found it dark. Mrs. Parnow was at the home of a neighbor, Richard L. Portillo of 31 Balboa.

She told Officer deLisle she and her husband went to the Portillos for drinks about 7 o'clock last night. Parnow suggested she finish her beer, while he went home to dress and take a shower.

About 10 or 15 minutes later, she went home to call up her mother. When she picked up the phone, she overheard a conversation on another extension between her husband and a woman she identified as a San Anselmo woman she had argued with her husband about in the past. Last night, Mrs. Parnow told her husband she wanted to end the marriage.

When he tried to soothe her, she told him not to come near her. When he persisted in approaching her, she said she picked up a butcher knife and slashed at him, cutting him on the left arm.

Parnow staggered out, and Portillo took him to the hospital. At the hospital, attendants said the victim reported he had cut himself on a broken window. He was reported in good condition at the hospital this morning.

Cherry Bomb Pair Cleared Of Charge

Two youths from Napa, who set off a cherry bomb at a service station just south of Hamilton Air Force Base about 2 a.m. yesterday, were cleared of all charges.

A complaint for vagrancy had been filed against Thomas R. Brackin, 19, and Larry K. Ingram, 18, but the charge was dropped on the motion of Assistant Dist. Atty. Roger Garety. The prosecutor said the youths have clean records, and the incident appeared to be more of a prank than anything with criminal intent.

Actress Files Claim

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actress Diane Varsi, who quit Hollywood because "acting is destructive to me," has filed a claim over a facial scar suffered, she says, while making a TV film.

Miss Varsi, 20, who last March left with her 2-year-old son Shawn to live in Bennington, Vt., had the claim filed yesterday with the California Industrial Accident Commission.

While making the scene, she said, she was struck by an unknown object in a swimming pool and suffered a facial laceration.

LONG OPENS DRIVE FOR FOURTH TERM

VILLE PLATTE, La. (UPI)—Gov. Earl K. Long opened his campaign to become governor of Louisiana a fourth time today by inviting 2,000 listeners to look him in the eye and see whether he is "nuts."

"And if I'm nuts," he said, "I've been nuts all my life."

Curt Siegelin, director of the Department of Commerce and Industry, who introduced Long, told the crowd that Long was tired and urged careful listening.

Long, 63, is suffering from a nervous breakdown, the after-effects of a small stroke or series of strokes and heart trouble. Six New Orleans doctors warned him yesterday against campaigning.

But Long started his campaign anyway and scheduled speeches and a visit to a bathing beauty contest today.

Medical Staff Chief Resigns

Dr. W. Scott Polland resigned as chief of the Marin General Hospital medical staff.

Pleading pressure of his private practice, he submitted the resignation "with deep regret" at a meeting of the Marin County Hospital District board.

Dr. Polland has an internal medicine and cardiology practice in San Rafael. His home is in Ross.

A recommendation for appointment of his successor will be submitted to directors by the hospital medical staff.

Heads For Chicago

PENETANGUISHENE, Canada (AP)—Queen Elizabeth II today wound up her tour of Western Ontario and sailed for Chicago where a noisy reception awaits her in the Windy City.

The young British monarch was reported to be nervous about her appearance Monday in the metropolis of the American Midwest.

EAST MEETS WEST — AND GETS CONFUSED

Looks as though it will take a summit meeting to solve this East-West misunderstanding. A group of Russian circus performers reacted with what-is-it expressions when a Scottish full evening outfit was modeled at a London showing of men's fashions. One of the Russian spectators donned spectacles for a closer look. The visitors are members of the Russian State Circus performing in the British Capitol. (AP Wirephoto)

Special Rites Hoist 49-Star Flag

Combined AP & UPI

WASHINGTON — The glorious Fourth dawned today with something new added to its historic symbol, the flag. It was the 49th star, for Alaska, the newest state.

The first official 49-star flag was raised just after midnight at Ft. McHenry in Baltimore by Interior Secretary Fred A. Seaton. It was there, 145 years ago, that young Frances Scott Key watched as the British bombarded the city and was inspired to dash off the words of the national anthem.

It read: "The knowledge of a growing America fills us with pride, but we know too that our growing strength has brought new responsibilities. As a nation we are today responsible for the rights and liberties of 20 times as many Americans as once lived under the protecting guns of Ft. McHenry, and as a leader among the nations, we bear a major responsibility for the mutual security of the free world."

Actually, on a technicality, the U.S. Embassy at Tokyo had the honor of first raising the 49-star flag officially on U.S. soil. The flag was raised at 7 a.m. Tokyo time, hours before the Ft. McHenry ceremony.

Only a handful of newsmen, photographers, Capitol policemen and laborers and about 150 tourists watched the flag-raising at the Capitol. Pvt. Stephen L. Deburr of Anchorage, one of the two Alaskans on the Capitol police force, was chosen for the honor of hoisting the first 49-star flag. He was assisted by Pvt. James F. Doak of McAlister, Okla., another Capitol policeman.

Fort McHenry, a national shrine just outside Baltimore, and the U.S. Capitol were picked for the official ceremonies honoring the new flag because they are among the few sites where it is proper to fly the flag at night.

Eisenhower Lays Cornerstone For Capitol Extension

Eisenhower, directing his remarks to both Republicans and Democrats, also said no differences of partisan policy or feeling can cause America to falter on her upward course if it maintains devotion to the Bill of Rights and Declaration of Independence.

He called on all citizens to emulate the nation's forefathers in pledging common adherence to basic principles and to uphold these principles "regardless of differences of opinion, even of policy."

The President spoke on the Capitol plaza, where, below the new 49-star flag atop the Statue of Freedom, he laid the cornerstone of an extension of the east front of the Capitol, the first major addition to the building in more than a century.

He flew first to the White House grounds by helicopter and planned to fly back to his mountain retreat shortly after the cornerstone rites.

Rededicating the nation to the principles of representative government, Eisenhower said: "In the collision of ideas between freedom and despotism, freedom is neither won nor held in a climate of spiritual stalemate. Its preservation is a many-sided and never-ending task."

"Complacency today speeds the erosion of liberty tomorrow. Inertia will destroy it; dynamic dedication assures its lasting vitality," he said.

Eisenhower noted the growth of the nation since the first Capitol cornerstone was laid by George Washington in 1793, and since President Millard Fillmore laid another cornerstone 58 years later for the building's House and Senate wings.

FLAGS SPROUT LIKE YO-YO'S ON U.S. CAPITOL

WASHINGTON (AP)—A new Old Glory sporting 49 stars flew proudly over the Capitol today—proudly and very, very often.

This fast and furious activity was because about 1,800 requests came in from individuals and organizations wanting one of the first new banners to fly over the Capitol the first day the 49-star flags became official.

To meet these requests, four temporary flag poles were erected at the lower level of the dome.

On each pole new flags went up and down as fast as teams of Capitol policemen and workers could hoist and lower them. The early rate was about one per minute per pole.

Policemen worked until their arms grew tired and then were relieved by others.

Alaska Hails New Flag With Gala Celebrations

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) — The land of the midnight sun today hailed the 49th star in the nation's flag.

Throughout Alaska, whose statehood is symbolized in the first change in the American flag in 47 years, gala celebrations were scheduled honoring Independence Day and the Star Spangled Banner.

The 49th state, a member of the union since Jan. 3, began observances of Independence Day yesterday with a legal holiday to provide residents and visitors a three-day weekend of pageants, parades and fun-making.

The solemn formalities were saved for a series of official flag-raising ceremonies today, extending from southeastern Alaska cities to northern defense outposts.

One of the biggest of the formal affairs was scheduled at Sitka, where 92 years ago the first United States flag to fly over Alaska was raised atop Castle Hill—now the site of a national monument.

That first flag replaced the banner of imperial Russia, from which Alaska was purchased for $7,200,000 in 1867.

A color guard of the Army's 9th Infantry Regiment, which provided ceremonial troops for the 1867 transfer, was on hand for the ceremonies at Sitka, an island city 100 miles southeast of Juneau.

At Juneau, the nation's new flag was to go up over the capital of the 49th state in ceremonies at which a monument honoring Alaska statehood will be dedicated.

Kozlov May Visit Marin Tomorrow

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Soviet First Deputy Premier Frol R. Kozlov planned a day of relaxation today that will include attending an afternoon barbecue and a traditional Fourth of July fireworks display.

Kozlov, who is staying in a $75-a-day suite at the Mark Hopkins Hotel atop Nob Hill, told newsmen that he wanted a "private day" before motoring northward tomorrow.

Kozlov and his entourage are tentatively scheduled to visit Marin County's Muir Woods National Monument tomorrow morning a spokesman at Muir Woods said yesterday.

Today's activities will consist largely of the barbecue, held at the swank Hillsborough home of Cyril Magnin, a San Francisco merchant who is chairman of the local hospitality committee. The program will also include a boat tour of San Francisco Bay.

Kozlov and his party of 54 arrived here yesterday after a tour of the state Capitol at Sacramento. He immediately drank a toast to peace with California champagne at the official reception.

"Our shores are washed by the common Pacific," he said. "All questions at issue between our countries can and must be solved peacefully by negotiations and solely by negotiations."

Fewer than a hundred spectators, including the official welcoming party, were on hand at San Francisco International Airport when Kozlov's plane arrived. There was no hostile demonstration, although a small group that called itself "United Russian Anti-Communist" distributed handbills at the Mark Hopkins.

In an exchange with Gov. Edmund G. Brown at Sacramento, Kozlov noted that Brown might one day be president of the United States and said the chances for American-Soviet trade might then be improved.

MARINITE IN RACE

Women Fliers Take Off For Powderpuff Derby

LAWRENCE, Mass. (UPI) — The 13th annual powder puff derby started today in perfect weather, with 122 women fliers setting out for a transcontinental handicap race to Spokane, Wash.

A crowd of 3,000 lined the main runway as the 63 planes took off on the 2,470-mile trip within one minute of each other.

The fliers received an aerial salute from a formation of 11 F86's and T33 jet fighters of the Massachusetts Air National Guard.

Among the entries is a black and cream Cessna 175 piloted by Carol Veris of Sausalito. Her co-pilot is Jeanne McElhatton, wife of Dave McElhatton of KCBS radio in San Francisco.

Mrs. Veris and her husband, Peter, reside at 144 Filbert street, Sausalito. She is personal secretary to Cyril Magnin, president of the Port of San Francisco.

Contestants were racing the clock, not each other. Each plane was assigned a "par speed" based on data from manufacturers and aeronautical engineers, actual tests and performance in previous races. This handicap system was designed to give each entrant an equal chance.

Beauty Contest Entrants In Church Trouble

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Beauty contestants in Louisiana and New Mexico were in trouble today as result of Roman Catholic opposition to public competition in bathing suits.

In Lake Providence, La., Mary Alice Kathlee Thibodatix of Jennings, La., withdrew as a contender for the Miss Louisiana title in the Miss America pageant after the bishop of her home diocese objected to published photographs of her in a swim suit.

But New Mexico's entry in the Miss Universe contest announced she would compete for the crown despite a warning of temporary excommunication of her entire family.

Sue Ingersoll, 20, said in Albuquerque, N.M., that she had not known that Roman Catholic girls were forbidden by Archbishop Edwin V. Byrne to appear in beauty contests were contestants parade in bathing suits before the public.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Hen Likes Comfort

HARTSHORNE, Okla. (AP) — Automobile dealer Dan Volture says he has a stray hen that clucks until he lets her inside his air-conditioned office. Then she marches to a wastepaper basket under his desk to deposit an egg.

Cars Jump Tracks

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore. (AP) — Twenty-one freight cars jumped the Southern Pacific tracks last night about 10 miles north of the Oregon-California line.

The southbound Cascade, which normally arrives in Oakland from Portland at 9:20 in the morning was held here. A six-hour delay in arriving in Oakland was expected. The northbound Cascade to Portland was four hours late.

Law Held Invalid

OROVILLE (AP) — The state law which says a carpenter who builds his own house cannot sell it until he lives in it a year or takes out a contractor's license has been ruled unconstitutional.

The ruling was handed down yesterday by Butte County Superior Court Judge A. B. Ware to Ray W. Shaffer, a Chico carpenter.

Loss $6 Million

WASHINGTON (AP)—Unofficial estimates of damage caused by Thursday's Pentagon fire have been sliced down to about six million dollars.

The big bulk of the fire loss will be charged off to three electronic computer systems in the Air Force Statistical Center.

First estimates had set the damage as high as 30 million dollars.

Recess Steel Talks

NEW YORK (AP)—With steel negotiations in weekend recess, the Steelworkers Union concentrated on ending unauthorized work stoppages among Great Lakes oreboat crewmen.

Avert Shutdown

LONDON (AP) — The shutdown of Britain's national newspapers set for Monday was averted today.

The National Society of Operative Printers and Assistants agreed to let the national newspapers share their remaining stocks of printing ink. This will enable the papers to continue publishing austerity-size editions until at least Wednesday.

Supplies of ink to the papers were cut off three days ago by the spread of the two-week-old nationwide printing strike. National newspapers drastically trimmed their size to eke out remaining stocks.

Saar Is Returned

BONN, Germany (AP) — The fabulously rich Saar land—twice taken away from the Germans after world wars—goes back under their complete control at midnight tomorrow.

The French and West German governments announced today that the 1,000 miles square territory will be economically integrated with West Germany months ahead of schedule in a gesture of the friendly relations existing between the two countries.

The wealthy industrial valley became politically part of Germany Jan. 1, 1957, but the economic integration was delayed to allow financial adjustments. It was not due to take place until 1960.

Solon's Son Drowns

BERKELEY (AP) — Randolph L. Rumford, 23, son of Assemblyman W. Byron Rumford (D-Berkeley), drowned during a moonlight swim in Lake Temescal early today.

The body was recovered by a volunteer diver near the swimming float in water about 14 feet deep.

Assemblyman Rumford and another son, Berkeley police officer William Byron Rumford Jr., were present when the body was brought ashore.

Triplets Pose Problem

SOUTHPORT, N.C. (AP) — A gaunt hired hand with financial worries says he and his wife will decide Monday whether they will keep their week-old triplet girls or offer them for adoption.

Nathan B. Miller, 55, the father, said yesterday "We don't want to lose the children. We want to keep them, but it's a question of getting some help."

Miller said he planned to visit his hospitalized wife and discuss their plans for the triplets. Since Miller first said he wasn't sure the family would keep the girls, he has received telegrams from throughout the nation offering to take the children.

Yacht Sinks; 2 Drowned, 4 Missing

MUSKEGON, Mich. (AP) — A moonlight Fourth of July cruise of a family weekend group ended in disaster on Lake Michigan today.

A cabin cruiser and a Great Lakes ferry collided at 2:45 a.m. Two persons drowned and four others were missing. All were occupants of the cruiser.

The missing included the Kenneys' son, Robert, about 21; and their son-in-law, Richard Schaub, 29, Charleston, W. Va.

Also missing were two friends of Robert.

Sign Is Prepared

SAN DIEGO (AP) — A signboard showing three small girls, each holding her nose with a tissue, was put up on Harbor drive. Just across the highway is a sewage disposal plant.

Big Discovery: A New Spring Bigger Discovery: Divining Rod

OKAY, go ahead and laugh! Not everyone has a live spring appear out of nowhere on his property during a dry year, and just wait until about September when they ask you to conserve water. I'll divert the overflow from my private subterranean supply to the four corners of our quarter acre while your front lawn shows up like a section of the Mojave Desert.

If there's enough left over I might even channel it into the San Anselmo Creek which is getting so dry the polliwogs are trying to change into horned toads instead of frogs.

About four weeks ago my wife noticed a damp spot in the back part of our lot. She dug a few inches with a trowel and inside of minutes there was a pool of water. When I came home that evening I enlarged it with the shovel and before dark we had a sump brimfull of H2O oozing out of the hillside.

"It must be one of two things," I told my wife. "Either someone up the hillside went away and left the faucet running in the bathtub or there's a leak in the water main on Kenrick road."

"Maybe it's from Judge Carter's dam," she said.

THAT WAS SILLY, of course. Everyone knows the D. A. plugged up the dam himself and besides it's a half mile away in another direction.

We checked out the first possibility and no one was missing any bath water. In fact we could have saved ourselves the trouble, because this was only Wednesday.

The Marin Water District sent out a man with some kind of gadget to look for leaks in the main pipe, but there were none He allowed that we had a spring, sure enough. Maybe an earthquake had cracked the substrata. We might even find an artesian well somewhere.

WE COMPARED notes then with Kenny Shaffer, who lives up the hill a piece and has a year around spring himself.

"Wait a minute," he said. "I'll go out and look."

When he came back to the phone he sounded relieved.

"No, it's all there," he assured us, "but I think I've lost a goldfish. If he shows down your way let me know and I'll come and get him."

A few days later Kenny sent his nephew in with a forked willow stick. I'd heard a lot about this simple detecting device but had never seen one work. The lad held it out in front of him with his wrists turned upward and walked slowly across the back yard. When he got to the spring the stick bent down and pointed directly to it.

"Look," he said. "Water."

"That's good to know," I commented dryly. "For a while there I thought it was a puddle of root beer."

My wife wanted to try it and so did I. We both got the same result.

The branch pointed to a spot in the property next door a good 10 feet away from our spring.

"That's where we should dig," said my wife.

"Let Russ dig his own spring," said I "Try somewhere else.

Our son Larry made the next test. The stick pointed straight up.

"What's that mean?" he asked.

"Mut be it's going to rain," I conjectured.

The willow fork seemed to conk out after that until we pushed it around the front yard. Then it almost twisted out of my hands.

"We've got something here," I yelled excitedly. "Maybe we can build a swimming pool with free water!"

Larry and I took turns with the shovel. We dug about two feet, then we hit it.

Not an artesian well or another spring, but the sewer pipe. We had tuned in on the washing machine which had just discharged its cargo of water, Blue Cheer and hidden dirt.

Confucius or somebody say, "Still water run deep."

To which I might add another, more appropriate aphorism.

Anybody need a forked willow stick?

'Most Of Them Will Be Slums'

Architect A. Jane Duncombe Revolts Against Mediocrity In Building Field

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Architect A. Jane Duncombe, Frank Lloyd Wright-trained, believes that "most of what is being built now as homes will be slums in a few years."

Wanting no part of this situation and feeling unable to do much about it, she had the courage of her convictions and recently turned the key for the last time in the lock of her studio in Mill Valley's El Paseo.

"Whether you like it or not, you can't fight the system," she said. "You start feeling you don't have to work for big business, and pretty soon you don't."

Furthermore, she's tired of operating an one-woman business and wants to work with people on ideas instead of with materials and money.

THIRTY-FOUR years old and very attractive, Jane Duncombe is well known as the designer of the unique triangular Marin Convalescent and Rehabilitation Hospital in Tiburon. She considers this a high point in her career, both because of the people she worked with and the freedom she had to make decisions.

She has agreed, in spite of defection from her profession, to design a small addition to the hospital. She will also continue supervising the building of the 28-unit apartment house she designed, which is located at Bulkley avenue and Excelsior lane in Sausalito. It should be completed, she hopes, by September.

What are the specific reasons for her abandoning a career that has been successful according to material standards? Dissatisfaction with mediocre structures resulting from poor design—failure to enforce zoning ordinances—limitation of available funds caused by people in the lending agencies who do not understand building problems—and, above all, the constant necessity of making a lot of money for someone.

LIFE, SHE FEELS, has more to offer than this.

"Everyone should demand something other than stockades to live in— they are for cows, but we're not cows!" she exclaimed. "And people between 25 and 40 are the ones who are going to have to make demands for something better.

"The entire state of California should be zoned in the next 15 years if it is to be saved. If they can zone a city, they can zone a state."

One of four children, including a twin sister, Jane was born in Oshawa, Ontario, Canada, the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. K. L. Duncombe. She is now a naturalized American citizen.

WHEN SHE WAS five, the family moved to Downers Grove, a surburb of Chicago, where she attended high school. After that, hating school in any form, she went on to attend the art institute in Chicago—"Because it was expected that all of the family would graduate from college.

"When I was quite young," she reminisced, "I remember thinking when I went in houses—these places don't mean very much. They're just rooms, rugs and furniture, and they ought to be more than that. It had nothing to do with wanting to build houses for anyone else. I decided I would study architecture because I wanted something more than this for myself."

Before Jane received her bachelor of arts degree from the Chicago Art Institute with major in industrial arts, she found she was gradually becoming interested in designing for others as well as herself—so in order to get the required work in engineering she also attended the University of Illinois during summers.

"ONE DAY, I discovered I had a few more credits than necessary. I quit the same day, and after being interviewed by Wright received a fellowship to study with him at Taliesin in Wis. I didn't even go back to the art institute for graduation."

"I admire him, especially his philosophy that everything grows out of nature, and I believe he is the only architect in the last 500 years who has done a great deal for our way of life and culture."

But she doesn't want to be considered one of his disciples. "Disciples," she explained, "are the ones who get swallowed up by a powerful personality such as Wright's."

Being a decided individualist, Jane struck out for herself and came to Inverness to work with architect Lois Davidson on a house there.

THERE FOLLOWED various jobs of her own after that while she lived in Mill Valley from 1953 to 1958.

Finding that much of her social life was in San Francisco, Jane decided to commute in reverse—that is, work in the peaceful and relaxing country atmosphere that Mill Valley offers, and live in the city.

When friends bought a big, old home in Pacific Heights at 2350 Vallejo, Jane remodeled it into apartments for them in return for the privilege of making the top floor into an apartment for herself. There she has a magnificent view of the entire city.

But what of the future?

"Besides finishing the work I have on hand in the next eight months, I'm going to look around to see what I want to do. The Bay Area is the nucleus of so many wonderful things going on in the country that I want to be a part of.

"For one thing, I'll devote some free time to Radio Station KFPA in Berkeley, whether it's making posters or just stuffing envelopes.

"Maybe I'll just be getting back to where I started, designing things for myself. In spite of everything—I wouldn't have done it any other way."

Prisoners Without Guards

Parole System Doesn't Work So Well Now As It Did Back In 1893

Editor's note: This is the first of several features and historical studies of Leo L. Stanley, M.D., for many years chief medical officer at San Quentin.

By LEO L. STANLEY, M.D.

"Prisoners have been sent out with or without a guard to work on a ranch. But most of the escapes are occasioned by the adoption of the 'Trustie System' in which a prisoner whose term of service is about to expire or who has been well behaved, or has been reccommended by the lessee as a gentleman and a man of good standing, may be permitted to do light work, to be kept separate from the mass of prisoners, to go on errands for miles in the country on foot or horseback alone, to go to San Francisco and to sleep without guard at the cook house off prison grounds."

The above was part of a report made in 1855 by a Special Committee appointed from the Assembly to investigate San Quentin. This system might be considered the fore runner in California of the Parole System, which today over a hundred years later is being criticised.

It was then as it is now in in 1958 the desire of prison officials and administrators to give a man who has broken the law and been cast into prison a chance to return to society Out on Parole.

As an outgrowth of the "Trustie System" even with its many defects, imperfections and inadequacies and its disappointments of its advocates, the "Parole System" was established in California in 1893. After 13 years The Board of Prison Directors reported to Governor Pardee that 187 prisoners had been paroled. Only 8 percent had violated.

This is somewhat different from what it was in 1950 when the Department of Corrections reported to the Governor's Council that for four months in that year 797 prisoners were paroled. Of these 386 were returned for sufficient cause. That is fairly close to 48 per cent.

Excerpts from the report of 52 years ago well show the thinking of the day:

"The parole system has been in existence sufficiently long in California to enable us to say that it is beneficial, not only to the individual prisoner but to the general discipline of the prison itself. We have been conservative in the exercise of the power conferred upon us by law and have examined each case before us carefully and conscientiously. Every prisoner understands that no matter how humble he may be, how friendless or how hopeless his case, he may have the ear of the Board, and that his right to liberty will depend upon himself. Deserving prisoners have been allowed to present their cases.—We have endeavored to extend the privilege of parole to all such men who, by conduct in prison and by avowed determination to lead a better life, seemed worthy of consideration."

"The Board is extremely stringent in requiring that all conditions of parole shall be observed and the power to be used by the Board of calling a prisoner who enters a saloon or other place where liquor may be obtained, or in other respects forfeits the confidence reposed in him, has had a very salutary effect in keeping paroled prisoners in the narrow path. The greatest temptation assailing a prisoner just released is the desire to drink."

That was written over half a century ago. But now in these enlightened with modern penology, the Department of Corrections has seen fit to lift the ban on frequenting and visiting saloons, taverns and other places where alcoholic beverages are dispensed over the bar. That might have some influence on the high rate of parole violations as they occur today.

IN MY CAPACITY as chief medical officer at San Quentin it was my duty to interview each parole violator when he came back to San Quentin to determine whether he had any physical impairment which would prevent his being sent to Folsom Prison, which was considered to be a maximum security institution.

Naturally I tried to find out just what it was that made them violate. Most of the excuses were very flimsy.

"Oh, I just got drunk" and they did not tell what they did when and if they were under the influence.

"Oh, it was just one of those things" was another favorite reply, without dilating on details.

MANY WERE HONEST enough to say that when they were out, they had to work to eat. And with their training in jail that was not a popular pastime.

Some of these violators figured that if they did get out and found earning an honest living some what of a chore, they could easily commit another crime.

If they were not caught that would be just fine. If they were they would be sent back to their haven of rest where food, shelter, recreation and many other advantages offered on the outside would be waiting them.

Perhaps these law violators are not so dumb after all.

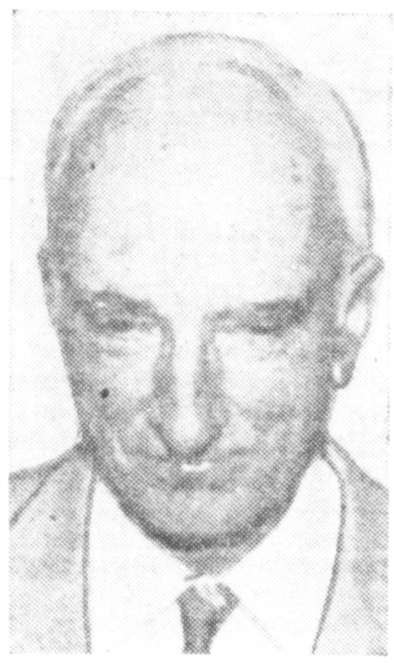
'Fun To Be Retired'

Dr. Leo L. Stanley, M.D., can remember only one period of inactivity in his life —and that was enforced. It was during his wartime service with the U. S. Navy, when he spent several months zigzagging around the Pacific trying to make connections with the heavy cruiser Minneapolis.

The son of a Salinas country doctor, he was forced to work his way through high school, thence Stanford University. After graduation in 1913 from medical school he went to San Quentin Prison as a member of the medical staff and worked continuously — and hard — up until his retirement in 1951.



DR. LEO STANLEY

BUT RETIREMENT in Dr. Stanley's vocabulary is just another word for activity. In addition to a private practice in surgery, he serves as director of the Marin Municipal Water District, substitutes as surgeon on Matson liners, goes on live news junkets for radio station KJBS, is a diligent gentleman farmer at his 10-acre crest farm and goes on week-long trail rides with the Sonoma County Trail Blazers and the Ranchero Conquistadors of Santa Barbara.

HE FINDS himself too busy, in fact, to give his saddle horse Trixie enough exercise. He has been in his swimming pool fewer than 10 times.

Among his other sidelines is writing, and has been author of several articles and one book, "Men At Their Worst," published in 1940. One of his articles, "The Peanut Butcher," was based on days of working through Stanford University More recently, he has written "It's Fun To Be Retired," which has been reprinted in pamphlet form since its original publication in The Centaur of Alpha Kappa Kappa.

ONE OF Dr. Stanley's theses on purposeful retirement — he organized his retirement so that it was such —is service on public boards and in public offices.

"There is no idle time in the water district offices, and I know I am giving the taxpayers more for their money in time and the serious, strict attention I give my elective job than they get from the average business man with a living to earn."

A Second Lifeline

Water District Holds Dedication Sunday For New Filtration And Pipe Facilities

Thousands of Marinites are getting more satisfaction — and more water — out of a turn of the faucet. It stems directly from the new $1,200,000 Marin Municipal Water District filtration plant and Southern Marin's "second lifeline," namely, a pipeline with an eventual capacity of 30 million gallons per day.

Dedication of the new facilities will be held at 2:30 p.m. tomorrow at the site overlooking Phoenix Lake, Ross and Kentfield. It will take the dedicated droplets approximately 10 hours to gush from someone's faucet in Southern Marin.

Actually, you may have noticed an improvement in both pressure and output before now, since the plant with its 10 million gallons per day capacity and the new pipeline went into operation nearly two months ago. And high time. Unexpected population increases in Southern Marin (all those apartment houses, for instance) have severely taxed the old facilities, by which water from Alpine Lake served all of Southern Marin. Now, for the first time, sources north of "the ridge" are tappable by southern consumers.

The pipeline crosses White's Hill and runs through Sleepy Hollow, where it joins the existing Southern Marin system. The added supply, gushing at the rate of 10 feet per second, makes it possible to maintain higher levels in various storage tanks in the Southern Marin area, according to MMWD manager William Seeger. Come winter, it will eliminate muddiness in supplies formerly taken directly from the lakes.

The filtration plant itself, most modern in the country, can increase its capacity from 10 to 20 million gallons per day in emergencies.

The process is as follows: water from the lake goes first into a mixing chamber where chemicals are added to speed settling of solids. The settling takes place in a 125-feet-wide circular tank where a scraper shunts sediments from the bottom into a sludge line.

From the large tank the water is drained into four filters — first to be built on the west coast. The depth of 24 feet forces water through the beds of rock and sand, from which the water is pumped into a 2 million gallon storage tank. Like the settling tank, it is 125 feet in diameter but roofed with concrete.

About every eight hours, the filter process is reversed, so that water from below flushes sediments from the filter beds. The resultant dirty water is drawn off to a large settling tank before being pumped back through the filtration plant.

The sludge which it deposited in the settling tank is then washed away.

The plant will be inspected by water experts from all over the country next Thursday, when a tour will be conducted in connection with the National Water Works Assn. national convention in San Francisco.

Inspection days for the public will be announced.

The project is part of $6,500,000 in improvements being financed by a 1956 bond issue. The bonds will be retired entirely out of water revenues, according to Seeger.

The plant was engineered by the Clyde C. Kennedy offices in San Francisco. Kitchen and Hunt were architects.

Construction was begun last August by contractor C. Norman Peterson, Inc., of Berkeley. Several Marin firms were subcontractors: Fred W. Bullock, landscaping; Ghilotti Bros., Inc., paving; L. H. Leonardi Electrical Construction Co.; O'Neal & Logan Hardware, floor covering; Shamrock Materials, Inc., concreted and filter rock, and Steve Zappetini & Son, structural steel and miscellaneous iron.

Another filtration plant — eventually double the size of the new one—concurrent with Nicasio Dam construction to complete the $6,500,000 project. These facilities will mainly supply Northern Marin, but will also supplement supplies to other areas.

Tomorrow's dedication at the new plant will include dedication of a memorial plaque to the late Thomas Kent by Mrs. Kent. Kent was president of the MMWD board at the time of his death. Master of ceremonies will be Robert G. Anderson of Sausalito, current president. Chief address will be made by Sam Gardiner, longtime attorney for the water district, with Seeger giving a short resume of the project.

MMWD's 160 employees and their families will undoubtedly take the trek up Lake Lagunitas road from Fairfax, to attend the festivities. The road will be marked from Lake Lagunitas on.

EARLY MILL VALLEY—This very old painting of Mill Valley shows Blithedale Canyon as it was in the hey-day of the Blithedale Hotel. Painting is owned by the California Historical Society.

An Early Painting

The discovery of this old painting was hailed in historical circles. On a hunch, a fellow historian called Mrs. Jenkins of Bolinas. Was this anything she remembered. One look and she identified it, cottage by cottage. The collection of frame cottages was that of her grandfather's Blithedale Hotel, which was established in Mill Valley's Blithedale Canyon in 1873.

Comparing the cottages in the painting to early photographs led to dating the picture about 1878. The artist, as often happens with landscape paintings, faithfully reproduced detail to create a valuable record of the day.

"The only thing that puzzles me," says Mrs. Jenkins, "is that I don't remember those rocks."

As a young girl she spent vacations at the homestead, which was a favorite summer resort for prominent San Francisco families. Cottages above are named for the Monteagle, Moore, and Parker families, who built them under some arrangement with Blithedale Hotel's founder, Dr. John Cushing.

IN 1874 SAN RAFAEL HAD 2 STREET LIGHTS

In 1874 the San Rafael Gas and Electric Co. was started on the land occupied now by the City Hall. The plan was very simple. The gas was made from soft coal and was stored in a wooden tank made of wooden staves. Barges brought the coal to San Rafael and then it was taken to the plant by a team.

In 1878 it moved to the present site of the P.G.&E. Co.

On Oct. 6, 1881 the new Courthouse got its first bill for gas. The bill was for $128.50 for two months and was passed by the Board of Supervisors.

IN 1874 the first street lights were put up in San Rafael—one on the southeast corner of 4th and D; one on the southeast corner of 4th and B; and one on the northwest corner of 4th and A.

In 1881 three meters were installed to check gas used by the street lights.

In 1892 San Rafael got its first electricity. Early in 1892 a boiler and dynamo were installed. On August 11, 1892 the public got to visit the new plant. In September, 1892 the plant was in full operation.

Private Camps In Marin — Safety, Psychology And Heart

Imagine paying a $1,200 milk bill just for two months! This gives a rough idea of the industrial proportions of running a private summer camp —of which Marin has two. The larger one, Forest Farm, located at Forest Knolls, last year added up a $60,000 budget, with capital investment amounting to several times that amount. Both Forest Farm and neighboring Camp Lagunitas work on the basis of one staff member to about 2½ campers.

Camp Lagunitas, which chooses to remain small and concentrate on younger children, has a complement of 14 for 30 to 35 youngsters ranging from 5 to 12 years.

Forest Farm, which is expanding into senior camping this summer, has a staff of 40 divided between the 84 at Forest Knolls and the 24 teen-agers at the rugged new site at Nicasio. His payroll runs around $12,000 per season.

BEHIND THE DOLLARS stands safety, psychology, specialized programs — and heart. Camp Lagunitas' Olga and Edward Barbano and Forest Farm's Frances and Harold Gregg are all veterans of recreation leadership. They put strong emphasis on the kind of a camp which is fun, family-feeling and not too regimented.

There is no such thing as homesickness. There's camp sickness," observes Barbano. He feels that sleeping in safe-feeling dormitories helps account for lack of the latter.

Gregg, who has one staff member just to train junior counselors, puts emphasis on adult companionship. Hiking party of 12 has both a junior and a senior counselor.

"IF A KID wants to sit on a log and just talk to an adult, he should have that privilege," says Gregg.

Friends and neighbors, both are members of the California Association of Private Camps and its national affiliate. Association sets standards for counselors, training of junior counselors and for safety. Directors check each other's camps for danger points.

"It is very helpful," says Gregg. "Another director may spot something which you hadn't even considered a hazard."

Member camps are extremely aware of the safety record of each, "since a black eye for one is a black eye for all," as Gregg puts it.

The less-regimented program of private camps costs more than those of organizational camps. Fees at both Marin camps are $195 for a three-week minimum, and they have a large proportion of "repeated." Both are booked solid before camp opens. Their location 24 miles from San Francisco is another asset.

CAMP LAGUNITAS, located on Aurora road between Forest Knolls and Lagunitas, has a king-sized swimming pool between the Barbanos family home and the dormitory-kitchen-crafts building. The lodge is rustic but well-scrubbed. In warm weather, young campers dote on dining in the open.

THERE ARE HORSES, courts for various games, a live stream (with fish) running through redwoods and campfire circle for evening fun crowning the hill. The program also features all-day trips to the beach or Blue or Clear Lake, overnight campouts, dramatics, hiking, crafts, dancing, woodwork and boating. Nearby Samuel B. Taylor State Park affords more wilderness.

Both the Barbanos have been in recreational work for many years. Olga, who directs the folk dancing and dramatics, is also an active 4-H and Girl Scout leader. Edward, who has worked for recreation and welfare in both San Francisco and Marin, worked the latter part of the war years on the Marin City recreation program. He is also active in local community projects, notable Little League and until recently the Lagunitas School Board.

He also brings to his job a sense of wonder at his environment, the minnows in the stream, for instance:

"Look at those little guys. Just imagine, they'll be strapping 30 and 35-pound steelhead someday."

THE GREGGS have built their camp on an ideal which they developed during years of teaching. Gregg sums it up this way:

"Knots are to hold things—not just to tie and varnish."

Consequently, all of the incentives and disciplines at the camp are based on this "use it" theory. Learn to swim for the big canoe trip. Pay attention to the riding instructor so you will be good enough to go on "The Big Ride."

Or "we'd like to take you on the overnight hike with us, but seriously, if you were us would you take you the way you've been acting?"

Gregg's string of 18 horses is kept in trim by a novel off-season program, whereby youngsters in the neighborhoods have a "horse of their own" for 10 months of the year in exchange for feeding and caring for it.

FOREST FARM'S camp budget does not follow the state average. Gregg pays more for staff, with incentive pay raises to keep old counselors coming back. Repeat campers return by the familyfuls from as far as Paris and Venezuela.

Some counselors are graduates of camper days, like Judy Gibbs, who is a junior counselor in her eighth year. Three younger Gibbses are also regulars.

"They may not sign up early, but we always know the Gibbses are coming."

Forest Farm is on two levels—topographically as well as age-wise. Five-to-9-year-olds live in stair-step cottages near main buildings. Crowning the knoll is Forest Farm Roundup, where 9-to-14-year-olds have more rustic quarters and lodge.

NEW FOR OVER-14'S is a 112-acre Nicasio site. Its redwoods are perfect for the camping-out life and its one-time cheese factory is most adaptable to lodge and craft facilities.

A shower-toilet unit has been built and a field leveled for games, but it will be up to the campers to decide on improvements. Camp complement of 24 is split into two, each with a married couple as counselors. They will go back into the redwoods and select a site for camping. Running water by Mother Nature and ingenuity.

Gregg makes it a policy to leave things unfinished for inventive youths to decide need improving. The gate to the new camp, for instance, is marked by a crudely painted board.

"I expect we'll have a better sign before long. One of them will come up to me and say, 'Mr. Gregg, don't you think we ought to have a better looking sign?' and then we'll have to sit down and figure out what to do about it."

ORIGINALLY, the Greggs had planned to start a school, but the rest-of-the-year freedom of camp directing on one hand and the stringent state codes on the other caused them to give up the idea. They have four children, Chloe, 24; Susan, 21, and twins Louise and Linda, 16. Susan and her husband will be directors of the new rustic camp.

Unknown quantity is Hillwood Camp in Mill Valley, directed by Mrs. J. B. Libra, currently a day camp in conjunction with Hillwood School in San Francisco, which stays open all summer. Formerly Presbyterian Church's Camp Duncan, it was one of the oldest private camps in Marin, pre-dating Muir Woods National Monument. It was established in the early 1890's.

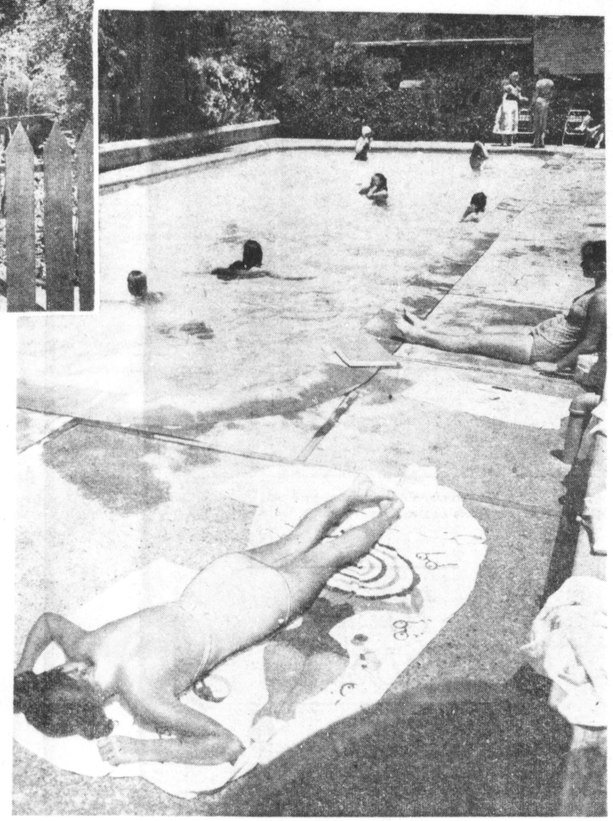
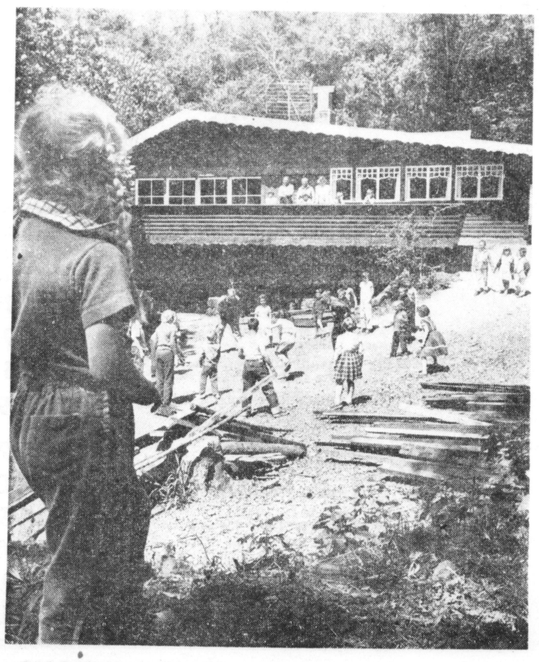
ANIMAL FRIENDS — Kathy Barbanos plays with Camp Lagunitas "campers" otherwise pup and kitten pals. Creek abounds in fish, and young anglers learn that "those little bitty minnows" will one day be strapping 30-pound steelhead.



BIG POOL — Camp Lagunitas boasts king-size swimming pool. Above, water gets pre-season test by friends of Barbano daughters Kathy and Donna. Camp, in its 15th year, caters to 30 to 35 boys and girls ranging from 5 to 12 years of age. Summer staff numbers 14 adults and counselors.



THIRD CAMP FOR MARIN — Mill Valley's redwoods encircle Hillwood, which dates to before Muir Woods became national monument. Formerly Presbyterians' Camp Duncan, it now serves as day camp for private school in San Francisco.

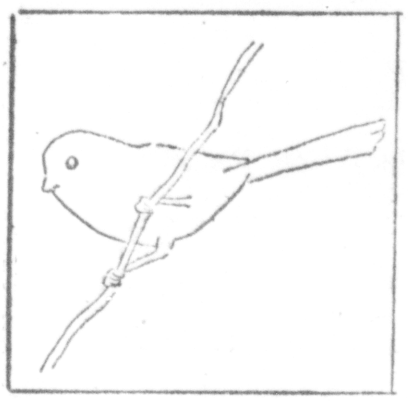
PLENTY OF HORSES — Forest Farm complement of 18 horses assures plenty of riding for youngsters, with two instructors on hand for ring instruction. Big lure to proficiency is the Big Trail Ride. In background are cottages for younger campers. Pool and fishing pond are between corral and cottages. Older campers roundup crowns hilltop beyond.



BUSH TIT — Next to the Hummer the Bish-Tit is our smallest bird. Since half of his 4 inch length consists of tail, he is only about as big as a man's thumb. His color is a drab gray. Three fourths of the year the Bish-Tits forage in loose troupes of 15 or more birds, drifting in and out of trees and shrubs, sounding little keep-in-touch notes (ts it!) and busily searching for minute insects and their eggs. They hang upside down with ease as they search the under side of leaves for food. They are architects instead of singers. They build elaborate, hanging pouches 8 or 9 inches long for nests, making a small entrance hole at one side near the top. The nests, hung at moderate heights in bushes or trees, are made of mosses, plant-downs, etc. bound with cobwebs, ornamented with lichens, etc. and lined with plant-down and feathers. Nest building begins in March and 2 broods of 6 to 8 are raised—if the Blue Jays don't raid the nest. (From "Out-of-Doors in Marin," copyrighted by M. F. Austin.)

Splash Of Fuchsia

June-planted fuchsias can still make a big splash of color in hanging baskets. The California Association of Nurserymen suggests at least two — even three — plants to the container for the best show of color. Keep them watered daily and pinch out the tips to new growth frequently to make the plants bush and be full of new, flowering wood.

FOLK DANCE FESTIVAL

'Circle Up' Comes The Call For 'Fun In Marin' July 12

"Circle up," Circle up for "Fun in Marin!"

As this call rings out over the College of Marin athletic field on July 12, the curtain rises on the 14th annual production of "Fun in Marin," a gay and colorful festival sponsored by the eight member clubs of the Marin Dance Council, Inc., for the Folk Dance Federation of California.

All is in readiness, as round the field gay decorations carry out the theme of Drama Masks —the faces of Comedy and Tragedy. Scott Tilden, production director and president of Marin Dance Council, Inc., promises that no effort has been spared to bring forth a glittering galaxy of the brightest personalities and patterns of folk dancing.

A brilliant cast has been assembled including exhibition groups such as Ansambl Norodnih Igracia Sokoli of San Francisco under the direction of John Skow, and the Marin Junior Dancers taught by Joe and Marie Angeli.

Popular guest callers from the Bay Area who will be on hand both afternoon and evening are Harlan Beard, Bill Carroll, Randy Randolph, and Stan Valentine. Others in the cast include from 750 to 1,000 visiting folk dancers from all over California, local folk dancers, their friends and families, interested spectators and two or three friendly dogs.

ACT ONE will be presented in Marvelous Marin's sunshine beginning at 1:30 p.m. Following a two an done-half hour intermission, dancing resumes at 7:30 in the brightly decorated gymnasium where gigantic masks and daisies float from the rafters. Again there will be general dancing and exhibitions of national dances in authentic costumes.

A wide variety of tempo and mood is found in the afternoon and evening exhibitions by Bay Area non-professional groups of near professional ability — all in their colorful national costumes.

Dances will include Spanish jota, Hungarian czardas, Polish mazur, Russian hopak, Swedish hambo, Roumanian kolo and many more. It's fun to take part and just as much fun to watch. The Marin Dance Council, Inc., invites all folk dancers, prospective beginners and friends to spend an enjoyable afternoon at the festival.

There is no admission charged either in the afternoon or evening.

EXTENSIVE PREPARATIONS have been made by the production staff as follows: outdoor decorations, Mill Valley Folk Dancers; indoor decorations, Sausalito Step-Togethers; programs and callers, Hardly Able Folk and Square Dancers; records and sound, San Rafael Whirlaways; publicity, Southern Marin Folk Dancers.

The history of folk dancing in Marin County goes back as long ago as 1939-40 when a small nucleus of Marin residents were first taught by Song Chang, well-known San Francisco folk dance teacher and founder of Chang's International Folk Dancers there. The almost overnight burst of popularity for folk dancing might be attributed partly to the fact that there was no competition from television then, and during and after World War II people were hungry for entertainment.

Among early clubs in the county were the Tamalpais International Folk Dancers in San Anselmo, and clubs in Sausalito, Tiburon and Mill Valley. Mrs. Allyn Young, who learned to folk dance at Chang's in San Francisco, and who organized the Sausalito Folk Dancers, taught them for a number of years and handed the teaching reins to one of her students, Mickey McGowan.

In this same club, later known as Sausalito Step-Togethers, Mickey in turn taught Joe Angeli, who is now instructor for the Marin Whirlaways! Joe and wife, Marie, are instructors for the Marin Junior Dancers composed of children seven through 11 years old. Who from this group will be the next dance teacher? A likely prospect is Steve Angeli, son of Joe and Marie and himself a square dance caller for three years!

Among Marin County dancers have been several officers in the Folk Dance Federation of California, namely Charlie Reindollar, Ed Kremers, Dan McDonald, George Murton, Bernice Schramm, Frank Kane, John Mooney and Bob Chevalier, each of whom contributed greatly to the statewide folk dance movement.

The Circle grows ever larger as from time to time the Council or individual clubs sponsor beginners' classes, bringing new enthusiasm to the folk dance movement. Another stimulating group is the workshop class in more advanced dances taught by Bill and Ann D'Alvy each Tuesday night at Redwood High School.

There's something for everyone in folk dancing whether as a participant or a spectator — it's lively, friendly, "Fun in Marin."

In the afternoon, Rikudom, Grace West Newman, director, will present Israeli dances. On the evening program, Oakland Recreation Dance Arts directed by Milly von Konsky, will do two dances, the girls presenting "Tunyogmatoucsi" and the men, a recruiting dance "Kassai Verbunk." Another Russian dance among the exhibitions will be "Bold Merchant," performed by the San Francisco Terpsichoreans, whose director is Grace Nichols. The San Francisco Dance Guild, Grace San Filippo, director, will do a Polish dance, "Oberek Zvichainy." Marin Junior Dancers under direction of Joe and Marie Angeli, will present a German dance, "Grosser Acterrum."

COLORFUL—Grace Newman Spanish Dancers will be featured on festival program.

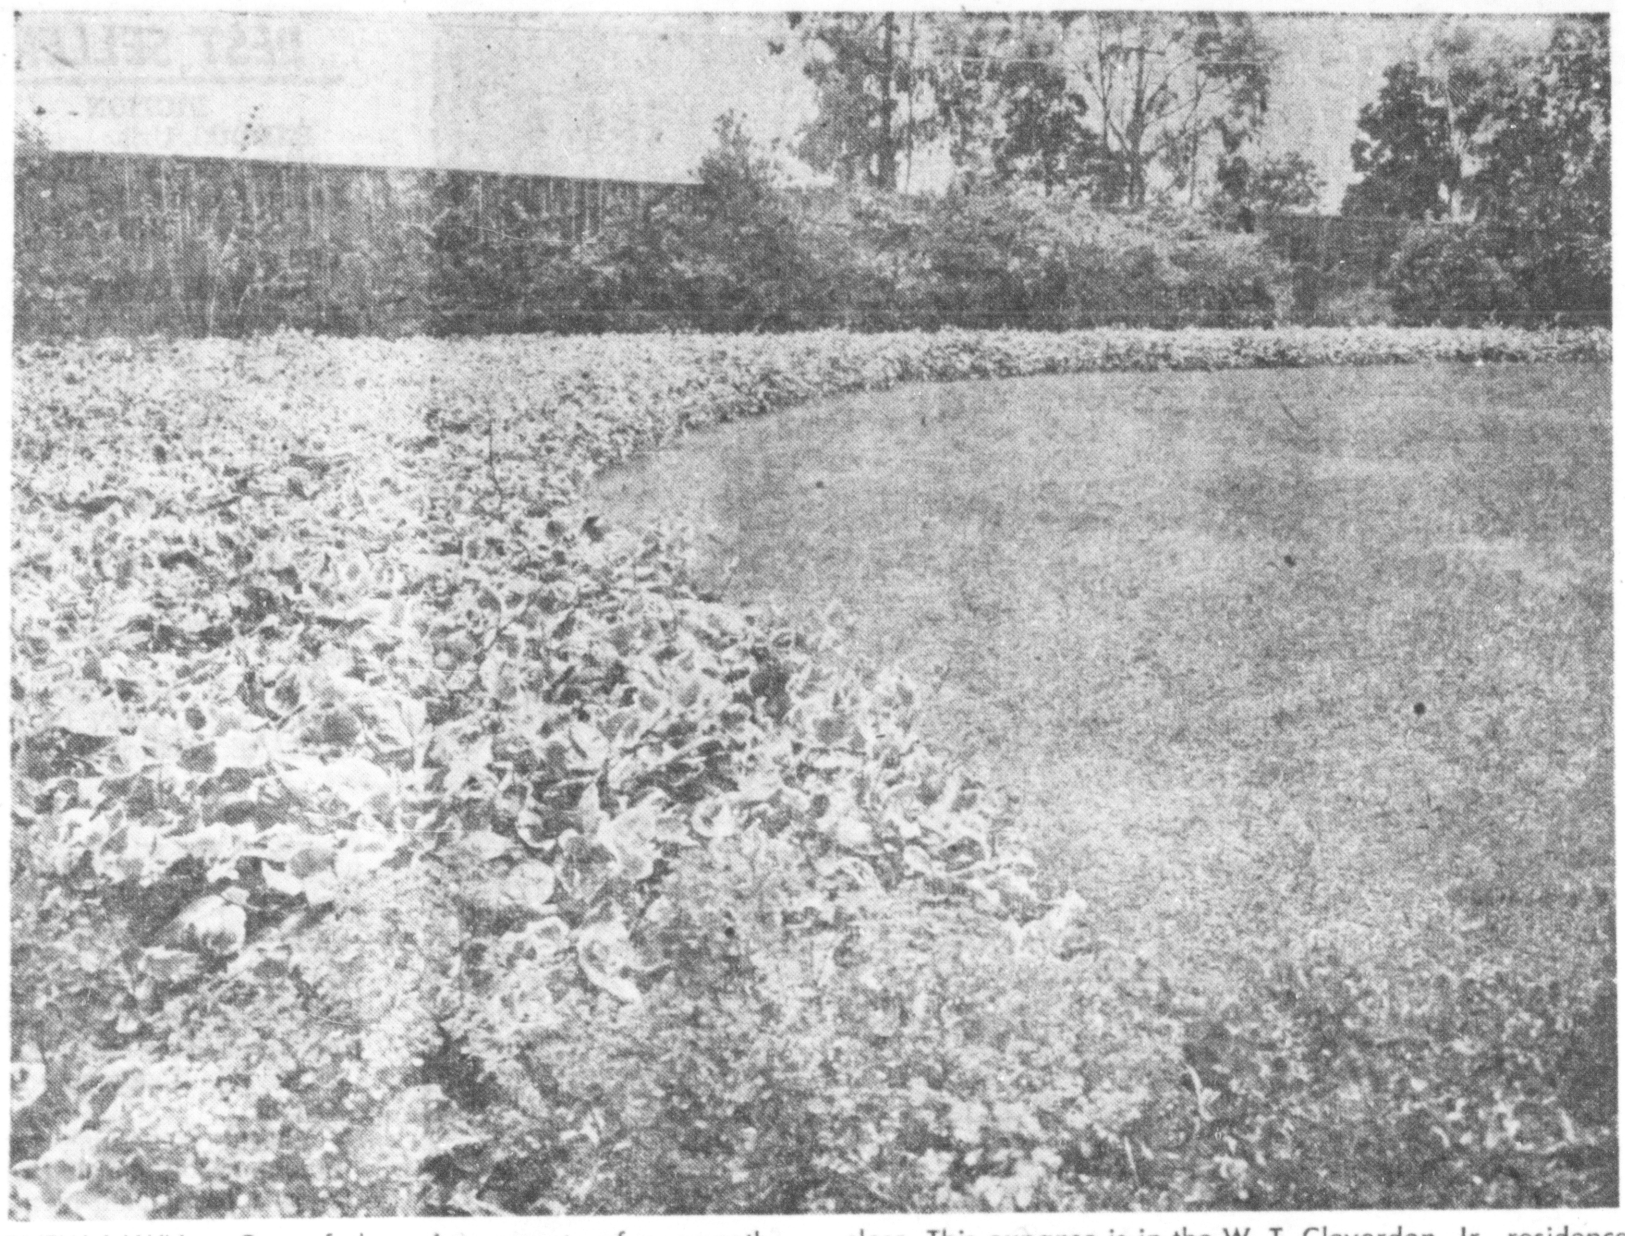
HAZELNUT (Corylus rostrata) —The California Hazelnut is an open, spreading, deciduous shrub which grows from 5 to 12 ft. high in moist wooded canyons. Early in the year while the branches are still bare the Hazel may be easily identified by its flowers. The pollen-bearing flowers are borne in long, drooping, almost worm-like, green catkins. The pistillate flowers are fewer and inconspicuous, but close observation discloses the tiny flowers marked by two bright red projecting stigmas. They mature hard shelled nuts similar to filberts. These nuts are covered by a green "envelope." The broad, 1½ to 3 inch long leaves are toothed and velvety to the touch. (From Out-of-Doors in Marin, copyright by M. F. Austin)



LOVELY LAWN — One of the prime secrets of a smooth, lush lawn is feeding. Another is watering, occasional but deep. Mowing during warm months should not be too close. This expanse is in the W. T. LAWN FAILURE

Five Causes Of Ratty Lawn Begin With The Seed Itself

There are five principal causes for the failure of the home lawn, regardless of where in the county the lawn is located.

These causes, in order of their importance, are:

1. Poor and/or improper seed.
2. Lack of fertilizing.
3. Insufficient watering.
4. Improper mowing.
5. Lack of weed control.

The best type of a grass seed to shop for is one that is a mixture of grasses, an all-perennial mixture that will permit all the varieties contained in the package to grow year after year.

There are countless types and variations of grasses and mixtures. For example, in warm areas there are Bermuda, St. Augustine, Centipede, Carpet Bahia, Zoysia and many others.

In cool regions some of the more popular types are the Bents, Bluegrasses, Fescues and others. Many of the mixtures available contain dicondra, which although it is not a true grass, substantially contributes to a successful and attractive ground cover.

THE BEST APPROACH is to discuss your seed requirements with a local established garden supply dealer or professional nurseryman. All seed purchased from recognized brand manufacturers will list on the container all the varieties and types contained in the mixture. This eliminates any guesswork or misunderstanding before the seed is planted.

The proper and timely fertilization of the lawn is very important to its uniform growth and success. A fertilizing every two months with a good brand fertilizer is recommended.

Here again, sound professional advice from local dealers and nurserymen will provide the home gardener with the answer. There are fast acting high nitrogen content fertilizers, and those which act slower but produce long-lasting results.

More and more home gardeners are finding out that inadequate as well as excessive watering are extremes that represent a principal cause for the failure of the lawn.

The soil should not, at any time, be allowed to completely dry. Bear in mind, however, that this does not mean it should be soaked or soggy all the time, for this will tend to breed fungi.

A SOFT, SATURATION watering each day during the seasonal dry spells is recommended. Actually, except in drought areas, one good saturation watering a week where the water can sink down at least six inches, will be adequate. And good water drainage is all a part of watering efficiency.

The mowing of the lawn is the key to the maintenance and continuance of a truly fine and attractive ground cover. In the South it is recommended that Bermuda and other mixtures be mowed to a 3/4 inch cut. Bent and Blue Grasses should be cut at a height of one inch. Blue Grass fescue mixtures prosper best when mowed at a height of 1 1/2 inches.

For the broader bladed Blue Grasses, or the so-called "play ground" grasses, the cut should be about two inches.

ALLOWANCES will have to be made in those areas where summer scorching is a problem. Here the home gardener must avoid cutting the grass too frequently and too close.

A once a week mowing in summer months is generally sufficient. However, in the spring months, two mowings a week are usually necessary.

Weed control used to mean long hours on your knees with a knife and a basket digging out dandelions. Today, there is a wide variety of proven weed killers available for the control and elimination of almost every weed you are apt to find in your lawn.

GRASS also is subjected to fungus, such as leaf spot. And there are damaging insects, the most common of which are grubs, chinch bugs, cut worms, skipper bugs and lawn moths.

Pest and insect control, can be achieved by use of the special lawn sprays manufactured by various leading companies. Some of these sprays are combinations of fungicides and insecticides designed to arrest the infection and remove the insect's source of food.

A handsome lawn is a matter of pride for the whole family. If you have a reliable seed mixture, have reasonably good soil, water, fertilize and mow properly you can have a lawn that will be the envy of the neighborhood with a minimum amout of effort.

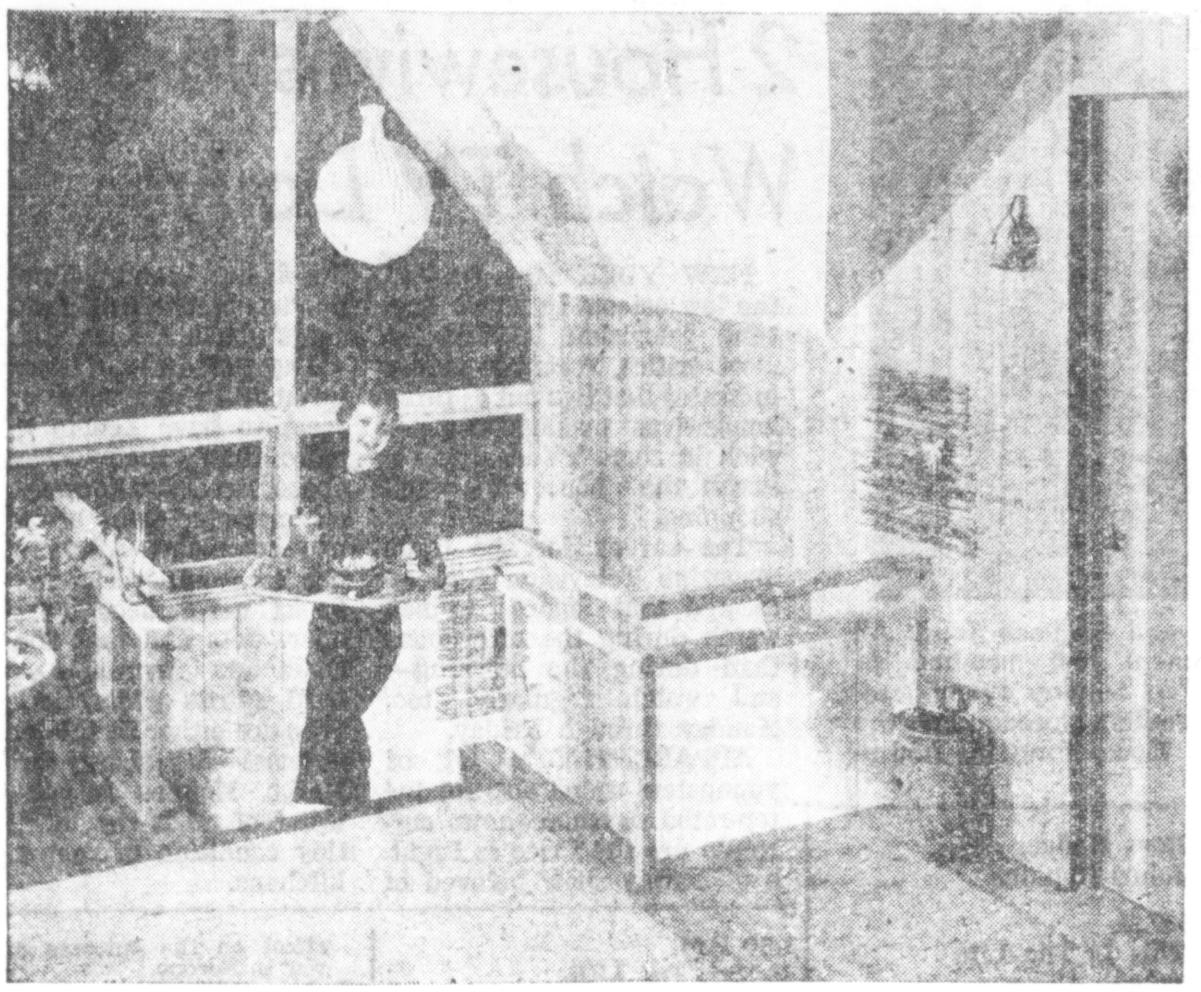
CHECKLIST GARDENER'S

- Water is the prime requirement at this time. Keep it at the roots of all growing things so that new growth won't harden off before it's ready.
- Seed of many annuals and perennials can be sown now. The latter take longer to sprout, so don't be alarmed if they don't show for a few weeks.
- Cut back delphiniums that have bloomed to within six or eight inches of the ground. Feed and water them for a new growth and bloom cycle.
- Cultivate vegetable and flower beds to get rid of unsightly and moisture-hungry weeds.
- Brighten lanai rooms and sun porches with a few pots of African violets and/or cyclamen. You'll find both at nurseries now.

Asking For It!

Gardeners who use overhead sprinklers on chrysanthemums are asking for trouble. They may get by with it when the plants are young, but later on the weight of the water will be too much. Best bet is to irrigate deeply about once a week. As to feeding, you can't go wrong with liquid fish every three weeks right up to the time buds begin to show color.

Do-It-Yourself



TIME IS NOW — Thoughts of cozy afternoons under the patter of rain on the roof too often occur when that very patter makes it impossible to do something about it. Attic conversation is a summertime natural, especially if you envision creating a sleek vista with glass to the rooftip. Wood paneling creates cozy environ.

ATTIC BOON

Lucky Owner Of Old Home Has Opportunity Under Roof

Among the most fortunate people in the country are those who have a dusty, catch-all attic in their home, for it is here that the sparkling new, badly needed family room or extra bedroom can be installed.

Usually, the biggest problem in converting an attic into a useful element of the house is not so much the redecoration involved as the construction of a stairwell connecting the attic with the story below. Providing adequate access to the new room, admittedly, can be a bit tricky, but with the skillful help of an architect, anything is possible.

Because of the lack of space that can be devoted to it, the attic stairwell usually will have to be steep and of the wrap-around design. However, this liability can become an asset if care is given to its "decor."

FOR INSTANCE, emphasizing, instead of trying to minimize, the stairwell's verticality often pays off. This can be done by paneling the stairwell with a handsome wood like creamy beige west coast hemlock and installing the panel boards vertically.

Then, a lamp of handsome contemporary design can be hung above the stairwell to provide the flood of light it needs and to continue the upward sweep of space. At the top, a simple but decorative railing furnishes the finishing touch.

Decorating the new room is no trick at all, although for an attic room, the decor should be light and warm. Continuing the hemlock wall paneling from the stairwell into the attic room is probably the easiest and surest way to introduce both lightness and textured warmth.

The hemlock paneling should, of course, be finished clear, with just a coat of sealer applied to bring out its natural coloring and followed by a protective topping of wax or lacquer.

A lot of character and natural light will grace this attic room if the gable end is replaced with glass, a feat not nearly so difficult as it might sound. Setting the glass panels in stout Douglas fir framing provides the necessary rigidity and lends a handsome touch to the glass wall. The window wall framing can either be left in its natural coloring or painted to match the main color used for the attic room furnishings.

15c—SALE—15c HOUSE PLANS

If you are a house dreamer, we have just the bargain for you. Marin Magazine still has a good selection of house plans left from past issues. The collection is not complete, but does represent a wide assortment of floor plans and facades.

These will be sold on a first-come basis at 15 cents each (original price, 35 cents). Samples of each of the available plans may be seen at the phone operator's desk inside the 1040 B street entrance to the Independent-Journal Building in San Rafael.

TEENAGE

"Teenage . . . teenager!" is the cry
Heard far and near and low and high
In every land beneath the sky.

We all agree youth should be served,
And attention to it is deserved,
For the hope of a nation toward the new generation
Must of necessity be curved.

Teeners are full of life and pep
And give us beauty, grace and charm;
They are precocious, forward, hep,
Believing themselves the world's right arm.

They will inherit the earth soon enough
Without brushing oldsters off the star,
For food and shelter, clothes and a car.

Have A Happy Hedge

If you have a privet hedge to care for, you will no doubt be surprised to learn that it can be made to do better with food and water. Examples of happy hedges we've known are those on the edge of a lawn which is regularly fed and watered. Use a complete fertilizer now and again in mid-summer. Use the hose on your hedge as often as you like.

2 Housewives In 3 Watch TV Daily

NEW YORK (AP)—Despite the low esteem in which daytime television is held by most critics, recent research indicates that two out of three housewives manage to sandwich in some TV-looking between the housework and shopping.

The survey for the trade magazine Television Age indicated that more women watch during the afternoons than during the morning—and watch regularly, too, Monday through Friday.

The handful of Monday-through Friday soap operas seem to have come in for more than their share of abuse. Recently, however, one critic female came up with a new complaint. After repeating the familiar charges that books never decorate soap opera sets and that the bad characters invariably drink hard spirits while the good ones are either teetotalers or-at most—dry sherry sippers, Marya Mannes insists that worst of all is the inevitably tidy condition of soap opera kitchens.

WAITING FOR DRAW—Sgt. Sidney Weber, consistent top scorer in the sheriff's office, and veteran rangemaster H. O. Peters stand relaxed as they wait for signal. Theirs is no "TV fast draw" but a deliberate draw-aim-fire that does not sacrifice safety.

READY FOR ACTION—The two .38s flash in unison as both men raise and begin pointing at the target 30 feet away. Weber is using a .38 caliber police revolver with six-inch barrel, while Peters relies on his favorite four-incher.

CLIMAX OF DRAW—Arms extended in deliberate aim, both fire simultaneously. The entire action has taken less than one second. Peters is a fiend for insisting that officers make good their first shot, at the expense of speed if necessary.

AND HERE'S THE PAYOFF—This was no "grandstand play," as evidenced by the two closely placed "kill" shots placed on the heart of the target. Peters' two fingers point to the two bullet holes made in the demonstration. Deputy Charles Rester and Sergeant Weber are at right. (Independent-Journal photos)

Firework Displays Set For Tonight In Marin County

There will be fire in the skies over Marin County tonight.

A number of Marin communities are planning fireworks displays to climax their Fourth of July holiday observances.

Larkspur and Corte Madera residents are joining forces for a gigantic 225-piece show of pyrotechnics that will start at 9:15 o'clock tonight at the Niel Cummins School playground.

TWO TEAMS

So big will the Larkspur-Corte Madera Recreation Commission sponsored show be that the Corte Madera Fire Department this year is furnishing two teams of pyrotechnic experts to touch off the fireworks.

The public is being invited to use the parking facilities of the Corte Madera Shopping Center from which to watch the fiery show.

There will be a fireworks spectacle in Sausalito tonight, too. There the Sausalito Lions Club is sponsoring the display which will be touched off on Shell Beach.

IN WEST MARIN

Bolinas residents were also in the holiday spirit as they held their traditional parade this morning.

Fairfax was in the second day of its three-day Independence Day funfest today. The event, sponsored by Fairfax Parlor 307 of the Native Sons of the Golden West, opened yesterday with games, rides, entertainment, and fireworks.

There will be more of the same today and tomorrow with fireworks displays slated for both evenings.

Warnings have been issued that as a fire preventive measure ordinances banning the shooting or possession of fireworks, other than by the sponsors of organized displays, will be strictly enforced.

U.S. Holiday Road Carnage Begins

Toll Rises As Nation Takes To Highways

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Death picked up speed along the nation's streets and highways today.

The count proceeded slowly until midmorning. Then reports of fatalities began to flow in at a faster rate.

By noon PST there had been 68 traffic deaths, 15 drownings and 11 miscellaneous fatalities across the nation, for a total of 94.

California's holiday toll started with four traffic fatalities and one drowning since 6 p.m. yesterday.

But dry, warm weather in most regions, plus millions of cars on the roads, added up to tremendous exposure to danger.

MARIN DRIVERS OFF TO GOOD HOLIDAY START

Marin's highway patrolmen were out in full force today to maintain a spotless traffic record with which the county opened its Fourth of July holiday weekend.

Sgt. James Shanahan of the California Highway Patrol office in San Rafael said not a single accident was reported from last night to midmorning today. "Our record is pure as driven snow so far," said the sergeant. "Let's keep our fingers crossed."

The highway patrol canceled all days off for the weekend, as the full force of patrolmen prowled the highways.

San Rafael had three minor collisions in town between 5:48 and 6:10 o'clock last night. But no one was hurt.

Fire-Fighters Gain On Big Sierra Blaze

SIERRAVILLE (AP)—An army of 1,467 fire-fighters battled the careless camper's costly forest fire on the ground and from the air today with brightening prospects of control by nightfall.

Some 27 million board feet of timber in more than 6,000 acres of rugged forestland had been burned over by dawn today, as aerial tankers took off to spray "slurry"—a borate mixture—over the crackling flames.

"The wind seems to have died down pretty well this morning," said Tahoe National Forest Ranger John H. Bigley. "Things look much better. We hope to have the fire under control by 6 p.m. unless strong winds take it away from us again."

He said damage was estimated at more than $270,000 loss in timber, $11,000 to watershed, $5,500 to grazing and miscellaneous losses.

The cost of controlling the blaze up to this morning was $66,213.

In addition to augmented firefighter crews on the ground, there were five aerial tankers aloft, directed by two lead planes, and a helicopter.

Board Reaffirms Stand On Park

Marin County supervisors yesterday refused to give an unqualified endorsement to the proposed 28,000-acre national park on the Pt. Reyes Peninsula.

By a 4-1 vote the board passed a resolution reiterating a previous request for a complete survey and report on all factors involved in the park project before definite action is taken.

Supervisor Vera Schultz was the dissenter.

Walter R. Castro, board chairman, stressed today that in the vote the majority of the supervisors were neither opposing nor advocating the park project.

"We were simply making the point that we should have all pertinent data before taking a stand," he said.

Rep. Clement W. Miller (D-Corte Madera) has said that a bill to establish the Pt. Reyes park in a seaside area stretching from Tomales Point to Bolinas will be introduced in Congress next Tuesday.

House conferees three weeks ago approved a $15,000 appropriation to finance planning for a park in the area.

Some Pt. Reyes ranchers are opposed to the park as proposed, contending that it would cost Marin's dairy industry some of its most productive acreage.

Western Draw Scorned By Pistol Expert

By WAT TAKESHITA

Too many "fast draw" artists in Marin shoot themselves instead of the target because they sacrifice safety for speed. They should give up speed for safety and accuracy or "get rid of that Buck Rogers gun!"

This advice came today from H. O. Peters, veteran railroad chief agent and rangemaster at the Marin County Pistol Range in San Rafael. Because of the increasing numbers of men who are shooting themselves in the leg, the Independent-Journal asked Peters for a demonstration and some tips on safety.

Peters said he will not tolerate the Western-type fast draw on the county range. "If anybody shoots himself here, it's gonna be a big incident, because I'm gonna shoot him," Peters chuckled. He has not had a single mishap on the range, where he teaches Marin law enforcement officers how to shoot accurately and safely.

The main difference between the fast draw of TV fanatics and the police draw is that the police revolver is not cocked while in the holster. The officer draws, aims, then fires with a "straight pull back" on the trigger. The pull on the trigger draws the firing pin back to cock position, then releases it for firing. Police do not fire until after the arm is pointing to the target.

Holiday Throng Again Jams Camp Taylor

It was standing room only, and very little of that, once again this Fourth of July at Camp Taylor in Taylor State Park.

William Allison, park supervisor, reported this morning that the camping facilities had been filled since Wednesday. And picnickers started arriving today before 5 a.m., making it certain that those facilities, too, would be filled to capacity at an early hour.

He said 135 cars of campers had been turned away since those facilities were filled to capacity Wednesday.

And at 5 this morning some 25 cars of picnickers were already at the camp to make certain they obtained facilities.

Weekday Attendance Record Set At Fair

An estimated 6,500 persons strolled through the lush gardens of the Marin Art and Garden Fair yesterday. They set a record for weekday attendance.

Finance chairman Al Nieri reported 5,600 paid admissions to the former Kittle Estate, now the scene of the 14th annual county fair.

Tonight's fair entertainment will feature Japanese music and dance groups as well as an enactment of the traditional Japanese tea ceremony. The program will begin at 8 p.m. on the Northgate stage.

The Bay Area Ballet Company will bring the fair to a close tomorrow beginning at 8 p.m. in the outdoor amphitheater.

Artistic director James Graham-Lujan will present a program that includes a pas de six by Rossini with choreography by Ruth Sandholm; an entr'acte by Puccinelli with Hilder Mahl and William Booth and choreography by Harold Garten; a solo by Kathy Phillips of the Ballet Theater dancing a Chopin mazurka, and a ballet entitled "Rappacini's Daughter" with music by Sibelius and choreography by Ruth Sandholm. Based on a story by Nathaniel Hawthorne, it stars Jane Bowen-Ericson, Sally Hobson, Kathleen Weiss and Russell Sage.

BUT WHERE IS SHE?

Marinite's Claim To Russ Bonds Granted

If so, you can do her a big favor by advising her to contact Rep. Clement Miller at 135, House Office Building, in Washington, D.C.

W. F. Grader of the congressman's staff says that Mrs. Hawley's claim to some imperial Russian bonds has been approved by the Foreign Claims Department of the United States government.

She can now realize approximately $3,900—providing the claim is liquidated not later than Aug. 9.

The federal government, however, has been unable to locate the woman and notify her of her good fortune.

Grader said that Mrs. Hawley gave as her address at the time she filed her claim to the bonds as 214 Bokley avenue, Sausalito. Since he has been unable to find any Bokley avenue in Sausalito, Grader believes the correct address was 214 Bulkley avenue.

A number of contacted Sausalito residents as well as Hawleys elsewhere in Marin County were unable to identify the woman or give any information about her.

New Riot In India Red-Ruled State

TRIVANDRUM, India (AP) — Agitation against the Communist government of Kerala state was still at a high pitch today after a fresh riot brought the death toll to 15 persons.

Three persons were shot dead—one a pregnant woman—when police opened fire on demonstrators yesterday in this capital of the red-ruled state in southwest India.

The demonstrations are aimed at creating a situation to force India's central government to oust the Communist regime in Kerala state and call new elections.

AT CHURCH

Nuptial Rite In Novato Last Night

When Donna Jean Blackwell became the bride of Duane Reford Schukar last night at Presbyterian Church in Novato, she wore a white lace over taffeta gown. The fitted bodice was designed with a sweetheart neckline and short sleeves and the full skirt had an intermission hemline. The bride's waist length veil was held by a small white ribbon hat and white roses and stephanotis were in her shower bouquet.

The bride's only sister, Georgia Blackwell, maid of honor, wore a light green organza over taffeta gown styled like that of the bride. Darker green were her cummerbund and ribbon hat and pink and white roses were her flowers. The bridegroom's brother, Douglas Schukar USN, was best man and guests were escorted to their pews for the 8 o'clock rites by the bridegroom's brother-in-law, Alan Haggerty of Mill Valley, and Charles Cahill of Bolinas. The Rev. Howard B. Swartz officiated.

The reception following was at the Novato home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Blackwell. The newlyweds are driving north and will reside in Moses Lake, Wash., where the bridegroom is employed by Boeing Air Craft. The bride is a graduate of San Rafael High School and College of Marin where she majored in music and business. She and Duane first met at the college where he studied engineering. He is a Tamalpais High School gradate. He served with the United States Marines. Mr. and Mrs. K. W. Schukar of Mill Valley are his parents and he has two sisters, Mrs. Alan Haggerty and Dian Schukar of Mill Valley.

MARIN'S SOCIAL WHIRL

By FLORENCE DONNELLY

Farewell parties for the popular Don Flemings, who are leaving soon to make Honolulu their home permanently, are on the calendar. Mr. and Mrs. Rinaldo Belli and the Jack Coopers are co-hosting an Hawaiian party at the Coopers' home in Fairhills on July 18 for the Flemings.

Mrs. George Schirmer of Kent Woodlands has set July 20 as the date for her luncheon honoring Mrs. Fleming. Cocktails will be served in the cabana by the pool and luncheon will be on the deck above. Among the guests will be Mesdames Cooper, Belli, Edward Vest, William Dickson, Ernest Fairey, Lorraine Gaviati, Lewis Kerlin, Harrison Leppo, John Lesoine, Robert Quinlan, Paul McArdle, Carl Bogershausen, Raymond Luce, John Weitzel, John Rademann, Warren Palmer, William H. Price, Clifton Morrill, Harry Blackfield, James Orr and Richard Bradley.

A brunch will honor Don and his wife at the home of the Raymond Luces in Kent Woodlands on Sunday, July 26. Co-hosting the party with the Luces will be the William Dixons.

The Flemings have sold their Kent Woodlands home to Dr. and Mrs. Samuel Hanzel, who have four children, and who will move there the first of August. The Flemings, their son, Douglas, and daughter, Bonnie, will move to a guest house at the Meadow Club until they sail on the "Lurline" on August 4. The Flemings have bought a lot at the foot of Diamond Head and will build there. Until the house is completed, the family will stay at the Reef.

DELIGHTFUL entertainment featured the cocktail party and buffet dinner the Fred Figones gave Sunday night at their home in Ross, honoring the William Prices, recently returned from Europe. Hugh Brown, pianist and composer, and Henry Bach, tenor, members of the Bohemian Club who are popular entertainers at the annual encampments, gave some of their specialties. Other singers were Lloyd Hansen, a bass, and young Dawn Nielsen, who has a wonderful contralto voice and is studying for the opera. Hugh, master of ceremonies, made a switch when he insisted on singing, telling of the woes of an accompanist, who never has the limelight. Sarah's talented sister, Mrs. James Clark of Orinda, sang old Hawaiian chants, accompanying herself on the gourds, while beautiful Alberta Jay danced to the music. Other guests were Dr. and Mrs. C. R. Bricca, Messrs. and Mesdames Gus Neiderholzer, John Merryman, Frank Barsocchini, Eugene Ostaggi and Mr. Al Murray. Incidentally, this will be the last party the Figones are giving in their present home. They have sold it to the Jack Wymans who are moving in the first of August. The Figones have taken a year's lease on a house in San Rafael's Culloden Park. They may buy or build after that.

A HAPPY AFFAIR was the tea given honoring Mrs. Ignacio W. Borda on Tuesday afternoon at the San Rafael home of Judge and Mrs. Jordan L. Martinelli. Co-hostesses were Mrs. Martinelli and Miss Dorothy Sharp. Mrs. Borda, former Marinite, is here from her home in Englewood, N. J., to visit her mother, Mrs. C. B. Waterman of San Rafael, her sister, Mrs. Robert Allison of San Anselmo, and her daughter, Mrs. James Higgins of Piedmont. Mr. Borda is joining his wife soon and they will vacation at their place at Lake Tahoe before returning east.

Greeting guests at the door were two small girls, Laurie Higgins, Mrs. Borda's granddaughter, and Louisa Martinelli, daughter of the junior Jordan Martinellis. Commiserating with Louisa, who had a bout with poison oak, was her great aunt, Mrs. William L. P. Jackson of Ross. The two hostesses and Mrs. Borda stood before the fireplace in the drawing room to receive nearly 200 guests. Mrs. Borda's gown, a delphinium blue chiffon, was designed with a draped neckline. Mrs. Martinelli wore a champagne colored gown of Chantilly lace and Miss Sharp a white polka dotted green silk. On the mantel were white gladioli in celadon vases and on the piano, a magnificent fan-shaped arrangement of pink anthuriums which had been brought from Honolulu by Mrs. Martinelli's niece, Mrs. Anthony Shanahan (Barbara Jean Sylva). Lovely Barbara Jean, her husband and three sons arrived from their home in Hawaii to vacation here. The Shanahans have taken the former Lloyd Myers' home in San Rafael. He will return the end of the month but Barbara Jean and the boys will stay longer.

Mrs. Martinelli's sister, Mrs. Albert T. Kelly, noted for her artistry, made all the flower arrangements. Particularly outstanding was that on the tea table, a combination of lemon leaves, lemons, purple asters and yellow calla lilies in a bisque and copper container. A conversation piece was the magnificent sterling silver punch bowl at which Miss Evelyn Sharp, sister of Dorothy, presided. Given to their grandfather, the late William Bradford in 1900, when he retired as treasurer of Alaska Packers, the huge bowl is mounted on stag horns.

With Mrs. Lawrence Jordan of Belvedere, Mrs. Borda had time for only a bit of reminiscing. The Jordans and Bordas first met when they went as honeymoon couples to San Salvador where both men had positions with Grace Line. Mrs. Waterman, lovely in blue lace, was telling that her other daughter, Mrs. Allison, has sufficiently recovered from a heart attack to be removed from the hospital to her home. Attending the tea was an old family friend, Mrs. Harry Hartzell of Los Altos. The sister of the Misses Sharp, Mrs. Eugene L. Covey of San Francisco assisted in greeting guests. Also aiding with this detail were Mrs. Martinelli's two daughters-in-law, Mrs. Jordan L. Martinelli Jr., Mrs. Roderick Martinelli and Mesdames Lytle Hollingsworth, John Kirkpatrick, Harry Lutgens and Higgins.

Mrs. Charles Pollock (Gertrude Ord) down from Sacramento was talking of the recent marriage of her son, Jim, and Deanna Amos. Welcomed back from a European trek was Mrs. Herbert K. Walton. Mrs. Henry B. Getz, wife of the rector of St. Paul's Church to which Mrs. Borda belonged for many years, was among the guests. A trio from Ross included Mesdames Benjamin Dibblee, Norman B. Livermore and Harold E. Hallett.

Mrs. C. Corwin Calavan arrived from Orinda and Mrs. Delger Trowbridge was telling of the beauty of Mendocino County where she is now staying. Mrs. Lutgens talked of her recent trip to Alaska. Mrs. Alan Galloway, the former Mary Menzies said how good it was to be back in Marin although just temporarily. She and her family who lived in Greenwich, Conn., for many years are now residing in San Francisco but they will spend several months at the Evans' place in Bolinas. Arriving together were three sisters, Mrs. John Bradley (Elizabeth Harrison) of San Rafael, Mrs. W. G. Messimer (Julia Harrison) of Greenbrae and Mrs. James F. Wellington (Caroline Harrison) of Berkeley, who were reared in San Rafael. They reported that their father, Robert W. Harrison, who now lives in San Francisco and practices law there, would be in Marin for the weekend.

WELCOMED HOME was Mrs. Harry D. Rothrock of Ross, one of the guests at the tea at the Martinelli home. She, her husband and their three daughters, Virginia, 13, Kate, 10, and Meg, 8, spent a year in Europe, returning to their home in Ross last month. They left on June 14, 1958 and drove East. They visited Mrs. Rothrock's mother, Mrs. Edward R. Eberle in Wellesley, Mass., and left the car with her. They sailed from New York on the "Kungsholm" and after arriving in Sweden bought a car and motored to Norway, Denmark, Holland, saw the World's Fair at Brussels, traveled through Germany to Austria. They lived in Salzburg, taking over the entire second floor of a house.

They loved the beauty and quaintness of the city on the Salzach River and on weekends they took trips. All of the family learned to ski in Berchtesgaden in the Bavarian Alps. At the end of April, the Rothrocks left Austria and drove through the Brenner Pass to Italy and from there through France to Paris. The girls were shown the American Cathedral in Paris where Mr. and Mrs. Rothrock were married in 1945. She was with the Red Cross in Europe during World War II and he was aide de camp to Gen John C. H. Lee. From Paris the family went to Rotterdam where the car was put on a ship bound for New York. The Rothrocks went to England and after five days there sailed from Southampton on the "Statendam." In New York, the foreign car was sold and the Rothrocks went to Wellesley and from there drove across the continent. In St. Louis, Mo., they were joined by Harry's mother, Mrs. V. W. Rothrock, who will visit them for several more weeks.

HONORING Mrs. Moya O'Sullivan of Sydney, Australia, who is visiting her sister, Mrs. Emile Roesling of Bayside Acres, Mrs. George W. Rivers of San Anselmo entertained at a poolside luncheon in the garden of her home a week ago today. Swimming was enjoyed during the afternoon. Among the guests were Mesdames Steve Toth, Lloyd Gardner, Emile Roesling, Cyril Roesling, Howard Moore, Arthur R. Soares, John Curnow, Sidney Colton, William Moore, Al Nelson, Kenneth Ball, August Rasmussen and Myron Levy of Marin; Mesdames Walter Baramian, Easter Turner, William Peterson and Miss Doreen Vallis of San Francisco; Mrs. Norbert Roesling of Piedmont; Mrs. Jack Gibson of Orinda, Mesdames Eleanor O'Connor and Irene Smith of Atherton, Mrs. Lillian Hickman of Oakland and Mrs. Avon Elder of Petaluma.

GUEST OF HONOR at a luncheon given recently by Mrs. Robert Bastian of Belvedere was Mrs. Ralph Meyers, who with her husband, the former mayor of Belvedere, and three daughters will leave next month for a three years' stay in Europe. The girls are Jeanne, 17, Kathleen, who is 15 today, and Terry, 11. The Bastians are leasing their Belvedere Lagoon home.

The family will reside in Geneva where Mr. Meyers will have his headquarters as jet sales representatives for the General Electric Co., with which he has been associated since graduating from the University of California as an electrical engineer. They will sail from New York on the Constitution on August. 14.

Guests at the luncheon were Mrs. Vaughn Wright, Mrs. Bastian's mother, and Mesdames John Bridgman, William Brooke, Russell Keil, Ralph Noah, Russell Rice, Arthur Colllbran, Sherman Peterson, E. G. Weed and Erwin Farley.

Mrs. Bastian and Mrs. Meyers have worked together in many school and community projects as well as at St. Stephen's Episcopal Church.

TRAVELING are Brig. Gen. and Mrs. Newton Longfellow and their daughter, Ann. They are leaving a week from today, driving first to Sheridan, Wyo., to visit friends. Then they will go to Yellowstone National Park and after that to Michigan where they will visit Mrs. Evan L. Noyes (Clara Rideout) at her home on Mackinac Island. Mrs. David Teather of Tiburon left by plane Thursday for Augusta, Ky., where she will visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Matt A. Thompson for three weeks. On return, Mrs. Teather will stop over in Chicago to visit friends.

Beauty Tips from ME to YOU

The clear eyed look . . . is best achieved by getting plenty of sleep, but you can help by saturating squares of cotton with witch hazel. Place them over your eyes and lie down and relax for a few moments before a special date . . . Your feelings show in your face — the way you feel controls the way you look. Are you bored with your looks?

How about a trip to the hairdresser for a completely new hairstyle, You may be an expert at your fingernails, but it takes real know-how to give you that real lift of a completely new hair-do.

WELL-WISHERS WRITE

Bedfast Boy Enjoys Deluge Of Greetings

Ycung Billy Brady, recovering in a Shriners' Hospital bed in San Francisco from his fourth operation for a congenital hip deformity and encased in a plastic cast that covers the lower half of his body, is enjoying letters and cards sent to him by Marin well-wishers.

The 12-year-old's mother, Mrs. Charles Brady of 19 Belle avenue, San Anselmo was able to talk to her son by telephone yesterday.

A story in the Independent-Journal telling of Billy's operation and of his desire for mail to help him through the long weeks of convalescence resulted in a deluge of cards and letters from Marin residents to the hospital.

Tomorrow will be an important date for Mr. and Mrs. Brady and their son. For then the parents will get to visit Billy for the first time since prior to his June 29 operation.

"We can hardy wait," says Mrs. Brady.

Billy's two brothers and five sisters will have to wait yet a while longer before they are able to see him.

Mrs. Brady says that the doctors report that Billy is making a satisfactory recovery after his operation—and that he remains in good spirits despite his confinement to the bed and cast.

"I think we can thank the good people who took the time to write letters and send cards for that," says Mrs. Brady.

Authorization to purchase equipment for four new classrooms and a multi-use room at Bernard Hoffman School in Terra Linda and for the new eight-classroom Lucas Valley School will be requested by Supt. Dennie B. Willis when the Dixie School District trustees meet at 8 p.m. Wednesday at the district office, 4775 Redwood highway.

Miss Robin Briscoe, the district's new curriculum director, will discuss her duties with the trustees as well as a supplemental reading guide.

Superintendent Willis will recommend hiring four new teachers for school's opening in the fall and eight summer school teachers.

At last Wednesday's organization meeting of the board, E. E. Lenander and Walter J. Doll were re-elected as president and clerk, respectively. Mrs. Dorothy Brown was selected as trustee representative to the Marin County Committee on School District Organization.

The Marin Municipal Water District's new $1,200,000 filtration plant on the slope of Mt. Tamalpais will be dedicated at 2:30 p.m. tomorrow by Mrs. Thomas T. Kent, widow of the water district's former president.

MARINES IN ATOMIC WARFARE ROLES

These four men, in protective clothing, form one of the Marine Corps' atomic, biological and chemical teams. Their job is to prevent or reduce casualties resulting from atomic radiation or enemy use of biological or chemical agents. With detection devices, the teams are trained to move into contaminated areas to determine whether it is safe for others to enter. Brown Signs Four Bills By McCollister

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Gov. Edmund G. Brown has signed into law four more bills introduced by Marin Assemblyman Richard H. McCollister. Included are:

A bill (AB 64) which permits a superintendent of public instruction to authorize issuance of diplomas for completing courses beyond high school if the education offered is comparable to similar instruction offered at other educational institutions.

A measure (AB 1942) which provides procedures for resignations and filling of vacancies on governing boards of special districts.

A bill (AB 1738) which permits boards of supervisors to rent or lease county-owned land being held for other purposes.

A bill (AB 1746) which changes the formula for qualifying a petition in a permanent highway division where there are fewer than 10 land owners.

Sausalito Building Totals $103,816

Total for the month, included alterations and repairs, was $103,816, compared with $133,075 issued in June, 1958.

Freitas Ranch Home Damaged By Vandals

James G. McAuley, caretaker of the vacant home, said youngsters with sticks and stones have been breaking windows on all three floors. Lights are broken and glass strewn through the hallways and stairwells. Fuses were thrown about the porch.

Los Angeles County now has 2,838,762 automobiles registered—more cars than there are in 42 states.

The city, with 2,000,000 cars, has more registrations than 31 states.

And, said S. S. Taylor, general manager of the city traffic department, there are now 110 new autos registered in the city every day.

He said the city needs 13 miles of new freeways every year to handle the increase in vehicles, but in recent years freeway construction has been averaging only about five miles a year.

Chlorine Isn't Harmful To Crops

Chlorine added to municipal water supplies or swimming pool water is not harmful to crops, said Farm Adviser Winston L. Engvall of the University of California Agricultural Extension Service in San Rafael.

Engvall said growers who want to use water from municipal sources or from swimming pools for irrigation occasionally ask if it is safe for their crops.

Injury to crop plans has occured in "souped up" tests when the irrigation water was loaded with 50 parts per million or more of chlorine. This is an amount far in excess of the one or two parts per million usually added to water supplies, Engvall said. Research also shows that chlorine is reduced to the harmless chloride form on contact with organic matter in the soil.

Youth Picked Up As Curfew Violator

The boy said he had had an argument with his mother and left his home to walk with no particular destination in mind, Officer McAllister reported. He booked the 16-year-old at the county jail on a charge of violating San Anselmo's curfew ordinance and took him to the county juvenile hall.

Mill Valley Library To Close Earlier

Trustees also re-elected Robert Jenkins president of the board and named Mrs. Dorothy Peavey secretary. She succeeds Robert C. Cook whose term expired.

At the request of City Councilman Joseph Sheeks, council representative to the library board, the meeting night was changed from the first to the second Thursday of the month, to avoid following the city council meeting on the first Wednesday.

Handicapped Children

VANCOUVER (AP) — Between 5 and 10 per cent of British Columbia school children suffer speech defects, and 3 to 5 per cent have defective hearing, the B. C. Speech and Hearing Assn. reported.

Planners Give Go-Ahead On 60 Homes

Kenney Corp. won a go-ahead Thursday from San Rafael Planning Commissioners on 60 new homes in Terra Linda Unit 10, south of Freitas Parkway and just east of the old Freitas home ranch which was donated to the Catholic church for a parochial school.

John E. Kenney, son of developer John Kenney, said he plans to start building the 60 homes immediately and have them completed about January, weather permitting. They will be California ranch style homes similar to homes in Terra Linda Oaks.

The houses will sell for $22,000 to $28,000. They will have three and four bedrooms, two baths, all hardwood floors, one or two fireplaces, and shake roofs.

Already on the drawing boards is Terra Linda unit 11, which will extend the present unit 10 to the west, around the parochial school site.

4th Of July Is A Birthday To Be Celebrated, Understood

What is the Fourth of July?

It's a birthday party, a celebration marking the 183rd anniversary of the birth of a young, vigorous baby, a new idea, the idea that men can be free and equal.

There were many persons in those early days who didn't give the baby much chance of survival. The idea was too far-fetched, too idealistic.

But besides the cynics, there were those who would fight to protect the new-born. And they did. With their help the child grew and prospered.

He grew in size from a birth-weight of 13 to today's 49 and tomorrow's 50.

He grew in stature from a bumptious youngster who threatened the world if his back yard were invaded, to a sturdy, young adult to whom the free world looks for leadership and the communist world looks as a goal to be reached and surpassed.

And there is another part of the world, not really free, not committed, which is watching fascinated, vitally interested in whether the challenge of materialistic communism is greater than free democracy can combat.

They also are seeing an unusual phenomenon, a young adult nation willing to fight in war, but hesitant to fight in peace. They see a lack of understanding of the stakes, blinding many who are willing to give their lives for their country, minimizing the danger of losing the prize without getting into a fight.

And what is this prize? It is freedom; it is equality; it is individuality. Or perhaps you remember it put another way:

"We hold these truths to be self evident: that all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. . . ."

Happy Birthday, and many more.

GOOD GOVERNMENT IS GOOD HOUSEKEEPING

If you think of the running of government as nothing more than a job of good housekeeping, it's much easier to understand and keep in good order.

An American housewife should have the fundamentals of good government at her fingertips. When she sweeps her sidewalk, disposes of her garbage, checks her water supply, keeps her budget balanced, makes sure of proper schooling for her children, and protects the life and property of her family, she is an efficient administrator. She is putting into practice, on a small scale, principles that every branch of government should scrupulously observe.

By the grace of God, every single one of us can start to change the world right where we are by taking an interest in local government.

Don't forget that the greatest statesmen in the world often started their careers in a tiny community. Through their training and experience in a little world, they prepared themselves to face the problems of the bigger world.

"In all things show thyself an example of good works, in doctrine, in integrity, in gravity." (Titus 2:7)

Keep me mindful, O Lord, of my responsibilities to the maintenance of good order in government.

MARIN LOOKS AT POLITICS

By CHAPIN A. DAY

There were smirks, charges of insincerity and grandstanding when Marin Sen. John F. McCarthy dramatically took the Senate floor to kill his own bill regulating billboards.

There were knowing nods when he said he would call a public meeting in the Capitol to launch an initiative campaign so the public could decide what the Legislature was rejecting.

When the meeting was held, and the Capitol's largest meeting room filled with billboard protestants, they still said McCarthy was making a play for publicity and wouldn't follow through.

Perhaps they would change their minds if they had been sitting in on a meeting this week in San Francisco. It wasn't a very big meeting, but it had a lot of people vitally interested in the project.

Before they adjourned, so we're told, they had pledged $150,000 to start the campaign for some 600,000 signatures on petitions against the billboards.

And that was only from a few sources in the Bay Area. Nothing from Los Angeles, Santa Barbara or other areas where McCarthy expects to get financial and manpower backing

It takes a lot of money to get signatures. Professionals charge about 50 cents each. That would mean $3,000,000 needed. But McCarthy says he's not going to use professionals. He believes there are enough organizations interested throughout the state to recruit volunteer signature solicitors.

Incidentally, we hear McCarthy and the top officials of Foster & Kleiser had luncheon together the other day. That must have been an interesting session.

BEST RUMOR we've heard lately from Washington is that California's senior senator, Thomas H. Kuchel, may seek re-election next time as a Democrat, not a Republican.

Of course it's a little early for such speculation—Kuchel doesn't run again until 1962. But the elimination of cross filing may have interested him in changing his stripes.

Perhaps he's already doing so. Recently the non-partisan and highly respected news agency Congressional Quarterly compiled how the various legislators voted on 35 issues sponsored by President Eisenhower this session.

The tabulation showed that this year Kuchel supported the President only 60 per cent of the time, was against him 14 per cent, and wasn't recorded voting on the other 26 per cent.

This compares with the 1957-58 congressional session when on 155 Eisenhower issues Kuchel was with the President 84 per cent of the time and against him 15 per cent.

Kuchel's major fight has been for public power and against the Administration's partnership plan for the Trinity River project. Public power is the No. 1 policy of the strongly Democratic McClatchy newspaper chain in Sacramento and the San Joaquin Valley.

PERSONAL NOTE: A political editor in San Francisco gave up his job in Sacramento to take a reportedly $15,000 per year job with the Republican organization six months or so ago. Now his by-line is back in the paper but so far not on political stories: Clint Mosher—of Tiburon.

Supreme Court Decision Opens Door To Use Of Libel By Officials

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court has opened a door which may get so crowded with intruders that another Supreme Court decision will be needed to clarify what the court did Monday.

It said in a 5-4 ruling — that policy-making government officials are absolutely immune to libel suits against them for something they said or did in what they considered line of duty.

But Chief Justice Earl Warren, one of the four who disagreed with the majority opinion, raised the specter of these officials defaming their critics under the protection of absolute immunity to libel suits.

"It will sanctify the powerful and silence debate," Warren said.

UNDER THE MAJORITY opinion could a policy-making official, angered by newspaper criticism of him, deliberately and dishonestly, under the guise of official concern for his agency, defame the newspaper with immunity?

It's not clear. The opinion doesn't seem very clear to Warren. He said the court, by its reasoning, has set up an uncertain standard which is not a guide at all for these policy-making officials to follow.

He suggested the court will have to give new appraisals — because he does not think this opinion is clear enough to be final — on almost every charge of defamation by a government official.

MONDAY'S OPINION involved two government employes who were suspended and denounced in a press release in 1953 by the director of rent stabilization for the way they handled cash annual leave settlements for some agency employes.

Justice John M. Harlan, writing the majority opinion, said the problem was one of balance: the protection of an individual citizen from oppressive or malicious damage by a government official against the protection of the public interest by shielding government officials from the "harrassment and inevitable hazards of vindictive or ill-found damage suits."

Harlan wrote: "In this instance it has been thought in the end better to leave unredressed the wrongs done by dishonest officers than to subject those who try to do their duty to the constant dread of retaliation."

Justice William J. Brennan couldn't accept this reasoning. In his dissenting opinion he said absolute immunity for officials below Cabinet rank goes too far. That kind of immunity makes them libel free even though they defamed someone maliciously and untruthfully.

BRENNAN WOULD grant policy-making officials — below Cabinet rank — no more than qualified libel-immunity. That is, they would be protected in their "honest mistakes" against a libel suit, but not when it could be shown they had committed dishonest and malicious defamation.

In one way or another high-ranking members of the three branches of the government —legislative, judicial, and executive — already have absolute immunity to libel suits under certain circumstances.

But this is the first time it has been extended so far down in the line of command.

The Constitution itself gives members of Congress absolute immunity against a libel suit for anything they say in Congress. This does not mean they are libel-free if they defame someone, say, on TV or radio.

BUT THE SUPREME Court itself has never ruled on just how much immunity members of Congress have for what they say or do outside the Capitol and their congressional office buildings.

About 65 years ago the court gave absolute immunity to libel action to members of the President's Cabinet — department heads appointed by him — for matters committed by law to their control or supervision.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

S.F. State Didn't Send Graduate List

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Our clipping service provided us a letter to the editor which appeared in the Independent-Journal on June 23, indicating that names of San Francisco State College graduates did not appear in your newspaper.

Our records indicate that on June 2 we mailed to you a news release concerning the commencement exercises of San Francisco State, noting on the release the Marin County students graduating with honors.

The number of students graduating, and our limited resources, did not permit forwarding the names of all graduates for particular areas, but honor graduates were listed on the release. This article appeared in the Independent-Journal on June 9.

I thought this information would be helpful to you since one of your readers had made a statement on this subject.

July 4 weekend travelers were forced to find another way across the bay as the Richmond-San Rafael Ferry Co. strike continued, leaving the boats idle.

Jeanne Kessey reigned as queen of the four-day Fairfax July 4 celebration, which drew 3,000 spectators its first day.

The state Board of Equalization postponed until July 11 the deadline by which Marin Assessor George Hall had to have his 1949-50 assessment rolls completed. The extension was granted over the protests of the county board of supervisors who maintained Hall had no valid reason for not having the work done on time.

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

An impeccably attired Londoner sought to purchase an expensive and exclusive automobile. "My dear fellow," expostulated the dealer, "we've been allotted only two of this model all year, and there are already 174 orders on our books ahead of yours."

"Too bad," murmured the Londoner, seemingly not too dismayed by the tidings. As he exited he ostentatiously tossed a hefty bundle of ten-pound notes into the trash basket. The very next morning the precise model he was seeking turned up in some mysterious fashion, and was delivered to him.

A few days later, the dealer, very agitated, called him on the phone. "Those ten-pound notes!" he groaned. "Every one of them has proved to be a counterfeit!"

"Of course," agreed the Londoner blandly, "That's why I threw them in the trash basket."

Bicycle Thefts On Such An Increase They're Even Stealing Tricycles

With school out and kids on the move, bicycle thefts are on the increase.

But unlike car thefts, many of the bicycles turn up undamaged. According to police, this is what apparently happens:

Some kid wants to go somewhere, gets tired of walking, so hops on the first bicycle he sees lying around. When he gets to his destination, he abandons the bike. The next person who finds it takes it for a spin, etc.

Even the toddlers are getting into the act. In subdivisions like Lynwood Park, several tricycles were reported stolen.

A TOUGH San Francisco burglar, convicted of armed burglary of Shoreline Market, broke down and cried in the judge's chambers this week.

It wasn't so much the five-years-to-life sentence he must serve. What hit him was the fact that his girl friend married him on the day before he left for prison. He was escorted from the county jail, upstairs into the judge's chamber for the ceremony. The marriage gives their two children a name.

This is the second such "marriage while in jail" to be performed this year.

AMID ALL the hubbub of the jail and booking facilities of the sheriff's office, several nuns this week quietly submitted to fingerprints and taking of photos — known as "mugshots."

They were merely being processed for teaching posts in the county's parochial schools.

LOOKS AS IF Latipac is all set to build an 18-hole golf course east of Glenwood subdivision, followed by the first of a gigantic subdivision of homes.

They've joined forces with the Perini Corp. for more financial support.

SAN RAFAEL is a growing city, but it wasn't always so.

According to census figures, the population in 1910 was 5,934. Ten years later, the count was down to 5,512. But by 1930 it was up to 8,022. And there's been a steady growth since then.

Latest count in 1956 showed 16,526.

Several years ago, a defective "clamshell" holster caused his gun to go off, sending a bullet down almost the entire length of his right leg. But in a few years, he earned himself the title of "top gun" by his accurate firing.

Now he has a broken arm suffered practicing a judo hold. He'll probably bounce right back into top shape in a few weeks.

SPEAKING OF the sheriff's office, the written examination for deputies must be a toughie. Almost 100 men applied originally; only about 25 survived the written.

ROSCOE DRUMMOND

Gov. Brown Holds Key To Democrat Nomination; Agreeable To Veep Job

SAN FRANCISCO — California's 74 votes are going to have a lot to say about who will be the 1960 Democratic presidential nominee.

And because these 74 delegates will be firmly pledged to him as "favorite son," Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown is going to have a lot to say about it, too.

No wonder the leading prospective candidates are making the pilgrimmage to Sacramento. They always end up in the governor's office or join him on the golf course to talk politics where they can't be overheard.

SENATOR KENNEDY has been here — to get better acquainted and to be got better acquainted with — and so has Senator Symington. The reluctant Adlai Stevenson has turned up at the same fountain proclaiming that he is not looking for another drink. So has the unreluctant Hubert Humphrey, and Governor Meyner and Governor Williams. Gov. Abraham Ribicoff of Connecticut was on hand a few days ago aggressively courting the field for Kennedy. And Sen. Lyndon Johnson has been invited to come just as soon as he can safely leave Washington.

These 1960-minded Democrats are not coming here just to breathe the California air. They are coming here to test the political climate, to find out, if possible, what Governor Brown is likely to do with his 74 California votes after the first two ballots (or earlier) and to see if there is anything they can do to help him make up his mind their way.

THE GOVERNOR is remaining uncommitted to anybody but Pat Brown. It is clear that he has no intention of showing his hand. From my talk with him, I would say that the hard political facts are these:

1—Governor Brown is not going to permit any of the Democratic presidential aspirants to get his hands on the California delegation — if he can prevent it. He probably can. He is openly warning them that it would be better not to challenge him in the primary here next year.

If, for example, Jack Kennedy should choose such an imprudent course, two things would happen. First, Pat Brown would probably win; secondly, whatever the outcome, Kennedy would have alienated a man whose active, all-out support would be essential to carry the state in the November election. Brown is now running the Democratic party in Californa and is going to as long as he is governor.

2—I DO NOT BELIEVE that Governor Brown is confused by the over-anxious suggestions that he should and can by next year become a serious contender for the top place on the ticket himself. I don't mean that some unexpected turn of events couldn't give him the nomination, but I doubt if he is going to put himself in the position of being an avowedly serious contender so early in his governorship and without any participation in national and foreign affairs. Perhaps because the most influential news media are in the East, it takes longer for a governor of California to become a national figure than it does the governor of New York.

3—Brown is already emerging as a formidable figure in the Democratic party. The reason all the 1960 Democratic hopefuls are trekking to California is that Pat Brown's influence at the convention will be great; conceivably it may be decisive. Each is pretty certain that "as goes Brown, so goes California" — both at the convention and in the election.

4—ALL OF THESE factors mean that Gov. Brown just can't help being a leading vice presidential prospect. This would be agreeable to the governor. If the Democrats win, the vice presidency is no longer political exile; it is a ladder to higher things. If the Democrats lose, Brown would not be blamed and he would have had the opportunity to get himself better known outside California.

Brown would be a comfortable running-mate with almost any of the most-mentioned prospects — Stevenson, Lyndon Johnson, Humphrey, Symington. His vice presidential ambitions would be least attainable only with the nomination of Kennedy, since it is unlikely that the party would put two Catholics on the ticket.

Congregationalists To Build New Church In Marin

A building site for a new church in Belvedere-Tiburon has been purchased by the Congregational churches, and a pastor has been called, according to William David Pratt, superintendent of Congregational churches of Northern California. A six-acre site on a knoll above the Hawthorne Terrace subdivision has been acquired.

Dr. Benton S. Gaskell of Detroit, formerly pastor of the San Mateo Congregational Church, will organize the new church. He will arrive in August, and worship services and church school sessions will be held beginning in September. Several locations for these services are being considered by the local committee.

The new church is to be founded under an assignment from the Northern California-Nevada Council of Churches.

The Congregational churches are now a part of the United Church of Christ, which was formed two years ago by a union with the Evangelical and Reformed Church. The Congregational churches in Northern California consist of 114 churches with more than 40,000 members.

Dr. Gaskell is a member of the executive committee of the General Council of Congregational Churches, and was moderator of the Northern California Congregational Conference in 1955.

THERE'LL BE A NEW ONE SOON — Frederick Conradi pumps away at the little old organ in the improvised chapel of the Community Building at Stinson Beach, which will soon have its first church completed. The children of the Stinson Beach Community Presbyterian Church have contributed more than $100 through cake sales to buy a new organ for the church under construction. The congregation will hold recognition services for its new supply pastor tomorrow.

FRANCES KAPITZKY

Woman Heads Church For First Time

OBERLIN, Ohio (AP) — The Evangelical and Reformed Church this week, for the first time, elected a woman as its moderator. She is Miss Frances Kapitzky, a woman banker from Strasburg, Ohio, who is interested in amateur dramatics and choir singing.

Her election as head of this church automatically makes her co-moderator of the United Church of Christ. The Evangelical and Reformed Church and the Congregational Christian churches are in the process of merging into the United Church of Christ. The heads of the two merging denominations preside jointly over the United Church of Christ which will convene here Sunday. The other co-moderator is Dr. Ray Phillips of Boston.

Congregation Studies Gospel Of St. John

Worshipper at Trinity Lutheran Church, San Rafael, are offered the opportunity to study the entire Gospel of St. John during the summer months. The study started last Sunday.

Rev. Fred C. Braunschweiger, pastor, said "A chapter a week is our goal in discovering the portraits of Christ drawn by St. John." Free copies of the Gospel in the Revised Standard Version will be available to worshippers.

Church To Advance Time Of Services

Beginning tomorrow, worship services at the Mill Valley Community Church, Olive street and Throckmorton avenue, will start at 10 a.m. instead of 11 a.m.

The new time will be in effect during July and August. No other time changes for the summer months will take place.

JOB EQUALITY, YES

Novato Parish Ponders Church Role In Integration

Members and friends of the Novato Presbyterian Church apparently favor racial equality in the field of employment, but have some doubts about whether the church should take an active role in promoting residential integration.

That was revealed today with the announcement of additional results in a questionnaire on racial discrimination distributed last month to 400 church members and 100 friends of the church by the church's committee on social education and action.

Francis Kempton, who is compiling statistics from the 201 replies, gave the results of 14 more questions today. (Results of two questions were releases last week. They were "Do you believe that the people of all races are equal in God's sight?" and "Do you accept the recommendation of the Presbytery of the Redwoods that all Presbyterians in Marin County (should) support the movement for a permanent and official commission on human relations in the county?" The answer to both was an overwhelming "yes.")

Nine of the questions, replies to which were made public today, concerned employment. With one exception, the replies indicated strong belief that Negroes should be accorded equal job opportunities, and that the persons replying would have no objection to working with Negroes.

In some cases the replies were "pro-equality" by big margins. For example, to the question "Would you object if your employer hired a Negro to work next to you as your equal?" the replies were 159 "no," to 37 "yes," and "no answer" from five.

The one exception was the question "Would you avoid the services of a local Negro physician?" The replies were 94 "yes" to 95 "no" and 12 "no answers."

Dr. Edward L. Kessel, chairman of the committee on social education and action, commented on this: "I wonder how many of those who answered 'yes' would refuse a pint of blood from a Negro donor if they urgently needed it."

The other five questions related to racial equality within the church. Replies indicated that church members would welcome Negroes to the church and its social activities.

But in the field of church activity in behalf of non-segregated housing, the replies were considerably less enthusiastic. The first of two questions gauging this read: "Are you in agreement with the pronouncement of the general assembly of our church that it is the policy and purpose of our church to work for a non-segregated society as well as a non-segregated church, and to call upon all Christians who have houses for sale to make them available to all qualified purchasers without regard to race?"

Ninety-seven "yes" replies were received, but 84 were negative and 20 had no answer.

A second question related to this field asked "Are you willing to join with other residents of your community in a covenant of open occupancy to help stabilize your neighborhood on a non-segregated basis as advocated by the general assembly of our church?"

These two questions, plus the one about a Negro physician, were the only ones in which the voting was close. Commenting on this, Dr. Kessel said:

"The closeness of the results in these three questions gives one confidence in the honesty of the answers and the validity of the questionnaire. . . . It should also be pointed out that even through these were all questions which brought the racial issue very close to home and person, not one of them had a majority of those who answered the questionnaire voting against racial equality. In fact, one suspects that those who gave no answers to these questions should be counted more on the positive than on the negative side."

Welcome Set For Minister

Recognition services will be held at the Stinson Beach Community Presbyterian Church, at 8 p.m. tomorrow to welcome Rev. Frank E. Humberger, recent graduate of the San Francisco Theological Seminary, who will serve the church as pastor.

Three faculty members from the San Anselmo seminary will participate in the services. Dr. Gurdon C. Oxtoby will preside, Dr. Jacob A. Long will deliver the sermon and Dr. Surjit Singh will give the charge to Rev. Humberger.

Dr. John McAulay, associate general presbyter of the north coastal area, will give the charge to the congregation.

Church To Start Summer Schedule

Worship services will be held at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow at the Belvedere Boardwalk as Westminster Presbyterian Church of Richardson Bay adopts its summer schedule.

There will be no 11 o'clock service, Rev. Forrest Youngquist announced.

The change to a more convenient hour is made possible by the suspension of Sunday school classes for the rest of the summer vacation. Sunday school will reopen with special "Rally Day" services Sept. 27 and the 11 o'clock worship service will be resumed on that day.

During the recess, Sunday school pupils will be welcomed at the 9:30 services, Rev. Youngquist said. Tomorrow's service and those on the first Sunday of August and September will be specially addressed to the whole family. They will feature selections by a newly formed Children's Choir under direction of David KortKamp, minister of music. Mrs. J. B. Verhalen has assisted in recruiting and training the young vocalists.

Summer Schedule Starts Tomorrow

The Santa Venetia Presbyterian Church will adopt a special summer schedule starting tomorrow, its pastor, Rev. Madison Western, announced today.

Sunday services will start with an informal worship service from 9 to 9:40 a.m. This will be followed by church school for all ages, ending at 10:15 a.m. Adults will attend a Bible study class led by the pastor.

Regular worship services will be held at 11 a.m. Sermon themes will be based on texts from the Sermon on the Mount.

Unity Anniversary

Unity Temple in San Francisco will observe its 40th year with special Sunday devotional services during July, held in the Masonic Memorial Temple, 1111 California street. Rev. M. Scully will conduct the 11 a.m. services.

Marinite To Attend Church Music School

Mrs. Martha V. Condit of 720 Butterfield road, San Anselmo, has registered for the fifth annual Summer School of Church Music, July 13-24, at the Church Divinity School of the Pacific (Episcopal), Berkeley, it was announced by Norman Mealy, director.

Mrs. Condit is organist at Faith Lutheran Church.

The Summer School of Church Music is a 10-day study in liturgical music offering the organist and choirmaster instruction from the leading musicians of the Episcopal Church.

Brazil Girl Wins Wimbledon Crown

WIMBLEDON, Eng. (UPI)—Maria Bueno, 19-year-old Brazil star, broke a 22-year-old United States monopoly today when she defeated Darlene Hard of Montebello, Calif., 6-4, 6-3 to win the Wimbledon Women's singles title.

It marked the first time since 1937, when Dorothy Round of England won it, that the United States did not take the crown.

A capacity crowd of 15,000 including the Duchess of Kent, jammed the center court to witness the match. It was a sweltering day, with a hot sun shining down on the court and the temperature in the mid-80's.

It took Maria only 43 minutes to beat Miss Hard. She burst into tears as she scored match point and bowed her head in her hands. She still was sniffling when the Duchess of Kent presented her on the court with the silver dish emblematic of the women's singles crown. Miss Hard grinned broadly during the presentation ceremony.

Miss Hard, wearing shorts, broke Miss Bueno's service to win the first game, but Maria came right back to break Darlene's service and then ran her advantage to 3-1 as she held her second serve at love and broke her opponent's service again.

Maria made three errors as she dropped the next game and Darlene held service to make it 3-3. Both held service to make it 4-4.

Her serve better than any woman in this year's tournament, Maria scored an ace as she went ahead 5-4. In the 10th game, Darlene netted twice and was wide with a sideline placement as Maria won the set, 6-4.

Maria scored another service ace in the first game of the second set and held her service with the loss of only one point, a double fault. Maria's errors enabled Darlene to win the second set, but then the Brazil girl won the next three games to hold a 4-1 advantage. Darlene could hardly get her racquet on Maria's serves. After holding her service to lead, 2-1, Maria broke through to make it 3-1 when Darlene netted, double faulted and hit out on her serve. A passing shot was the clinching point as Maria held her service to make it 4-1.

THE CLINCHER

Darlene held service when Maria netted a volley and a service return with the score at deuce, but the Brazil star won the next game to lead, 5-2. After Darlene held her service to make it 5-3, Maria quickly built up a 4-0 lead for match point in the next set. Darlene saved one match point when she passed Maria with a backhand, but then the American girl couldn't reach a placement and Maria closed out the match, 6-3.

Alex Olmedo of Peru and Los Angeles, an official representative of the United States Lawn Tennis Association, started the title parade yesterday with an easy, 6-4, 6-3, 6-4 victory over Rod Laver of Australia in the men's singles final.

S. F. Hopes Soar As Giants Meet Cards In 3-Game Series

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Just a bit of fireworks could rocket the San Francisco Giants into first place today as they began a three-game series with the St. Louis Cardinals.

But the Milwaukee Braves' Juan Pizarro did even better, shutting the Pittsburgh Pirates out 6-0 on just two singles, keeping the Braves half a game ahead of the San Franciscans.

Antonelli's victory was his 12th of the season against four losses. He's now tied with Pittsburgh's Elroy Face for the most wins by a major league pitcher this year.

The Giants have won three and lost one on this 20-game road trip.

For Cepeda it was No. 17; Kirkland, No. 14.

The other two runs came in the seventh. Cepeda walked, stole second and scampered to third when catcher Cal Neeman overthrew second. Successive singles by Jackie Brandt, Hobie Landrith and Ed Bressoud scored Cepeda and Brandt.

Second baseman Tony Taylor, the leadoff batter, was the only Cub to get as far as third. He had three hits in four trips. The other two hits off Antonelli were by Lee Walls and Earl Averill.

The Cubs' Ernie Banks, leading RBI hitter in the majors, went hitless in four trips — three of them scoring opportunities.

Giant center fielder Willie Mays made 10 putouts, two short of the major league record for an outfielder.

BASILIO VS. FULLMER

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Carmen Basilio and Gene Fullmer will fight Friday night, Aug. 28, in San Francisco's Cow Palace for the National Boxing Assn.'s version of the world middleweight title.

The 15-round title go became definite yesterday with announcement that the California State Athletic Commission has approved the application of Norman Rothschild of Syracuse, N.Y., as co-promoter.

The other promoter will be the San Francisco Boxing Club of which Bennie Ford is matchmaker.

The fight will be televised nationally, but will be blacked out over a wide area, including San Francisco, San Jose, Salinas, Oakland, Woodland, Sacramento and Stockton.

The California State Athletic Commission unanimously voted to accept Rothschild's application to stage the fight. It was presented at the request of Jack Urch, the commission's chief executive office.

Ford said he and Rothschild will confer over financial arrangements and details would be announced later.

"We expect to draw at least $250,000 or more at the gate because within a radius of 150 miles there are over 250,000 Italians," Ford told a news conference.

The Cow Palace probably can accommodate 20,000 fans.

The middleweight title was declared vacant by the National Boxing Assn. May 4 when Champion Sugar Ray Robinson failed to defend it for more than six months.

Jurges New Bosox Boss

BALTIMORE (AP) — Bill Jurges, an aggressive shortstop in the National League for 17 seasons, says he'll expect the same kind of play from the Boston Red Sox when he takes over as manager today.

"We'll do the best we can and we'll hustle like hell," Jurges said of the slumping Red Sox who are mired in the American League cellar, 10½ games off the lead. "Boston's not an eighth-place team—and they're not going to be."

The 51-year-old Jurges, a coach with the Washington Senators since 1956, was hired yesterday to replace the ousted Mike Higgins. The Sox had a 31-42 record under Higgins.

Higgins was in his fifth season as manager. His teams twice finished third and fourth on two other occasions.

Player Youngest Winner In History Of British Open

MUIRFILED, Scotland (AP) — South African Gary Player, the youngest golfer to win the British Open championship in 91 years, today gave a lot of credit for his success to experience gained in the United States.

"I played there for the last three years," the 23-year-old Player said, "and competing on the United States circuit has taught me a lot.

"It has given me a better temperament for big-time golf. And it has also improved my swing."

Player won the British Open yesterday over the Muirfiled links with a 72-hole total of 75-71-70-68—284. That was two strokes better than Fred Bullock, 40-year-old little known English professional, and Flory Van Donck, 47-year-old Belgian.

Matthews Defeats Gonsalves; May Get Garden Bout

This came about after the unranked Philadelphian took a 10-round decision from Johnny Gonsalves of Oakland, Calif., last night and showed he is more than just a fighter in the "promising" stage.

At least, promoter Teddy Brenner of the Garden thought so when he told Matthew's manager, Tony Graziano, that he would try to line up Art Scanlon or Paulie Armstrong for an Aug. 21 date in New York.

A 5-3-2 decision by Referee Joe Morrison gave Matthews the victory. The referee is the sole judge under New Jersey rules.

Milwaukee 'Formula' Works Like A Charm

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The formula is still working for Milwaukee's Braves—send a problem to the minors for a short stay and bring him back a winner.

They did it with outfielder Wes Covington in 1957 and he came back to be one of the Braves' big guys in a drive to the world championship. Now they've done it with Juan Pizarro, and he's kept them in the National League lead, pitching a two-hit shutout and striking out 11 last night for a 6-0 victory over Pittsburgh.

Pizarro (2-1), a southpaw, has permitted just one run and has a 14-inning shutout string after two complete-game victories since returning from a rather splendid 17-day stay at Louisville. All he did with the American Assn. club was pitch a no-hitter and a two-hit shutout while winning three of four.

It was a great day for lefties in the N.L. Johnny Antonelli pitched a five-hit shutout that gave San Francisco a 4-0 victory over the Chicago Cubs and kept the Giants within a half-game of the Braves. Southpaw rookie Marshall Bridges of St. Louis had a three-hit shutout for eight innings as the Cards beat Los Angeles 3-2. And rookie Jim O'Toole won his first in the majors as Cincinnati defeated Philadelphia 6-1.

SCORE FANS 14

Things weren't bad for southpaws in the American League, either. Herb Score fanned 14 and first-place Cleveland beat Kansas City 8-4, retaining a one-game edge over Chicago's White Sox, who defeated Detroit 6-5 in 10 innings. Left-hander Billy O'Dell's one-hit shutout relief over 6⅓ innings hoisted Baltimore back to third in a 6-1 victory over Boston. New York beat Washington 4-3.

Bob Skinner singled for both Pirate hits, in the second and fifth, off Pizarro, who walked but two and was backed by three home runs—Ed Mathews' 25th and two-run shots by Hank Aaron (22) and Joe Adcock (7). Winless George Witt lost his sixth, although he had a four-hit shutout until Mathews tagged him in the sixth.

L.A. RALLY HALTED

Bridges (2-0), who walked two and struck out nine, needed Lindy McDaniel's perfect relief for the last two outs after the Dodgers scored in the ninth on doubles by Junior Gilliam and Gil Hodges, a single by Charlie Neal and Don Demeter's sacrifice fly. Sandy Koufax (5-2), another lifty, was the loser, although giving up just two hits and striking out seven in seven innings. A walk and Bill White's double gave the Cards a run in the first, and they put it away against reliever Clem Labine in the eighth on a two-run single by ex-Dodger Gino Cimoli.

The Reds made it with three unearned runs in the seventh after being blanked on three hits by Jim Owens (4-7), who fanned eight. Ed Bailey added a two-run homer in the eighth and Brooks Lawrence came through with three innings of perfect relief. O'Toole (1-2), lifted for a pinch-hitter, gave up just five hits. The Phils scored in the first on an error and Wally Post's single.

TRANSPACIFIC

161-Footer Favored As Race Begins

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Fair skies and good sailing were prevalent today as a fleet of 41 deep-water sailing vessels started the 2,225-mile Trans-Pacific Yacht Race to Honolulu.

At high noon a gunshot from the committee boat Caronia exploded, setting the craft into motion toward the 1,000-foot-wide starting line.

Hundreds of spectator boats were permitted to anchor in a restricted area near the starting point. Thousands of spectators watched the colorful scene from ashore.

Most eyes centered on the Goodwill, a 161-foot schooner and the largest, and probably fastest yacht, in the fleet. It has a crew of 51 and is owned by Ralph Larabee of Newport Harbor Yacht Club.

The Goodwill was given an excellent chance to break the over-all record time of 9 days, 15 hours, 5 minutes and 10 seconds set by another big boat, the Morning Star, in the 1955 race.

The winner last year, on a corrected handicap time of 11 days, 41 minutes and 46 seconds, was George Ullman's Legend, of Balboa. It was not entered this year.

Mother's Forum: Tot, 3, Suffers Aftermath of Solo Hospital Stay

Mrs. D. H. "My girl is 3. She had to spend five weeks in a hospital following an operation. Her condition was serious, and her pain was severe. I wanted to stay with her, but the nurses wouldn't let me. Several of the days they wouldn't even permit me to see her. Before the operation she was sweet, happy lovable. Now she is frantic and quarrelsome. She has awful nightmares and won't let me out of her sight. Our doctor told us to take her to a psychiatrist. He said similar bad results often followed hospitalization of children. Could a psychiatrist help so young a child? Should we do what the doctor suggests?"

Reply. Yes, you should. For 14 years I've helped direct a psychiatric clinic which works with children. Often the results are wonderful. Your doctor is right about the consequences of surgery and hospitalization for small children. The results are apt to be especially bad when their mothers are denied visiting privileges. Some hospitals are experimenting with a new procedure. Mothers move in with their little ones. Damage to children's mental health is reduced.

Mrs. J. N. "My boy, age 16, was arrested for stealing. This is the first time he has been in trouble. He says he is innocent, and I believe him. however, the probation officer won't listen to either one of us. He thinks my boy is guilty. The court hearing comes next week and I asked the probation officer if I could bring a lawyer to defend my son. He said it would not be necessary. What would you do if this were your son?"

Reply. Probably I'd hire a lawyer right away. I'd help him get familiar with all aspects of the case. Then I'd ask him to make sure the boy's legal rights were respected. I don't imply your son will be mistreated. The chances are he'll be handled fairly and expertly. But every American has the right to be represented by legal counsel. An attorney might be a safeguard.

ALMANAC

Today is Saturday, July 4, the 185th day of the year, with 180 more days to follow in 1959.

The moon is approaching its new phase.

The evening stars are Mercury, Venus, Mars, Jupiter and Saturn.

On this date in history:

In 1802, the United States Military Academy opened formally, with the arrival of the first 10 cadets.

In 1826, John Adams and Thomas Jefferson, the second and third presidents of the U.S., both died . . . on the 50th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence.

In 1863, the Battle of Gettysburg was won by the North and the Southern fortress of Vicksurg surrendered to Northern troops.

In 1884, France formally presented the United States with the Statue of Liberty.

A thought for today: Thomas Jefferson said, in the Declaration of Independence . . . which he wrote . . . "We hold these truths to be self-evident; that all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness."

Woman Nearly Dies After Illegal Surgery

A near-fatal abortion on a San Rafael housewife, arranged through several unknown San Franciscans including a prostitute, came to light last night when the woman turned up in critical condition at Marin General Hospital.

The victim, 38-year-old-wife of a San Francisco lithography firm executive, was given only a 50-50 chance of survival last night, but she was off the critical list this morning and in satisfactory condition. She is Alice Schmidt, 127 Mountain View avenue, wife of Lorenz L. Schmidt, a vice president of Schmidt Lithograph Co. of San Francisco.

He said his wife has been ailing and could not survive the birth of a child. Therefore, he went to several doctors to have an abortion performed, but was refused each time.

His wife's illness became worse, and she had to go to a San Francisco psychiatrist. Meanwhile, he made arrangements with several persons in San Francisco, whose identities are unknown. One of the principals who arranged for the operation was a prostitute, Schmidt said.

Wednesday evening, he took his wife to San Francisco, where the operation took place. When her condition became worse, he took his wife to a local doctor, who recommended hospitalization because infection had set in. She was admitted to Marin General Hospital in serious condition.

Officers are continuing investigations in an effort to pin down the persons responsible for the illegal operation. The husband said he cannot remember the location where the operation took place.

FAST DRAW

the firing pin is cocked, which means a slight brushing of the trigger can set it off, oftentimes while the barrel is still in the holster.

The police draw sounds slow. But in a demonstration given by Peters and Sgt. Sidney Weber, the entire action of reaching, pointing and firing took less than one second. And both bullets hit within a few inches of each other in the "heart" of their target 30 feet away.

Peters worked for 33 years for Northwestern Pacific Railroad before retiring in 1957 as chief agent. He finds that it pays to adhere to strict safety rules and to work for accuracy first, in order to make the first shot count.

"We constantly work to make safety a habit," said Peters. "Unless it becomes a habit, it is no good. My advice is to give up speed and go in for safety and accuracy first; then pick up speed after that. Or else get rid of the Buck Rogers gun!"

Anticipating a heavy auto crush, state and local police bolstered patrol units in key traffic areas.

Civic and business groups throughout the nation joined authorities in a massive campaign to hold down the highway slaughter.

In a get-tough policy, the California Department of Motor Vehicles had this pre-holiday announcement for drivers: anyone convicted of drunken driving, including first offenders, will have his license suspended automatically for six months.

Police in 11 Bay Area cities set up a four-hour check on motorists last night. After stopping 9,948 cars, officers reported 1,124 violations, 819 citations, three drunk drivers and 32 warnings on drinking.

The citations were mostly for faulty lights, improper registration and various mechanical defects.

San Rafael Man Stabbed; Wife Accused

His wife, Mary Patricia Ann Parnow, 31, was jailed on suspicion of assault with a butcher knife about 2 o'clock this morning. A bail bondsman posted $1,000 for her release at 9 a.m. today. She is scheduled to appear in Marin Municipal Court next Wednesday afternoon.

San Rafael Police Officers Leon deLisle Jr. and Wade Powell went to the home about 10:45 p.m. and found it dark. Mrs. Parnow was at the home of a neighbor, Richard L. Portillo of 31 Balboa.

She told Officer deLisle she and her husband went to the Portillos for drinks about 7 o'clock last night. Parnow suggested she finish her beer, while he went home to dress and take a shower.

About 10 or 15 minutes later, she went home to call up her mother. When she picked up the phone, she overheard a conversation on another extension between her husband and a woman she identified as a San Anselmo woman she had argued with her husband about in the past. Last night, Mrs. Parnow told her husband she wanted to end the marriage.

When he tried to soothe her, she told him not to come near her. When he persisted in approaching her, she said she picked up a butcher knife and slashed at him, cutting him on the left arm.

Parnow staggered out, and Portillo took him to the hospital. At the hospital, attendants said the victim reported he had cut himself on a broken window. He was reported in good condition at the hospital this morning.

Cherry Bomb Pair Cleared Of Charge

Two youths from Napa, who set off a cherry bomb at a service station just south of Hamilton Air Force Base about 2 a.m. yesterday, were cleared of all charges.

A complaint for vagrancy had been filed against Thomas R. Brackin, 19, and Larry K. Ingram, 18, but the charge was dropped on the motion of Assistant Dist. Atty. Roger Garety. The prosecutor said the youths have clean records, and the incident appeared to be more of a prank than anything with criminal intent.

Actress Files Claim

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actress Diane Varsi, who quit Hollywood because "acting is destructive to me," has filed a claim over a facial scar suffered, she says, while making a TV film.

Miss Varsi, 20, who last March left with her 2-year-old son Shawn to live in Bennington, Vt., had the claim filed yesterday with the California Industrial Accident Commission.

While making the scene, she said, she was struck by an unknown object in a swimming pool and suffered a facial laceration.

LONG OPENS DRIVE FOR FOURTH TERM

VILLE PLATTE, La. (UPI)—Gov. Earl K. Long opened his campaign to become governor of Louisiana a fourth time today by inviting 2,000 listeners to look him in the eye and see whether he is "nuts."

"And if I'm nuts," he said, "I've been nuts all my life."

Curt Siegelin, director of the Department of Commerce and Industry, who introduced Long, told the crowd that Long was tired and urged careful listening.

Long, 63, is suffering from a nervous breakdown, the after-effects of a small stroke or series of strokes and heart trouble. Six New Orleans doctors warned him yesterday against campaigning.

Medical Staff Chief Resigns

Pleading pressure of his private practice, he submitted the resignation "with deep regret" at a meeting of the Marin County Hospital District board.

Dr. Polland has an internal medicine and cardiology practice in San Rafael. His home is in Ross.

EAST MEETS WEST — AND GETS CONFUSED

Looks as though it will take a summit meeting to solve this East-West misunderstanding. A group of Russian circus performers reacted with what-is-it expressions when a Scottish full evening outfit was modeled at a London showing of men's fashions. One of the Russian spectators donned spectacles for a closer look. The visitors are members of the Russian State Circus performing in the British Capitol. (AP Wirephoto)

Special Rites Hoist 49-Star Flag

Combined AP & UPI

WASHINGTON — The glorious Fourth dawned today with something new added to its historic symbol, the flag. It was the 49th star, for Alaska, the newest state.

The first official 49-star flag was raised just after midnight at Ft. McHenry in Baltimore by Interior Secretary Fred A. Seaton. It was there, 145 years ago, that young Frances Scott Key watched as the British bombarded the city and was inspired to dash off the words of the national anthem.

It read: "The knowledge of a growing America fills us with pride, but we know too that our growing strength has brought new responsibilities. As a nation we are today responsible for the rights and liberties of 20 times as many Americans as once lived under the protecting guns of Ft. McHenry, and as a leader among the nations, we bear a major responsibility for the mutual security of the free world."

Actually, on a technicality, the U.S. Embassy at Tokyo had the honor of first raising the 49-star flag officially on U.S. soil. The flag was raised at 7 a.m. Tokyo time, hours before the Ft. McHenry ceremony.

Only a handful of newsmen, photographers, Capitol policemen and laborers and about 150 tourists watched the flag-raising at the Capitol. Pvt. Stephen L. Deburr of Anchorage, one of the two Alaskans on the Capitol police force, was chosen for the honor of hoisting the first 49-star flag. He was assisted by Pvt. James F. Doak of McAlister, Okla., another Capitol policeman.

Fort McHenry, a national shrine just outside Baltimore, and the U.S. Capitol were picked for the official ceremonies honoring the new flag because they are among the few sites where it is proper to fly the flag at night.

Eisenhower Lays Cornerstone For Capitol Extension

Eisenhower, directing his remarks to both Republicans and Democrats, also said no differences of partisan policy or feeling can cause America to falter on her upward course if it maintains devotion to the Bill of Rights and Declaration of Independence.

He called on all citizens to emulate the nation's forefathers in pledging common adherence to basic principles and to uphold these principles "regardless of differences of opinion, even of policy."

The President spoke on the Capitol plaza, where, below the new 49-star flag atop the Statue of Freedom, he laid the cornerstone of an extension of the east front of the Capitol, the first major addition to the building in more than a century.

He flew first to the White House grounds by helicopter and planned to fly back to his mountain retreat shortly after the cornerstone rites.

Rededicating the nation to the principles of representative government, Eisenhower said: "In the collision of ideas between freedom and despotism, freedom is neither won nor held in a climate of spiritual stalemate. Its preservation is a many-sided and never-ending task."

"Complacency today speeds the erosion of liberty tomorrow. Inertia will destroy it; dynamic dedication assures its lasting vitality," he said.

Eisenhower noted the growth of the nation since the first Capitol cornerstone was laid by George Washington in 1793, and since President Millard Fillmore laid another cornerstone 58 years later for the building's House and Senate wings.

FLAGS SPROUT LIKE YO-YO'S ON U.S. CAPITOL

WASHINGTON (AP)—A new Old Glory sporting 49 stars flew proudly over the Capitol today—proudly and very, very often.

This fast and furious activity was because about 1,800 requests came in from individuals and organizations wanting one of the first new banners to fly over the Capitol the first day the 49-star flags became official.

To meet these requests, four temporary flag poles were erected at the lower level of the dome.

On each pole new flags went up and down as fast as teams of Capitol policemen and workers could hoist and lower them. The early rate was about one per minute per pole.

Policemen worked until their arms grew tired and then were relieved by others.

Alaska Hails New Flag With Gala Celebrations

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) — The land of the midnight sun today hailed the 49th star in the nation's flag.

Throughout Alaska, whose statehood is symbolized in the first change in the American flag in 47 years, gala celebrations were scheduled honoring Independence Day and the Star Spangled Banner.

The 49th state, a member of the union since Jan. 3, began observances of Independence Day yesterday with a legal holiday to provide residents and visitors a three-day weekend of pageants, parades and fun-making.

The solemn formalities were saved for a series of official flag-raising ceremonies today, extending from southeastern Alaska cities to northern defense outposts.

One of the biggest of the formal affairs was scheduled at Sitka, where 92 years ago the first United States flag to fly over Alaska was raised atop Castle Hill—now the site of a national monument.

That first flag replaced the banner of imperial Russia, from which Alaska was purchased for $7,200,000 in 1867.

A color guard of the Army's 9th Infantry Regiment, which provided ceremonial troops for the 1867 transfer, was on hand for the ceremonies at Sitka, an island city 100 miles southeast of Juneau.

At Juneau, the nation's new flag was to go up over the capital of the 49th state in ceremonies at which a monument honoring Alaska statehood will be dedicated.

At Insurance Meet

Edward K. Wachsman of 539 Thyme place, San Rafael, attended a Provident Mutual Life Insurance Co. workshop for the company's western supervisors in San Francisco last week. Wachsman, supervisor in the company's San Francisco office, was a million-dollar producer for the company last year.

Kozlov May Visit Marin Tomorrow

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Soviet First Deputy Premier Frol R. Kozlov planned a day of relaxation today that will include attending an afternoon barbecue and a traditional Fourth of July fireworks display.

Kozlov, who is staying in a $75-a-day suite at the Mark Hopkins Hotel atop Nob Hill, told newsmen that he wanted a "private day" before motoring northward tomorrow.

Kozlov and his entourage are tentatively scheduled to visit Marin County's Muir Woods National Monument tomorrow morning a spokesman at Muir Woods said yesterday.

Today's activities will consist largely of the barbecue, held at the swank Hillsborough home of Cyril Magnin, a San Francisco merchant who is chairman of the local hospitality committee. The program will also include a boat tour of San Francisco Bay.

Kozlov and his party of 54 arrived here yesterday after a tour of the state Capitol at Sacramento. He immediately drank a toast to peace with California champagne at the official reception.

"Our shores are washed by the common Pacific," he said. "All questions at issue between our countries can and must be solved peacefully by negotiations and solely by negotiations."

Fewer than a hundred spectators, including the official welcoming party, were on hand at San Francisco International Airport when Kozlov's plane arrived. There was no hostile demonstration, although a small group that called itself "United Russian Anti-Communist" distributed handbills at the Mark Hopkins.

In an exchange with Gov. Edmund G. Brown at Sacramento, Kozlov noted that Brown might one day be president of the United States and said the chances for American-Soviet trade might then be improved.

MARINITE IN RACE

Women Fliers Take Off For Powderpuff Derby

A crowd of 3,000 lined the main runway as the 63 planes took off on the 2,470-mile trip within one minute of each other.

The fliers received an aerial salute from a formation of 11 F86's and T33 jet fighters of the Massachusetts Air National Guard.

Among the entries is a black and cream Cessna 175 piloted by Carol Veris of Sausalito. Her co-pilot is Jeanne McElhatton, wife of Dave McElhatton of KCBS radio in San Francisco.

Mrs. Veris and her husband, Peter, reside at 144 Filbert street, Sausalito. She is personal secretary to Cyril Magnin, president of the Port of San Francisco.

Contestants were racing the clock, not each other. Each plane was assigned a "par speed" based on data from manufacturers and aeronautical engineers, actual tests and performance in previous races. This handicap system was designed to give each entrant an equal chance.

Beauty Contest Entrants In Church Trouble

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Beauty contestants in Louisiana and New Mexico were in trouble today as result of Roman Catholic opposition to public competition in bathing suits.

In Lake Providence, La., Mary Alice Kathlee Thibodaux of Jennings, La., withdrew as a contender for the Miss Louisiana title in the Miss America pageant after the bishop of her home diocese objected to published photographs of her in a swim suit.

But New Mexico's entry in the Miss Universe contest announced she would compete for the crown despite a warning of temporary excommunication of her entire family.

Sue Ingersoll, 20, said in Albuquerque, N.M., that she had not known that Roman Catholic girls were forbidden by Archbishop Edwin V. Byrne to appear in beauty contests were contestants parade in bathing suits before the public.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Hen Likes Comfort

HARTSHORNE, Okla. (AP) — Automobile dealer Dan Volture says he has a stray hen that clucks until he lets her inside his air-conditioned office. Then she marches to a wastepaper basket under his desk to deposit an egg.

Cars Jump Tracks

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore. (AP) — Twenty-one freight cars jumped the Southern Pacific tracks last night about 10 miles north of the Oregon-California line.

The southbound Cascade, which normally arrives in Oakland from Portland at 9:20 in the morning was held here. A six-hour delay in arriving in Oakland was expected. The northbound Cascade to Portland was four hours late.

Law Held Invalid

OROVILLE (AP) — The state law which says a carpenter who builds his own house cannot sell it until he lives in it a year or takes out a contractor's license has been ruled unconstitutional.

The ruling was handed down yesterday by Butte County Superior Court Judge A. B. Ware to Ray W. Shaffer, a Chico carpenter.

Loss $6 Million

WASHINGTON (AP)—Unofficial estimates of damage caused by Thursday's Pentagon fire have been sliced down to about six million dollars.

The big bulk of the fire loss will be charged off to three electronic computer systems in the Air Force Statistical Center.

First estimates had set the damage as high as 30 million dollars.

Recess Steel Talks

NEW YORK (AP)—With steel negotiations in weekend recess, the Steelworkers Union concentrated on ending unauthorized work stoppages among Great Lakes oreboat crewmen.

Avert Shutdown

LONDON (AP) — The shutdown of Britain's national newspapers set for Monday was averted today.

The National Society of Operative Printers and Assistants agreed to let the national newspapers share their remaining stocks of printing ink. This will enable the papers to continue publishing austerity-size editions until at least Wednesday.

Supplies of ink to the papers were cut off three days ago by the spread of the two-week-old nationwide printing strike. National newspapers drastically trimmed their size to eke out remaining stocks.

Saar Is Returned

BONN, Germany (AP) — The fabulously rich Saar land—twice taken away from the Germans after world wars—goes back under their complete control at midnight tomorrow.

The French and West German governments announced today that the 1,000 miles square territory will be economically integrated with West Germany months ahead of schedule in a gesture of the friendly relations existing between the two countries.

The wealthy industrial valley became politically part of Germany Jan. 1, 1957, but the economic integration was delayed to allow financial adjustments. It was not due to take place until 1960.

Solon's Son Drowns

The body was recovered by a volunteer diver near the swimming float in water about 14 feet deep.

Assemblyman Rumford and another son, Berkeley police officer William Byron Rumford Jr., were present when the body was brought ashore.

Triplets Pose Problem

SOUTHPORT, N.C. (AP) — A gaunt hired hand with financial worries says he and his wife will decide Monday whether they will keep their week-old triplet girls or offer them for adoption.

Nathan B. Miller, 55, the father, said yesterday "We don't want to lose the children. We want to keep them, but it's a question of getting some help."

Miller said he planned to visit his hospitalized wife and discuss their plans for the triplets. Since Miller first said he wasn't sure the family would keep the girls, he has received telegrams from throughout the nation offering to take the children.

Yacht Sinks; 2 Drowned, 4 Missing

MUSKEGON, Mich. (AP) — A moonlight Fourth of July cruise of a family weekend group ended in disaster on Lake Michigan today.

A cabin cruiser and a Great Lakes ferry collided at 2:45 a.m. Two persons drowned and four others were missing. All were occupants of the cruiser.

The missing included the Kenneys' son, Robert, about 21; and their son-in-law, Richard Schaub, 29, Charleston, W. Va.

Also missing were two friends of Robert.

Big Discovery: A New Spring Bigger Discovery: Divining Rod

OKAY, go ahead and laugh! Not everyone has a live spring appear out of nowhere on his property during a dry year, and just wait until about September when they ask you to conserve water. I'll divert the overflow from my private subterranean supply to the four corners of our quarter acre while your front lawn shows up like a section of the Mojave Desert.

If there's enough left over I might even channel it into the San Anselmo Creek which is getting so dry the polliwogs are trying to change into horned toads instead of frogs.

About four weeks ago my wife noticed a damp spot in the back part of our lot. She dug a few inches with a trowel and inside of minutes there was a pool of water. When I came home that evening I enlarged it with the shovel and before dark we had a sump brimfull of H2O oozing out of the hillside.

"It must be one of two things," I told my wife. "Either someone up the hillside went away and left the faucet running in the bathtub or there's a leak in the water main on Kenrick road."

"Maybe it's from Judge Carter's dam," she said.

THAT WAS SILLY, of course. Everyone knows the D. A. plugged up the dam himself and besides it's a half mile away in another direction.

We checked out the first possibility and no one was missing any bath water. In fact we could have saved ourselves the trouble, because this was only Wednesday.

The Marin Water District sent out a man with some kind of gadget to look for leaks in the main pipe, but there were none He allowed that we had a spring, sure enough. Maybe an earthquake had cracked the substrata. We might even find an artesian well somewhere.

WE COMPARED notes then with Kenny Shaffer, who lives up the hill a piece and has a year around spring himself.

"Wait a minute," he said. "I'll go out and look."

When he came back to the phone he sounded relieved.

"No, it's all there," he assured us, "but I think I've lost a goldfish. If he shows down your way let me know and I'll come and get him."

A few days later Kenny sent his nephew in with a forked willow stick. I'd heard a lot about this simple detecting device but had never seen one work. The lad held it out in front of him with his wrists turned upward and walked slowly across the back yard. When he got to the spring the stick bent down and pointed directly to it.

"Look," he said. "Water."

"That's good to know," I commented dryly. "For a while there I thought it was a puddle of root beer."

My wife wanted to try it and so did I. We both got the same result.

The branch pointed to a spot in the property next door a good 10 feet away from our spring.

"That's where we should dig," said my wife.

"Let Russ dig his own spring," said I "Try somewhere else.

Our son Larry made the next test. The stick pointed straight up.

"What's that mean?" he asked.

"Mut be it's going to rain," I conjectured.

The willow fork seemed to conk out after that until we pushed it around the front yard. Then it almost twisted out of my hands.

"We've got something here," I yelled excitedly. "Maybe we can build a swimming pool with free water!"

Larry and I took turns with the shovel. We dug about two feet, then we hit it.

Not an artesian well or another spring, but the sewer pipe. We had tuned in on the washing machine which had just discharged its cargo of water, Blue Cheer and hidden dirt.

Confucius or somebody say, "Still water run deep."

To which I might add another, more appropriate aphorism.

Anybody need a forked willow stick?

PROFILE OF THE WEEK—A. Jane Duncombe, whose architectural career is marked by individualism, has taken a bold step in that direction. (Independent-Journal photo by Dick Steinheimer)

'Most Of Them Will Be Slums'

Architect A. Jane Duncombe Revolts Against Mediocrity In Building Field

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Architect A. Jane Duncombe, Frank Lloyd Wright-trained, believes that "most of what is being built now as homes will be slums in a few years."

Wanting no part of this situation and feeling unable to do much about it, she had the courage of her convictions and recently turned the key for the last time in the lock of her studio in Mill Valley's El Paseo.

"Whether you like it or not, you can't fight the system," she said. "You start feeling you don't have to work for big business, and pretty soon you don't."

Furthermore, she's tired of operating an one-woman business and wants to work with people on ideas instead of with materials and money.

THIRTY-FOUR years old and very attractive, Jane Duncombe is well known as the designer of the unique triangular Marin Convalescent and Rehabilitation Hospital in Tiburon. She considers this a high point in her career, both because of the people she worked with and the freedom she had to make decisions.

She has agreed, in spite of defection from her profession, to design a small addition to the hospital. She will also continue supervising the building of the 28-unit apartment house she designed, which is located at Bulkley avenue and Excelsior lane in Sausalito. It should be completed, she hopes, by September.

What are the specific reasons for her abandoning a career that has been successful according to material standards? Dissatisfaction with mediocre structures resulting from poor design—failure to enforce zoning ordinances—limitation of available funds caused by people in the lending agencies who do not understand building problems—and, above all, the constant necessity of making a lot of money for someone.

LIFE, SHE FEELS, has more to offer than this.

"Everyone should demand something other than stockades to live in— they are for cows, but we're not cows!" she exclaimed. "And people between 25 and 40 are the ones who are going to have to make demands for something better.

"The entire state of California should be zoned in the next 15 years if it is to be saved. If they can zone a city, they can zone a state."

One of four children, including a twin sister, Jane was born in Oshawa, Ontario, Canada, the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. K. L. Duncombe. She is now a naturalized American citizen.

WHEN SHE WAS five, the family moved to Downers Grove, a surburb of Chicago, where she attended high school. After that, hating school in any form, she went on to attend the art institute in Chicago—"Because it was expected that all of the family would graduate from college.

"When I was quite young," she reminisced, "I remember thinking when I went in houses—these places don't mean very much. They're just rooms, rugs and furniture, and they ought to be more than that. It had nothing to do with wanting to build houses for anyone else. I decided I would study architecture because I wanted something more than this for myself."

Before Jane received her bachelor of arts degree from the Chicago Art Institute with major in industrial arts, she found she was gradually becoming interested in designing for others as well as herself—so in order to get the required work in engineering she also attended the University of Illinois during summers.

"ONE DAY, I discovered I had a few more credits than necessary. I quit the same day, and after being interviewed by Wright received a fellowship to study with him at Taliesin in Wis. I didn't even go back to the art institute for graduation."

"I admire him, especially his philosophy that everything grows out of nature, and I believe he is the only architect in the last 500 years who has done a great deal for our way of life and culture."

But she doesn't want to be considered one of his disciples. "Disciples," she explained, "are the ones who get swallowed up by a powerful personality such as Wright's."

Being a decided individualist, Jane struck out for herself and came to Inverness to work with architect Lois Davidson on a house there.

THERE FOLLOWED various jobs of her own after that while she lived in Mill Valley from 1953 to 1958.

Finding that much of her social life was in San Francisco, Jane decided to commute in reverse—that is, work in the peaceful and relaxing country atmosphere that Mill Valley offers, and live in the city.

When friends bought a big, old home in Pacific Heights at 2350 Vallejo, Jane remodeled it into apartments for them in return for the privilege of making the top floor into an apartment for herself. There she has a magnificent view of the entire city.

But what of the future?

"Besides finishing the work I have on hand in the next eight months, I'm going to look around to see what I want to do. The Bay Area is the nucleus of so many wonderful things going on in the country that I want to be a part of.

"For one thing, I'll devote some free time to Radio Station KFPA in Berkeley, whether it's making posters or just stuffing envelopes.

"Maybe I'll just be getting back to where I started, designing things for myself. In spite of everything—I wouldn't have done it any other way."

Prisoners Without Guards

Parole System Doesn't Work So Well Now As It Did Back In 1893

Editor's note: This is the first of several features and historical studies of Leo L. Stanley, M.D., for many years chief medical officer at San Quentin.

By LEO L. STANLEY, M.D.

"Prisoners have been sent out with or without a guard to work on a ranch. But most of the escapes are occasioned by the adoption of the 'Trustie System' in which a prisoner whose term of service is about to expire or who has been well behaved, or has been reccommended by the lessee as a gentleman and a man of good standing, may be permitted to do light work, to be kept separate from the mass of prisoners, to go on errands for miles in the country on foot or horseback alone, to go to San Francisco and to sleep without guard at the cook house off prison grounds."

The above was part of a report made in 1855 by a Special Committee appointed from the Assembly to investigate San Quentin. This system might be considered the fore runner in California of the Parole System, which today over a hundred years later is being criticised.

It was then as it is now in in 1958 the desire of prison officials and administrators to give a man who has broken the law and been cast into prison a chance to return to society Out on Parole.

As an outgrowth of the "Trustie System" even with its many defects, imperfections and inadequacies and its disappointments of its advocates, the "Parole System" was established in California in 1893. After 13 years The Board of Prison Directors reported to Governor Pardee that 187 prisoners had been paroled. Only 8 percent had violated.

This is somewhat different from what it was in 1950 when the Department of Corrections reported to the Governor's Council that for four months in that year 797 prisoners were paroled. Of these 386 were returned for sufficient cause. That is fairly close to 48 per cent.

Excerpts from the report of 52 years ago well show the thinking of the day:

"The parole system has been in existence sufficiently long in California to enable us to say that it is beneficial, not only to the individual prisoner but to the general discipline of the prison itself. We have been conservative in the exercise of the power conferred upon us by law and have examined each case before us carefully and conscientiously. Every prisoner understands that no matter how humble he may be, how friendless or how hopeless his case, he may have the ear of the Board, and that his right to liberty will depend upon himself. Deserving prisoners have been allowed to present their cases.—We have endeavored to extend the privilege of parole to all such men who, by conduct in prison and by avowed determination to lead a better life, seemed worthy of consideration."

"The Board is extremely stringent in requiring that all conditions of parole shall be observed and the power to be used by the Board of calling a prisoner who enters a saloon or other place where liquor may be obtained, or in other respects forfeits the confidence reposed in him, has had a very salutary effect in keeping paroled prisoners in the narrow path. The greatest temptation assailing a prisoner just released is the desire to drink."

That was written over half a century ago. But now in these enlightened with modern penology, the Department of Corrections has seen fit to lift the ban on frequenting and visiting saloons, taverns and other places where alcoholic beverages are dispensed over the bar. That might have some influence on the high rate of parole violations as they occur today.

IN MY CAPACITY as chief medical officer at San Quentin it was my duty to interview each parole violator when he came back to San Quentin to determine whether he had any physical impairment which would prevent his being sent to Folsom Prison, which was considered to be a maximum security institution.

Naturally I tried to find out just what it was that made them violate. Most of the excuses were very flimsy.

"Oh, I just got drunk" and they did not tell what they did when and if they were under the influence.

MANY WERE HONEST enough to say that when they were out, they had to work to eat. And with their training in jail that was not a popular pastime.

Some of these violators figured that if they did get out and found earning an honest living some what of a chore, they could easily commit another crime.

If they were not caught that would be just fine. If they were they would be sent back to their haven of rest where food, shelter, recreation and many other advantages offered on the outside would be waiting them.

Perhaps these law violators are not so dumb after all.

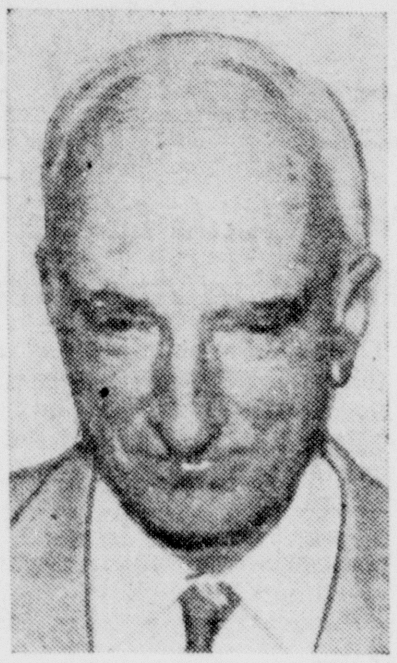
'Fun To Be Retired'

Dr. Leo L. Stanley, M.D., can remember only one period of inactivity in his life —and that was enforced. It was during his wartime service with the U. S. Navy, when he spent several months zigzagging around the Pacific trying to make connections with the heavy cruiser Minneapolis.

The son of a Salinas country doctor, he was forced to work his way through high school, thence Stanford University. After graduation in 1913 from medical school he went to San Quentin Prison as a member of the medical staff and worked continuously — and hard — up until his retirement in 1951.



DR. LEO STANLEY

BUT RETIREMENT in Dr. Stanley's vocabulary is just another word for activity. In addition to a private practice in surgery, he serves as director of the Marin Municipal Water District, substitutes as surgeon on Matson liners, goes on live news junkets for radio station KJBS, is a diligent gentleman farmer at his 10-acre crest farm and goes on week-long trail rides with the Sonoma County Trail Blazers and the Ranchero Conquistadors of Santa Barbara.

HE FINDS himself too busy, in fact, to give his saddle horse Trixie enough exercise. He has been in his swimming pool fewer than 10 times.

Among his other sidelines is writing, and has been author of several articles and one book, "Men At Their Worst," published in 1940. One of his articles, "The Peanut Butcher," was based on days of working through Stanford University More recently, he has written "It's Fun To Be Retired," which has been reprinted in pamphlet form since its original publication in The Centaur of Alpha Kappa Kappa.

ONE OF Dr. Stanley's theses on purposeful retirement — he organized his retirement so that it was such —is service on public boards and in public offices.

"There is no idle time in the water district offices, and I know I am giving the taxpayers more for their money in time and the serious, strict attention I give my elective job than they get from the average business man with a living to earn."

A Second Lifeline

Water District Holds Dedication Sunday For New Filtration And Pipe Facilities

Thousands of Marinites are getting more satisfaction — and more water — out of a turn of the faucet. It stems directly from the new $1,200,000 Marin Municipal Water District filtration plant and Southern Marin's "second lifeline," namely, a pipeline with an eventual capacity of 30 million gallons per day.

Dedication of the new facilities will be held at 2:30 p.m. tomorrow at the site overlooking Phoenix Lake, Ross and Kentfield. It will take the dedicated droplets approximately 10 hours to gush from someone's faucet in Southern Marin.

Actually, you may have noticed an improvement in both pressure and output before now, since the plant with its 10 million gallons per day capacity and the new pipeline went into operation nearly two months ago. And high time. Unexpected population increases in Southern Marin (all those apartment houses, for instance) have severely taxed the old facilities, by which water from Alpine Lake served all of Southern Marin. Now, for the first time, sources north of "the ridge" are tappable by southern consumers.

The pipeline crosses White's Hill and runs through Sleepy Hollow, where it joins the existing Southern Marin system. The added supply, gushing at the rate of 10 feet per second, makes it possible to maintain higher levels in various storage tanks in the Southern Marin area, according to MMWD manager William Seeger. Come winter, it will eliminate muddiness in supplies formerly taken directly from the lakes.

The filtration plant itself, most modern in the country, can increase its capacity from 10 to 20 million gallons per day in emergencies.

The process is as follows: water from the lake goes first into a mixing chamber where chemicals are added to speed settling of solids. The settling takes place in a 125-feet-wide circular tank where a scraper shunts sediments from the bottom into a sludge line.

From the large tank the water is drained into four filters — first to be built on the west coast. The depth of 24 feet forces water through the beds of rock and sand, from which the water is pumped into a 2 million gallon storage tank. Like the settling tank, it is 125 feet in diameter but roofed with concrete.

About every eight hours, the filter process is reversed, so that water from below flushes sediments from the filter beds. The resultant dirty water is drawn off to a large settling tank before being pumped back through the filtration plant.

The sludge which it deposited in the settling tank is then washed away.

The plant will be inspected by water experts from all over the country next Thursday, when a tour will be conducted in connection with the National Water Works Assn. national convention in San Francisco.

Inspection days for the public will be announced.

The project is part of $6,500,000 in improvements being financed by a 1956 bond issue. The bonds will be retired entirely out of water revenues, according to Seeger.

The plant was engineered by the Clyde C. Kennedy offices in San Francisco. Kitchen and Hunt were architects.

Construction was begun last August by contractor C. Norman Peterson, Inc., of Berkeley. Several Marin firms were subcontractors: Fred W. Bullock, landscaping; Ghilotti Bros., Inc., paving; L. H. Leonardi Electrical Construction Co.; O'Neal & Logan Hardware, floor covering; Shamrock Materials, Inc., concreted and filter rock, and Steve Zappetini & Son, structural steel and miscellaneous iron.

Another filtration plant — eventually double the size of the new one—concurrent with Nicasio Dam construction to complete the $6,500,000 project. These facilities will mainly supply Northern Marin, but will also supplement supplies to other areas.

Tomorrow's dedication at the new plant will include dedication of a memorial plaque to the late Thomas Kent by Mrs. Kent. Kent was president of the MMWD board at the time of his death. Master of ceremonies will be Robert G. Anderson of Sausalito, current president. Chief address will be made by Sam Gardiner, longtime attorney for the water district, with Seeger giving a short resume of the project.

MMWD's 160 employees and their families will undoubtedly take the trek up Lake Lagunitas road from Fairfax, to attend the festivities. The road will be marked from Lake Lagunitas on.

SAN RAFAEL — FRANKLIN PIERCE

An Early Painting

The discovery of this old painting was hailed in historical circles. On a hunch, a fellow historian called Mrs. Jenkins of Bolinas. Was this anything she remembered. One look and she identified it, cottage by cottage. The collection of frame cottages was that of her grandfather's Blithedale Hotel, which was established in Mill Valley's Blithedale Canyon in 1873.

Comparing the cottages in the painting to early photographs led to dating the picture about 1878. The artist, as often happens with landscape paintings, faithfully reproduced detail to create a valuable record of the day.

"The only thing that puzzles me," says Mrs. Jenkins, "is that I don't remember those rocks."

As a young girl she spent vacations at the homestead, which was a favorite summer resort for prominent San Francisco families. Cottages above are named for the Monteagle, Moore, and Parker families, who built them under some arrangement with Blithedale Hotel's founder, Dr. John Cushing.

IN 1874 SAN RAFAEL HAD 2 STREET LIGHTS

In 1874 the San Rafael Gas and Electric Co. was started on the land occupied now by the City Hall. The plan was very simple. The gas was made from soft coal and was stored in a wooden tank made of wooden staves. Barges brought the coal to San Rafael and then it was taken to the plant by a team.

On Oct. 6, 1881 the new Courthouse got its first bill for gas. The bill was for $128.50 for two months and was passed by the Board of Supervisors.

IN 1874 the first street lights were put up in San Rafael—one on the southeast corner of 4th and D; one on the southeast corner of 4th and B; and one on the northwest corner of 4th and A.

In 1881 three meters were installed to check gas used by the street lights.

In 1892 San Rafael got its first electricity. Early in 1892 a boiler and dynamo were installed. On August 11, 1892 the public got to visit the new plant. In September, 1892 the plant was in full operation.

Private Camps In Marin — Safety, Psychology And Heart

Imagine paying a $1,200 milk bill just for two months! This gives a rough idea of the industrial proportions of running a private summer camp —of which Marin has two. The larger one, Forest Farm, located at Forest Knolls, last year added up a $60,000 budget, with capital investment amounting to several times that amount. Both Forest Farm and neighboring Camp Lagunitas work on the basis of one staff member to about 2½ campers.

Camp Lagunitas, which chooses to remain small and concentrate on younger children, has a complement of 14 for 30 to 35 youngsters ranging from 5 to 12 years.

Forest Farm, which is expanding into senior camping this summer, has a staff of 40 divided between the 84 at Forest Knolls and the 24 teen-agers at the rugged new site at Nicasio. His payroll runs around $12,000 per season.

BEHIND THE DOLLARS stands safety, psychology, specialized programs — and heart. Camp Lagunitas' Olga and Edward Barbano and Forest Farm's Frances and Harold Gregg are all veterans of recreation leadership. They put strong emphasis on the kind of a camp which is fun, family-feeling and not too regimented.

There is no such thing as homesickness. There's camp sickness," observes Barbano. He feels that sleeping in safe-feeling dormitories helps account for lack of the latter.

Gregg, who has one staff member just to train junior counselors, puts emphasis on adult companionship. Hiking party of 12 has both a junior and a senior counselor.

"IF A KID wants to sit on a log and just talk to an adult, he should have that privilege," says Gregg.

Friends and neighbors, both are members of the California Association of Private Camps and its national affiliate. Association sets standards for counselors, training of junior counselors and for safety. Directors check each other's camps for danger points.

"It is very helpful," says Gregg. "Another director may spot something which you hadn't even considered a hazard."

Member camps are extremely aware of the safety record of each, "since a black eye for one is a black eye for all," as Gregg puts it.

The less-regimented program of private camps costs more than those of organizational camps. Fees at both Marin camps are $195 for a three-week minimum, and they have a large proportion of "repeated." Both are booked solid before camp opens. Their location 24 miles from San Francisco is another asset.

CAMP LAGUNITAS, located on Aurora road between Forest Knolls and Lagunitas, has a king-sized swimming pool between the Barbanos family home and the dormitory-kitchen-crafts building. The lodge is rustic but well-scrubbed. In warm weather, young campers dote on dining in the open.

THERE ARE HORSES, courts for various games, a live stream (with fish) running through redwoods and campfire circle for evening fun crowning the hill. The program also features all-day trips to the beach or Blue or Clear Lake, overnight campouts, dramatics, hiking, crafts, dancing, woodwork and boating. Nearby Samuel B. Taylor State Park affords more wilderness.

Both the Barbanos have been in recreational work for many years. Olga, who directs the folk dancing and dramatics, is also an active 4-H and Girl Scout leader. Edward, who has worked for recreation and welfare in both San Francisco and Marin, worked the latter part of the war years on the Marin City recreation program. He is also active in local community projects, notable Little League and until recently the Lagunitas School Board.

He also brings to his job a sense of wonder at his environment, the minnows in the stream, for instance:

THE GREGGS have built their camp on an ideal which they developed during years of teaching. Gregg sums it up this way:

"Knots are to hold things—not just to tie and varnish."

Consequently, all of the incentives and disciplines at the camp are based on this "use it" theory. Learn to swim for the big canoe trip. Pay attention to the riding instructor so you will be good enough to go on "The Big Ride."

Or "we'd like to take you on the overnight hike with us, but seriously, if you were us would you take you the way you've been acting?"

Gregg's string of 18 horses is kept in trim by a novel off-season program, whereby youngsters in the neighborhoods have a "horse of their own" for 10 months of the year in exchange for feeding and caring for it.

FOREST FARM'S camp budget does not follow the state average. Gregg pays more for staff, with incentive pay raises to keep old counselors coming back. Repeat campers return by the familyfuls from as far as Paris and Venezuela.

Some counselors are graduates of camper days, like Judy Gibbs, who is a junior counselor in her eighth year. Three younger Gibbses are also regulars.

"They may not sign up early, but we always know the Gibbses are coming."

Forest Farm is on two levels—topographically as well as age-wise. Five-to-9-year-olds live in stair-step cottages near main buildings. Crowning the knoll is Forest Farm Roundup, where 9-to-14-year-olds have more rustic quarters and lodge.

NEW FOR OVER-14'S is a 112-acre Nicasio site. Its redwoods are perfect for the camping-out life and its one-time cheese factory is most adaptable to lodge and craft facilities.

A shower-toilet unit has been built and a field leveled for games, but it will be up to the campers to decide on improvements. Camp complement of 24 is split into two, each with a married couple as counselors. They will go back into the redwoods and select a site for camping. Running water by Mother Nature and ingenuity.

Gregg makes it a policy to leave things unfinished for inventive youths to decide need improving. The gate to the new camp, for instance, is marked by a crudely painted board.

"I expect we'll have a better sign before long. One of them will come up to me and say, 'Mr. Gregg, don't you think we ought to have a better looking sign?' and then we'll have to sit down and figure out what to do about it."

ORIGINALLY, the Greggs had planned to start a school, but the rest-of-the-year freedom of camp directing on one hand and the stringent state codes on the other caused them to give up the idea. They have four children, Chloe, 24; Susan, 21, and twins Louise and Linda, 16. Susan and her husband will be directors of the new rustic camp.

Unknown quantity is Hillwood Camp in Mill Valley, directed by Mrs. J. B. Libra, currently a day camp in conjunction with Hillwood School in San Francisco, which stays open all summer. Formerly Presbyterian Church's Camp Duncan, it was one of the oldest private camps in Marin, pre-dating Muir Woods National Monument. It was established in the early 1890's.

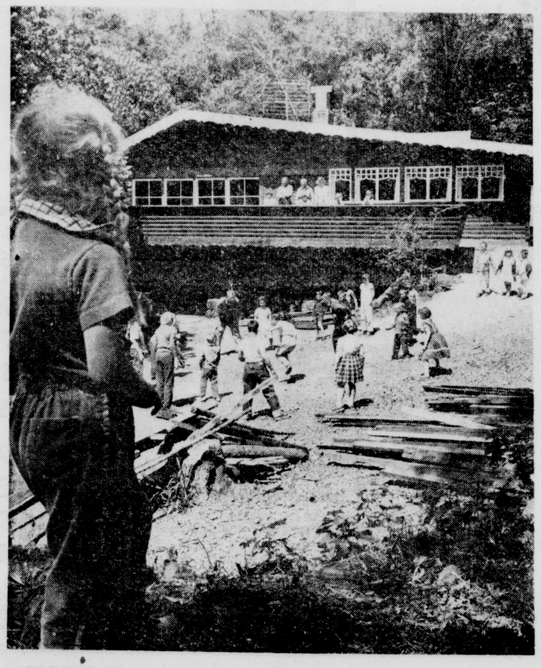
ANIMAL FRIENDS — Kathy Barbanos plays with Camp Lagunitas "campers" otherwise pup and kitten pals. Creek abounds in fish, and young anglers learn that "those little bitty minnows" will one day be strapping 30-pound steelhead.

BIG POOL — Camp Lagunitas boasts king-size swimming pool. Above, water gets pre-season test by friends of Barbano daughters Kathy and Donna. Camp, in its 15th year, caters to 30 to 35 boys and girls ranging from 5 to 12 years of age. Summer staff numbers 14 adults and counselors.



THIRD CAMP FOR MARIN — Mill Valley's redwoods encircle Hillwood, which dates to before Muir Woods became national monument. Formerly Presbyterians' Camp Duncan, it now serves as day camp for private school in San Francisco.

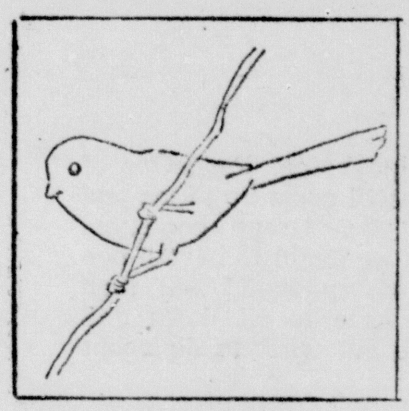
PLENTY OF HORSES — Forest Farm complement of 18 horses assures plenty of riding for youngsters, with two instructors on hand for ring instruction. Big lure to proficiency is the Big Trail Ride. In background are cottages for younger campers. Pool and fishing pond are between corral and cottages. Older campers roundup crowns hilltop beyond.



BUSH TIT — Next to the Hummer the Bish-Tit is our smallest bird. Since half of his 4 inch length consists of tail, he is only about as big as a man's thumb. His color is a drab gray. Three fourths of the year the Bish-Tits forage in loose troupes of 15 or more birds, drifting in and out of trees and shrubs, sounding little keep-in-touch notes (ts it!) and busily searching for minute insects and their eggs. They hang upside down with ease as they search the under side of leaves for food. They are architects instead of singers. They build elaborate, hanging pouches 8 or 9 inches long for nests, making a small entrance hole at one side near the top. The nests, hung at moderate heights in bushes or trees, are made of mosses, plant-downs, etc. bound with cobwebs, ornamented with lichens, etc. and lined with plant-down and feathers. Nest building begins in March and 2 broods of 6 to 8 are raised—if the Blue Jays don't raid the nest. (From "Out-of-Doors in Marin," copyrighted by M. F. Austin.)

Splash Of Fuchsia

June-planted fuchsias can still make a big splash of color in hanging baskets. The California Association of Nurserymen suggests at least two — even three — plants to the container for the best show of color. Keep them watered daily and pinch out the tips to new growth frequently to make the plants bush and be full of new, flowering wood.

FOLK DANCE FESTIVAL

'Circle Up' Comes The Call For 'Fun In Marin' July 12

As this call rings out over the College of Marin athletic field on July 12, the curtain rises on the 14th annual production of "Fun in Marin," a gay and colorful festival sponsored by the eight member clubs of the Marin Dance Council, Inc., for the Folk Dance Federation of California.

All is in readiness, as round the field gay decorations carry out the theme of Drama Masks —the faces of Comedy and Tragedy. Scott Tilden, production director and president of Marin Dance Council, Inc., promises that no effort has been spared to bring forth a glittering galaxy of the brightest personalities and patterns of folk dancing.

A brilliant cast has been assembled including exhibition groups such as Ansambl Norodnih Igracia Sokoli of San Francisco under the direction of John Skow, and the Marin Junior Dancers taught by Joe and Marie Angeli.

Popular guest callers from the Bay Area who will be on hand both afternoon and evening are Harlan Beard, Bill Carroll, Randy Randolph, and Stan Valentine. Others in the cast include from 750 to 1,000 visiting folk dancers from all over California, local folk dancers, their friends and families, interested spectators and two or three friendly dogs.

ACT ONE will be presented in Marvelous Marin's sunshine beginning at 1:30 p.m. Following a two an done-half hour intermission, dancing resumes at 7:30 in the brightly decorated gymnasium where gigantic masks and daisies float from the rafters. Again there will be general dancing and exhibitions of national dances in authentic costumes.

A wide variety of tempo and mood is found in the afternoon and evening exhibitions by Bay Area non-professional groups of near professional ability — all in their colorful national costumes.

Dances will include Spanish jota, Hungarian czardas, Polish mazur, Russian hopak, Swedish hambo, Roumanian kolo and many more. It's fun to take part and just as much fun to watch. The Marin Dance Council, Inc., invites all folk dancers, prospective beginners and friends to spend an enjoyable afternoon at the festival.

There is no admission charged either in the afternoon or evening.

EXTENSIVE PREPARATIONS have been made by the production staff as follows: outdoor decorations, Mill Valley Folk Dancers; indoor decorations, Sausalito Step-Togethers; programs and callers, Hardly Able Folk and Square Dancers; records and sound, San Rafael Whirlaways; publicity, Southern Marin Folk Dancers.

The history of folk dancing in Marin County goes back as long ago as 1939-40 when a small nucleus of Marin residents were first taught by Song Chang, well-known San Francisco folk dance teacher and founder of Chang's International Folk Dancers there. The almost overnight burst of popularity for folk dancing might be attributed partly to the fact that there was no competition from television then, and during and after World War II people were hungry for entertainment.

Among early clubs in the county were the Tamalpais International Folk Dancers in San Anselmo, and clubs in Sausalito, Tiburon and Mill Valley. Mrs. Allyn Young, who learned to folk dance at Chang's in San Francisco, and who organized the Sausalito Folk Dancers, taught them for a number of years and handed the teaching reins to one of her students, Mickey McGowan.

In this same club, later known as Sausalito Step-Togethers, Mickey in turn taught Joe Angeli, who is now instructor for the Marin Whirlaways! Joe and wife, Marie, are instructors for the Marin Junior Dancers composed of children seven through 11 years old. Who from this group will be the next dance teacher? A likely prospect is Steve Angeli, son of Joe and Marie and himself a square dance caller for three years!

Among Marin County dancers have been several officers in the Folk Dance Federation of California, namely Charlie Reindollar, Ed Kremers, Dan McDonald, George Murton, Bernice Schramm, Frank Kane, John Mooney and Bob Chevalier, each of whom contributed greatly to the statewide folk dance movement.

The Circle grows ever larger as from time to time the Council or individual clubs sponsor beginners' classes, bringing new enthusiasm to the folk dance movement. Another stimulating group is the workshop class in more advanced dances taught by Bill and Ann D'Alvy each Tuesday night at Redwood High School.

There's something for everyone in folk dancing whether as a participant or a spectator — it's lively, friendly, "Fun in Marin."

In the afternoon, Rikudom, Grace West Newman, director, will present Israeli dances. On the evening program, Oakland Recreation Dance Arts directed by Milly von Konsky, will do two dances, the girls presenting "Tunyogmatoucsi" and the men, a recruiting dance "Kassai Verbunk." Another Russian dance among the exhibitions will be "Bold Merchant," performed by the San Francisco Terpsichoreans, whose director is Grace Nichols. The San Francisco Dance Guild, Grace San Filippo, director, will do a Polish dance, "Oberek Zvichainy." Marin Junior Dancers under direction of Joe and Marie Angeli, will present a German dance, "Grosser Acterrum."

COLORFUL—Grace Newman Spanish Dancers will be featured on festival program.

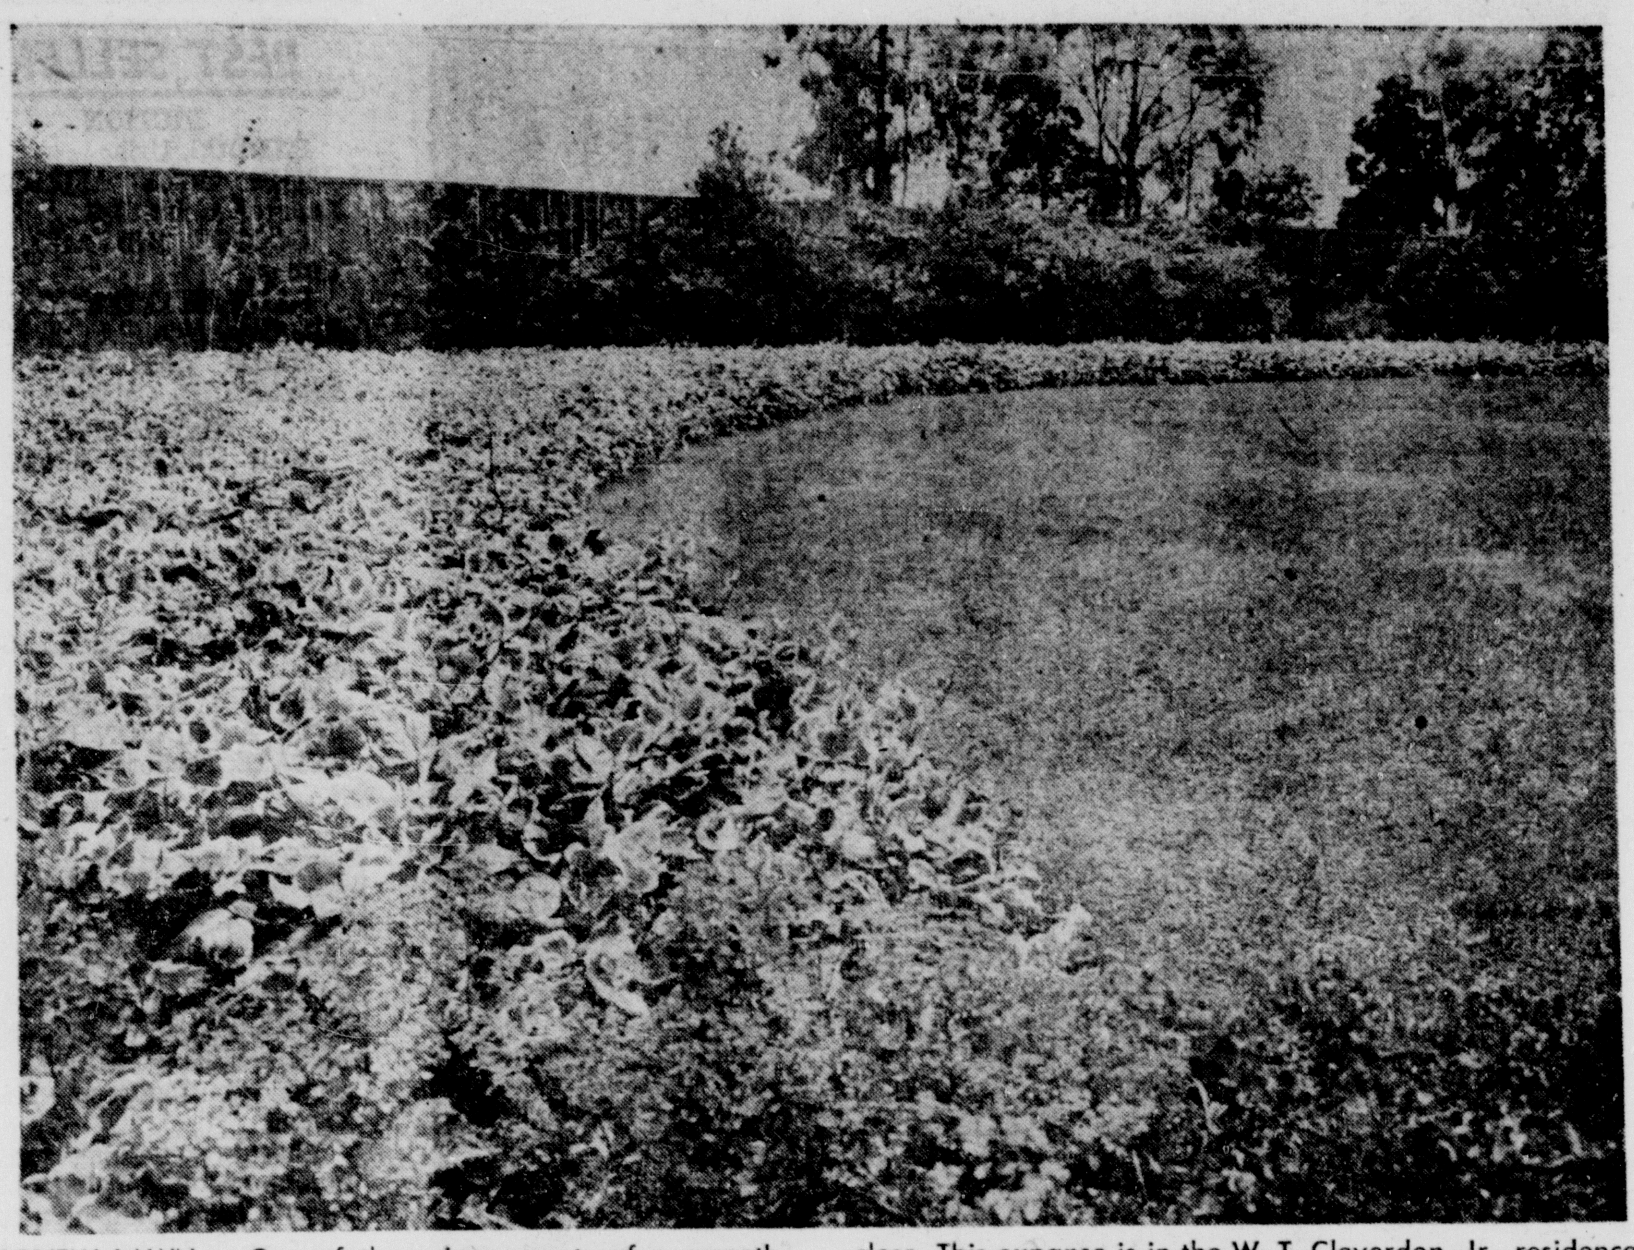
HAZELNUT (Corylus rostrata) —The California Hazelnut is an open, spreading, deciduous shrub which grows from 5 to 12 ft. high in moist wooded canyons. Early in the year while the branches are still bare the Hazel may be easily identified by its flowers. The pollen-bearing flowers are borne in long, drooping, almost worm-like, green catkins. The pistillate flowers are fewer and inconspicuous, but close observation discloses the tiny flowers marked by two bright red projecting stigmas. They mature hard shelled nuts similar to filberts. These nuts are covered by a green "envelope." The broad, 1½ to 3 inch long leaves are toothed and velvety to the touch. (From Out-of-Doors in Marin, copyright by M. F. Austin)



LOVELY LAWN — One of the prime secrets of a smooth, lush lawn is feeding. Another is watering, occasional but deep. Mowing during warm months should not be too close. This expanse is in the W. T. LAWN FAILURE

Five Causes Of Ratty Lawn Begin With The Seed Itself

There are five principal causes for the failure of the home lawn, regardless of where in the county the lawn is located.

These causes, in order of their importance, are:

1. Poor and/or improper seed.
2. Lack of fertilizing.
3. Insufficient watering.
4. Improper mowing.
5. Lack of weed control.

The best type of a grass seed to shop for is one that is a mixture of grasses, an all-perennial mixture that will permit all the varieties contained in the package to grow year after year.

There are countless types and variations of grasses and mixtures. For example, in warm areas there are Bermuda, St. Augustine, Centipede, Carpet Bahia, Zoysia and many others.

In cool regions some of the more popular types are the Bents, Bluegrasses, Fescues and others. Many of the mixtures available contain dicondra, which although it is not a true grass, substantially contributes to a successful and attractive ground cover.

THE BEST APPROACH is to discuss your seed requirements with a local established garden supply dealer or professional nurseryman. All seed purchased from recognized brand manufacturers will list on the container all the varieties and types contained in the mixture. This eliminates any guesswork or misunderstanding before the seed is planted.

The proper and timely fertilization of the lawn is very important to its uniform growth and success. A fertilizing every two months with a good brand fertilizer is recommended.

Here again, sound professional advice from local dealers and nurserymen will provide the home gardener with the answer. There are fast acting high nitrogen content fertilizers, and those which act slower but produce long-lasting results.

More and more home gardeners are finding out that inadequate as well as excessive watering are extremes that represent a principal cause for the failure of the lawn.

The soil should not, at any time, be allowed to completely dry. Bear in mind, however, that this does not mean it should be soaked or soggy all the time, for this will tend to breed fungi.

A SOFT, SATURATION watering each day during the seasonal dry spells is recommended. Actually, except in drought areas, one good saturation watering a week where the water can sink down at least six inches, will be adequate. And good water drainage is all a part of watering efficiency.

The mowing of the lawn is the key to the maintenance and continuance of a truly fine and attractive ground cover. In the South it is recommended that Bermuda and other mixtures be mowed to a 3/4 inch cut. Bent and Blue Grasses should be cut at a height of one inch. Blue Grass fescue mixtures prosper best when mowed at a height of 1 1/2 inches.

For the broader bladed Blue Grasses, or the so-called "play ground" grasses, the cut should be about two inches.

ALLOWANCES will have to be made in those areas where summer scorching is a problem. Here the home gardener must avoid cutting the grass too frequently and too close.

A once a week mowing in summer months is generally sufficient. However, in the spring months, two mowings a week are usually necessary.

Weed control used to mean long hours on your knees with a knife and a basket digging out dandelions. Today, there is a wide variety of proven weed killers available for the control and elimination of almost every weed you are apt to find in your lawn.

GRASS also is subjected to fungus, such as leaf spot. And there are damaging insects, the most common of which are grubs, chinch bugs, cut worms, skipper bugs and lawn moths.

Pest and insect control, can be achieved by use of the special lawn sprays manufactured by various leading companies. Some of these sprays are combinations of fungicides and insecticides designed to arrest the infection and remove the insect's source of food.

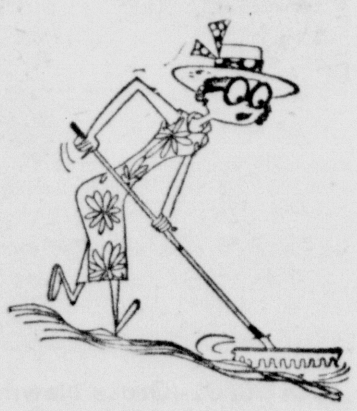
A handsome lawn is a matter of pride for the whole family. If you have a reliable seed mixture, have reasonably good soil, water, fertilize and mow properly you can have a lawn that will be the envy of the neighborhood with a minimum amout of effort.

CHECKLIST GARDENER'S

- Water is the prime requirement at this time. Keep it at the roots of all growing things so that new growth won't harden off before it's ready.
- Seed of many annuals and perennials can be sown now. The latter take longer to sprout, so don't be alarmed if they don't show for a few weeks.
- Cut back delphiniums that have bloomed to within six or eight inches of the ground. Feed and water them for a new growth and bloom cycle.
- Cultivate vegetable and flower beds to get rid of unsightly and moisture-hungry weeds.
- Brighten lanai rooms and sun porches with a few pots of African violets and/or cyclamen. You'll find both at nurseries now.

Asking For It!

Gardeners who use overhead sprinklers on chrysanthemums are asking for trouble. They may get by with it when the plants are young, but later on the weight of the water will be too much. Best bet is to irrigate deeply about once a week. As to feeding, you can't go wrong with liquid fish every three weeks right up to the time buds begin to show color.



Do-It-Yourself

TIME IS NOW — Thoughts of cozy afternoons under the patter of rain on the roof too often occur when that very patter makes it impossible to do something about it. Attic conversation is a summertime natural, especially if you envision creating a sleek vista with glass to the rooftip. Wood paneling creates cozy environ.

ATTIC BOON

Lucky Owner Of Old Home Has Opportunity Under Roof

Among the most fortunate people in the country are those who have a dusty, catch-all attic in their home, for it is here that the sparkling new, badly needed family room or extra bedroom can be installed.

Usually, the biggest problem in converting an attic into a useful element of the house is not so much the redecoration involved as the construction of a stairwell connecting the attic with the story below. Providing adequate access to the new room, admittedly, can be a bit tricky, but with the skillful help of an architect, anything is possible.

Because of the lack of space that can be devoted to it, the attic stairwell usually will have to be steep and of the wrap-around design. However, this liability can become an asset if care is given to its "decor."

FOR INSTANCE, emphasizing, instead of trying to minimize, the stairwell's verticality often pays off. This can be done by paneling the stairwell with a handsome wood like creamy beige west coast hemlock and installing the panel boards vertically.

Then, a lamp of handsome contemporary design can be hung above the stairwell to provide the flood of light it needs and to continue the upward sweep of space. At the top, a simple but decorative railing furnishes the finishing touch.

Decorating the new room is no trick at all, although for an attic room, the decor should be light and warm. Continuing the hemlock wall paneling from the stairwell into the attic room is probably the easiest and surest way to introduce both lightness and textured warmth.

The hemlock paneling should, of course, be finished clear, with just a coat of sealer applied to bring out its natural coloring and followed by a protective topping of wax or lacquer.

A lot of character and natural light will grace this attic room if the gable end is replaced with glass, a feat not nearly so difficult as it might sound. Setting the glass panels in stout Douglas fir framing provides the necessary rigidity and lends a handsome touch to the glass wall. The window wall framing can either be left in its natural coloring or painted to match the main color used for the attic room furnishings.

15c—SALE—15c HOUSE PLANS

If you are a house dreamer, we have just the bargain for you. Marin Magazine still has a good selection of house plans left from past issues. The collection is not complete, but does represent a wide assortment of floor plans and facades.

These will be sold on a first-come basis at 15 cents each (original price, 35 cents). Samples of each of the available plans may be seen at the phone operator's desk inside the 1040 B street entrance to the Independent-Journal Building in San Rafael.

TEENAGE

"Teenage . . . teenager!" is the cry
Heard far and near and low and high
In every land beneath the sky.

We all agree youth should be served,
And attention to it is deserved,
For the hope of a nation toward the new generation
Must of necessity be curved.

Teeners are full of life and pep
And give us beauty, grace and charm;
They are precocious, forward, hep,

They will inherit the earth soon enough
Without brushing oldsters off the star,

Have A Happy Hedge

If you have a privet hedge to care for, you will no doubt be surprised to learn that it can be made to do better with food and water. Examples of happy hedges we've known are those on the edge of a lawn which is regularly fed and watered. Use a complete fertilizer now and again in mid-summer. Use the hose on your hedge as often as you like.

GETTING INTO THE SPIRIT OF THE FOURTH—Even the spirit of Independence Day doesn't prevent John Forsythe (center) from finding himself in the midst of a trying—but comic—situation as he copes with the antics of Noreen Corcoran and Sammee Tong. All three are permanent cast members of "Bachelor Father," a Sunday evening series on KPIX (Channel 5). Noreen plays the role of Forsythe's niece, Tong his houseboy.

Weekly TV Log

2 Housewives In 3 Watch TV Daily

NEW YORK (AP)—Despite the low esteem in which daytime television is held by most critics, recent research indicates that two out of three housewives manage to sandwich in some TV-looking between the housework and shopping.

The survey for the trade magazine Television Age indicated that more women watch during the afternoons than during the morning—and watch regularly, too, Monday through Friday.

The handful of Monday-through Friday soap operas seem to have come in for more than their share of abuse. Recently, however, one critic female came up with a new complaint. After repeating the familiar charges that books never decorate soap opera sets and that the bad characters invariably drink hard spirits while the good ones are either teetotalers or-at most—dry sherry sippers, Marya Mannes insists that worst of all is the inevitably tidy condition of soap opera kitchens.
